Slayers Applauded for Their Deeds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 23.—[Special.]—The epidemic of dry killings which has seen five American citizens shot down by federal and state dry sleuths in nine days has called attention to the applauding statements of dry members of congress, when previous slayings were under discussion.

Six weeks prior to the slaying of Henry Virkula, International Falls, Minn., confectioner, by a customs agent, dry members of the house approved the killing of a 20 year old youth by a Washington police officer. On other occasions, in the senate as well as in the house, dry spokesmen condoned dry killings as necessary to effective enforcement of prohibition.

Held Up as Example.

According to the Congressional Record house drys, one of them from Illinois, commended the Washington policeman slayer for his "devotion to duty," and appealed to the American people to give him their moral support. The drys held up the action of the slayer as an example which might well be emulated by other members of the nation's army of 30,000 dry sleuths.

Representatives William P. Holaday [Rep., Ill.] and R. G. Simmons [Rep., Mich.] were among those who defended the killing of Ottmer H. Fleming, a 20 year old youth, by Clyde O. Rouse, a police officer. Rouse fired several shots, supposedly at the rear wheels of the car. One of the bullets struck Fleming in the back of the head and killed him.

Representative Holaday attempted to justify the officer's action, pointing out that the fleeing car was using a smoke screen, which is a felony under District of Columbia law.

"Only Doing His Duty."

"When an officer has been informed that a man who has committed a felony is fleeing in his direction," said Mr. Holaday, "or when he is pursuing him and in the course of that pursuit the man commits another felony, the officer has the right to effect the arrest, using whatever force is necessary. Under the circumstances of this case this officer was not only entirely within his legal rights, but he was only doing what his duty as an officer required him to do.

"Here is the position in which we find ourselves. There have been used, within the last two weeks, ten or a dozen smoke screens. This evening and every other evening of this week and this month, officers of the police force will be on duty. Undoubtedly, they will be confronted with the same situation as Officer Rouse was confronted with day before yesterday morning.

"There is one of two things that must happen. Either the officer must have the right and the moral support in the use of force, if necessary in order to capture these men or there will be no way in which a man can be apprehended that is fleeing in an automobile, be he guilty of bootlegging, bank robbery, murder or any other crime. There is the situation.

Urges Support for Police.

"What is the feeling of an officer on duty this evening? Does he want to neglect his duty and allow law violators of any and all kinds to escape? If he uses the force necessary to effect their arrest, then is he to be held up to condemnation and liable to be taken off duty and be sent to answer to a grand jury?

"Gentlemen, I believe it is time when we, as members of congress and the citizens of this country, should come to the support of officers attempting to do their duty."

Representative Louis C. Cramton [Rep., Mich.], who is known as the dry leader of the house, called attention to applause which followed Mr. Holaday's declaration.

"It is apparent," said Mr. Cramton, "that this house approves of the gentleman's speech—at least on the Republican side—I have not noticed applause on the other side of the aisle."

Democrats Claim a Share.

Dry Democrats were quick to point out that there had been applause on their side of the aisle as well as on the Republican side.

"O, yes," said several members, "according to the report of proceedings in the Congressional Record there has been applause on this side."

Representative Cramton said he was "glad to be corrected."

Was Reported Down Near Azores.

BULLETIN.

New York, June 23.—(AP)—The Radio Marine corporation tonight reported it had picked up a message from the freighter Buffalo Bridge stating that at 5:40 a. m., Greenwich time today, in latitude 40:04 north, longitude 50:57 west, it had observed a "flare of light bearing six degrees true at an altitude of 10 degrees." The radiogram added the object was "apparently an airplane."

The position given by the freighter Buffalo Bridge is approximately 400 miles south and slightly east of Cape Race, N. S.

PONTA DEL GADA, Azores, June 23.—(AP)—The Portuguese gunboat Zaire has gone to search for the Spanish trans-Atlantic airplane, with four men aboard, reported by Madrid to be in this vicinity. Up to 7 p. m. (4 p. m. Chicago time) the airplane had not been sighted here.

Spain Orders Search.

MADRID, June 23.—[U. P.]—The Spanish government tonight abandoned hope that the trans-Atlantic seaplane of Maj. Ramon Franco had arrived safely at the Azores and ordered a search for the plane and its crew of four men. Premier Primo de Rivera announced the search in the government newspaper Noticero del Lunes.

Less than 24 hours before he had announced the safe arrival of the plane, and the plans of the flyers to hop off from the Azores today on the second leg of their flight to New York.

The premier, after conferring with the minister of marine, ordered four Spanish destroyers from Galicia to join the search. One squadron of seaplanes from the Alcazares base and another from the Mellila base will search the seas where it is believed Franco might have landed.

May Have Flown South of Course.

Meanwhile, various reports which might have indicated the position of the plane was received.

One of these, announced by the local radio station at Horta, Fayal island, was from the Italian steamship Dreldon and indicated Maj. Franco might have flown south of his course from Cartagena to the Azores. The Dreldon reported "hearing an airplane" early Saturday about 200 miles southeast of San Miguel, the most easterly of the Azores group. The weather was rainy.

The possibility remained that the flyers might have landed at a remote spot on or near the coast of one of the smaller islands of the mid-Atlantic group, but there was not specific basis for such a hope.

Blame Garbled Message.

Early rumors that the plane had landed at the Azores—which apparently were the source of later unfounded "advices" published here—were believed to have been traced to a garbled message picked up by the Portuguese vessel Vasco da Gama.

The Vasco da Gama picked up a message broadcast by the British Rugby wireless station as a part of its regular service to ships at sea. The message was broadcast under a Madrid date line, saying Franco was scheduled to arrive in the Azores Saturday. The garbled translation which the Vasco da Gama later relayed to land stations purported to be a message from Commander Franco saying he had moored (amerrit) at the Azores and would continue to New York today.

Spanish Reports Add Mystery.

LONDON, June 23.—(AP)—The whereabouts of the airplane in which four Spanish flyers set out on Friday from Cartagena, Spain, for New York was a mystery here tonight.

Premier Primo de Rivera yesterday authorized official announcement of their safe arrival in the Azores, although the exact island was not specified. Later the text of a message said to have been signed by Maj. Ramon Franco was made public. It said, "We arrived at 8 a. m., and intend to resume our flight at 5 p. m., tomorrow, Sunday."

Some uneasiness was felt here and at Horta for the safety of Maj. Franco and his three companions.

AGED MINISTER, FOE OF SMITH, IS RUM PRISONER

Marshall, Ark., June 23.—[Special.]—The Rev. M. B. McEntire, aged 68, Baptist evangelistic minister who during the recent presidential race bitterly denounced Al Smith for his "wet stand," today is under $1,000 bond on charges of selling, possessing, and transporting liquor.

The aged minister, who operated a small general merchandise store here, claiming that the profits "from preaching would not make ends meet," was arrested in an extensive raid directed by federal agents who had secured a list of fifty alleged "bootleggers and moonshiners" from a prisoner who "squealed."

Late tonight more than thirty persons had been taken into custody by the officers who are combing the mountains.

4 Gunmen Raid 25 Sidewalk Dicers; 2 Shot

About twenty-five crap shooters were at play at noon yesterday in the Wicker Park school yard at 2032 Evergreen avenue when a large touring car drove to the curb. Two men with revolvers in their hands jumped from the machine. The driver remained at the wheel and a fourth member of the squad remained in the car, threatening the crowd with a shotgun.

"Everybody drop your money on the sidewalk," yelled one of the gunmen, running toward the game. He fired a shot in the ground for emphasis. Boys and young men started to run, but they were halted by a half dozen more shots also fired in the ground.

Two Youths Wounded.

The flying bullets, hitting the ground and the sidewalk, zipped through the crowd of players and among a group of youths playing ball in the school yard. Two young men were injured, neither of them seriously. They are:

Scoop Up Dice Money.

One of the robbers, a stocky man about 30 years old in a light gray suit and a cap, scooped up the money on the sidewalk while the other, slightly taller and wearing a straw hat, held the crowd against the wall with hands raised. Then they searched the players, obtaining about $200, ran to their car and escaped.

Residents in the vicinity of the school said that a crap game was held in the playground regularly with a professional managing the game and taking a percentage of the winnings. A couple of hours after the shooting the North avenue police raided a dice game at the Von Humboldt school, Rockwell avenue and Hirsch street, arresting fifteen men.

Baby Drowns in 7 Inch Pool as Mother Seeks Cow

While crawling about the foundations of her house where holes had been dug for the sinking of concrete pilings, Theresa Juris, 9 months old, 5736 South McVicker avenue, was drowned yesterday when she fell into one of the holes and lay helpless in seven inches of water. The baby had been left alone by the mother, Mrs. Rose Juris, who was searching the neighborhood for the family cow.

GOOD SAMARITAN AIDS YOUTH ON TRIP BACK HOME

Ernest Toma, 17 year old runaway from Memphis, Tenn., was starting a precarious trip home yesterday afternoon when a trainman of the Seminole limited of the Illinois Central pulled him from his perch under a coach as the train stopped at Kensington. A few hours later Ernest continued his journey in a Pullman berth with spare cash for the dining car. A motorist who remembered his own youthful wanderlust had witnessed the boy's plight.

J. L. East, 5401 Harper avenue, an official of the East Brothers Coal company, was driving along 110th street when the standing train impeded his way. Noticing a brakeman with a clutch on the young vagabond, Mr. East obtained his release, drove the boy to the Illinois Central train downtown, and there purchased him a ticket to Memphis. As Ernest boarded the train Mr. East slipped $5 in his pocket.

"He wanted to see the world," Mr. East remarked. "I used to feel the same way myself. It was worth the money to see the boy's face light up as the train pulled out."

THREATENS FOUR IN HOME; FLEES WITH CASH, GEMS

Stepping through an unlatched sun porch door into a living room where members of the family were sitting, a blonde, well-dressed youth about 25 years old last night invaded the home of Aaron Colnon, 6909 Cregier avenue, real estate man and a director of the National Bank of the Republic, and escaped with $180 and a diamond brooch valued at $600.

"Don't squawk or I'll shoot," was the command that first revealed the presence of the bandit to Mr. Colnon, his wife Marian, his mother, Mrs. John A. Colnon, and his sister, Mary. They turned to look into the muzzle of a pistol. After taking the money and jewels the robber repeated his command to keep quiet, fired a shot into the floor and left.

Four tons of carp were taken from Third lake, five miles east of Grayslake, yesterday as the result of "cleaning" operations started by the Waukegan chapter of the Izaak Walton league to protect game fish in Lake county. The largest captive weighed 40 pounds and several tipped the scales at 25 pounds each. A three inch mesh net was used and the work carried on under the direction of Deputy State Game Warden Henry Kern. Druce's lake will be seined today.

Woman Loses $30,000 Gems to Two Bandits

Mrs. Etheling Bogeaus, 444 St. James place, wife of Benjamin E. Bogeaus, wealthy contractor and realty dealer, with offices at 180 North Michigan avenue, was early today robbed of jewelry valued at $30,000 by two well dressed young bandits as she and her husband alighted from their car in front of their home after a cabaret party on the south side.

According to Bogeaus' story to the Sheffield avenue police, he and his wife had been at the Midnight Frolics café, 18 East 22nd street, and had driven home.

Forced Into Hotel Lobby.

As they reached their home a car containing the two bandits drew up. The bandits produced revolvers and forced the couple into the lobby of the apartment hotel, which Mr. Bogeaus owns, and occupies the roof bungalow.

Bandits at Café.

The couple reported the robbery to the police and were taken to the bureau of identification to view pictures of bandits in the hope of identifying the robbers. Bogeaus stated that he believed he had seen the bandits dancing at the café, but was not certain.

Mrs. Bogeaus, a bride of six months and a former actress, accompanied her husband to police headquarters.

"Dip" Chorus Falls Down at Ravinia

"Yes, sir," said Detective William Drury, "it was as infamous an assortment of the light-fingered gentry as ever gathered at a single entertainment. Eighteen of them there were, including two women, all expert pickpockets. They were all decked out either in evening or sports clothes."

Opening Draws Thieves.

They were assigned to the opera at Ravinia Saturday evening and it was there that Drury saw the eighteen pocket pickers who had gathered for the fat gleanings from the patrons of the opening of the summer opera.

The detectives posted themselves at the gates and at other strategic points in the Ravinia grounds before the crowd began to gather. And before the opera was well under way the eighteen pickpockets, including the two women, had been shooed away, with a warning not to return, before they could begin practicing their light-fingered trade.

"Believe me," remarked Detective Griffith, "those two women were easy to look at. They came in style."

Men Also Come in Style.

"Style!" exclaimed Detective Evans. "You should have seen one of the men. He had his bunch in a $6,000 automobile, with a uniformed chauffeur at the wheel. I didn't recognize them at first. But they started pushing into a crowd and jostling, so I took a closer look. We spoiled a large evening for them."

"You see," said Detective Drury, "they called the bureau from Ravinia in the afternoon and Commissioner Stege sent us up there. Some of these pickpockets have international reputations."

"Where are all these men and the two women—are they pinched?" Drury was asked.

"No," he explained, "the management up at Ravinia didn't want any trouble or rumpus. We just took them to the gates, turned them around and headed them back to town."

Some Mild Criticisms.

The detectives were mildly critical of opera as a pastime. They declared that, besides going supperless, they were drenched with rain, compelled to buy their own tickets home and heard only snatches of the music.

There was another minor grievance in the fact that they were not permitted to fatten their arrest averages by making arrests, but this complaint was partly assuaged last night when word came from the Ravinia management praising the work of the police and stating that there was not one complaint of theft on the opening night.

AUTO JAMS ON CRIPPLED ROADS WORST OF YEAR

Governor Confers on Highways Today.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

As an appropriate prologue to the conference arranged for today by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson to consider traffic congestion relief for the Chicago area, a large proportion of Cook county's 650,000 motorists involved themselves yesterday in one of the most abysmal traffic jams that has occurred in the metropolitan region this season.

Every main traveled highway leading into the city was packed with cars. In some localities, especially toward evening, cars were held prisoner, bumper to bumper, in narrow lanes for hours. Bottlenecks, detours, sectors closed for construction, poor pavements and cross traffic all did their part in driving motorists nearly frantic.

Closed in Many Places.

One reason for the condition is the fact that virtually every main radial artery within the county is closed at some point for construction. During the week end probably not more than 60 per cent of the existing highways were available for continuous travel.

Within the city the outpourings of seventeen arterial entrance routes began choking the feeders into Michigan avenue and other boulevards as early as 6:30 p. m. At that hour standing cars were backed up fully a mile north of the Michigan avenue bridge and constituted almost solid lines from Devon avenue to North avenue on the drive, even including the Lincoln park boulevards.

Traffic experts gave the underlying causes of the congestion as:

1. Narrow two lane roads which were unable to handle traffic sufficient to fill from four to six lanes.
2. Lack of grade separations.

To these fundamentals, a third and contributing factor — the closing of main highways for repairs of construction—was added to make the day's congestion a record breaker.

Some of the closed sections of important roads which worked the downfall of the Sunday motorist were:

MILWAUKEE AVENUE, Ballard to Dundee road.

HIGGINS ROAD, Devon avenue to Cumberland.

MANNHEIM ROAD, Roosevelt to St. Charles road.

NORTH AVENUE, city limits to Elmhurst.

ADDISON STREET, pavement practically impassable.

Other congestion breeders were:

WAUKEGAN ROAD, bottleneck bridge at Techny.

ROOSEVELT ROAD, no pavement west of Westchester.

DEMPSTER STREET, bridge out at McCormick road.

Besides the normal quota of automobiles in Cook county yesterday, there were, by motor club estimate, 100,000 out of town and state cars on the country roads, city streets and park boulevards.

Jamming Starts Early.

The jam began to take form with the return of Sunday golfers, picnickers and resort week-enders from the immediate outlying territory, who apparently all sought to rush back to the city early enough to escape the congestion. The result was a tangle at highway crossings out in the county as early as 5 o'clock.

As darkness drew near the holiday throngs from the Indiana dunes and southern Michigan, from the Illinois river valley, from the Fox river valley and westward, from the northwest lake region and from Lake county and southern Wisconsin began piling in from all directions. As far west as Dixon, north as far as Milwaukee, southwest as far as La Salle and east far beyond Michigan City, the Cook county congestion had its effect. The current week end was virtually the opening of the week end season of 1929 and the outpouring of motorists appeared far in excess of a similar date last year.

Detours Big Offenders.

Analysis of the slowing up of car movement indicated the prevalence of detours to bypass spots out of commission because of construction were big offenders, slowing up traffic to a stop and go gait. However, traffic was backed up on Waukegan road, a four lane highway, for three or four miles from the approach to the two lane bridge just north of Techny.

The entire force of the county highway police was assigned to direction of traffic and this force was supplemented by all available men in the villages. The parks called to duty their entire forces for handling the unending streams of cars. Despite this control factor the car movement at all points continued to slow down as the volume grew. More than 2,500 men were engaged in traffic control in the county it was estimated.

Jams Not Expected.

Sunday's traffic demonstration was not wholly expected by highway officials as the weather had cooled off considerably and showers had threatened earlier in the day. The fact that a large factor in the movement consisted of cars returning from the outposts of Chicagoland, having left Chicago on Friday and Saturday for the week-end, upset calculations of the traffic directors.

"If today's performance of traffic is a forecast of what is to come at the Fourth of July holiday," C. M. Hayes of the Chicago Motor club said, "we can expect the most terrific jam in our history at that time."

Tells Purpose of Parley.

Gov. Emmerson's conference today will be held at the Stevens hotel with highway and planning officials of the Chicago area on the subject of fulfillment of the state's roadbuilding obligations to this section. With the governor will be Frank T. Sheets, state highway engineer, and H. H. Cleaveland, director of public buildings and grounds.

"The purpose of the conference," the governor said, "is to discuss with the officers of the public, semi-public and civic organizations, as well as leading citizens of Chicago, the program of activity which can best be undertaken by the state, under present laws and available appropriations, to give the greatest measure of relief to the traffic problem now confronting the metropolitan area, and to promote proper correlation of the state's program with that of the other road and street building agencies."

It is indicated that the governor will have some announcement to make relative to the proposed widening of radial highways out from Chicago for a distance of 100 miles or more.

Burglars Breach Store Wall; Cart Stock Away

Burglars with a truck early yesterday stripped the Fashion Clothing company store, 3242 South Halsted street, of everything movable, after gaining access by cutting a hole in the wall from an outside hallway. Neighbors told police the owners of the store are on a trip to Germany.

MAYWOOD FOUND CONDUCTING NEW STYLE AUTO TRAP

Charge: 'Driving Through Filling Station.'

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

Intricacies of traffic law administration which have been puzzling state's attorneys and motor club experts now offer a new problem in the shape of a legal knot contrived by alert traffic officers of Maywood. This ingenious trap for motorists is located at Washington boulevard and 5th avenue.

At this spot arrests are made by the hundreds on charges of making left hand turns, and at the same time the left hand turn is slyly encouraged by the obscurity of warning signs. And the traffic authorities, not satisfied with devising an extraordinary efficient trap, have devised a new charge to fit it. The charge is, "driving through filling station."

A search of the archives of the lawyers yesterday failed to reveal any statute or ordinance making "driving through filling station" either a crime or a misdemeanor.

Arrested on That Charge.

Yet Irvin S. Berkmann, president of the Berkmann Manufacturing company, 625 West Jackson boulevard, is carrying an arrest slip around with him upon which the charge is written in just these words.

Mr. Berkmann resides north of Washington boulevard and uses 5th avenue, Maywood, as the first leg of his downtown journey. Saturday he was coming to town as usual. He drove across Washington boulevard in accordance with the light signal, which was green.

"After I had passed the intersection I noticed a filling station at the southeast corner and remembered I needed oil. I therefore crossed over to the left of 5th avenue and into the filling station," he said. "I found no attendant at hand, so I drove into Washington boulevard and continued toward town. There was no traffic, except my car, near the corner when I crossed over, and no signs prohibiting crossing the street.

Overtaken by Policeman.

"When I had proceeded three blocks I was overhauled by a motorcycle cop and presented with a slip bearing the charge of driving through a filling station."

Mr. Berkmann contends that he has been punctilious about obeying the obscurely set "no left turn" signs at the intersection and habitually crosses Washington boulevard, proceeds to Warren avenue loops the block and gets back on Washington faced in the right direction. This time he had business at the filling station.

For the purpose of ascertaining if such a charge is a joke or "on the square," the Chicago Motor club has interested itself in the case and announces that Joseph H. Braun, general counsel, will appear for the bewildered Mr. Berkmann when the case is called.

VISITS HOME TOWN TO TRAP OLD PALS AND THEN INFORM

Moberly, Mo., June 23.—[Special.]—The citizens of Moberly are very wrought up over the fact that four leading citizens, druggists, are sojourning in the Macon county jail, for a period of four months for violation of the Volstead act.

This evidence was gained by an informer, who, after being absent from the city for over a year, came back in the guise of an old friend, and going to the drug stores, asked for a half pint of whisky for a bad cold. The druggists accommodated him for old times sake, and it was this evidence that led to a raid, a trial and subsequent sentence of every druggist in the city.

Many Raids at Keokuk.

Keokuk, Iowa, June 23.—[Special.]—A number of dry agents from Des Moines, coöperating with the local police swept over Keokuk with a fine tooth comb, raided eleven places and took over two thousand gallons of moonshine. The evidence for the search warrants was gained through spotters and it is said that it was the first time these spotters' word have been taken in earnest.

LAKE ERIE HIGH WATER FLOODS PICNIC GROUNDS

Sandusky, Ohio, June 23.—[Special.]—Many acres of Lake Erie shore picnic ground were under water today for no other reason than that the stage of the water in Lake Erie is something like four feet higher than it was when it was at what used to be the normal stage.

The present inundation is not due to storm conditions, to which previous flooding has been attributed. Today's weather was hot and the water calm. The water, according to observers, had "just seeped through the ground as it is bound to seep when the ground is lower than the water," as a science student from Ohio State university declared.

At Cedar Point, popular summer resort and convention place, pumps had to be used to free the several acres of picnic grounds from nearly a foot of water that covered them. The water returned, however, nearly as fast as it was pumped out, and the benches and tables provided for picnickers had to be moved to another location.

YOUTH BEATEN, SHOT, TOSSED OUT OF AUTOMOBILE

His skull fractured by repeated blows apparently inflicted by a pistol butt and his right leg crippled by a revolver bullet, Frank Munozi, 25 years old, 754 Forquer street, was flung out of an automobile in an alley in the rear of 2416 Grenshaw street, where police found him early this morning. At the county hospital Munozi said he had been beset by a gang of youths he recognized, but not by name. Sergt. Albert Jenner of the Marquette police district asserted the victim was an alcohol peddler who had probably been "taken for a ride." Munozi was also robbed of $25.

FOUND SLAIN AT FACTORY; BLAME SAFE BLOWERS

Lucas Busse, 65 years old, 1352 Holt street, night watchman at the Advance Spring and Wire company plant, 1749 Carroll avenue, was found dead, his revolver clutched in his right hand, by a relief watchman yesterday. An investigation revealed that he had apparently been shot by safe robbers whom he surprised.

As Sergt. James Clancy of the detective bureau reconstructed the crime, Busse was shot as he started to investigate the noise made by safe blowers in the office of the company on the second floor. The body was lying a short distance from the stairway leading up to the second floor at the rear.

Safe Is Not Opened.

The safe was untouched and this caused the police to believe the bandits were frightened away after the shooting. Busse, it is believed, was slain without warning by a lookout standing in the darkness at the foot of the stairs?

The knob of the rear door to the first floor had been removed and a rear window had also been pried open. The body was found by William Robinson, colored, 315 North Wood street, day watchman.

Wife Is Not Told.

When news of the elderly watchman's death was carried to his modest home his four grown sons and daughters feared to tell their mother, an invalid, of the slaying. Mrs. Mary Busse was reported by physicians to be in such a precarious state of health that the report of her husband's death might prove fatal, it was said.

Busse, who died in the line of duty, was mourned by his children as a faithful head of the family for nearly forty years.

GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS TAKE LIVES OF TWO

Four Other Deaths Raise Toll to 375.

A young housewife and a youth met death in collisions on railroad crossings yesterday while four other persons, including a small boy, died of injuries suffered in automobile accidents. The six deaths raised the Cook county motor toll this year to 375. The victims:

Mrs. Mary Wesley, 35 years old, 4125 South Rockwell street. Died in the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, of injuries suffered when the Banner Blue limited of the Wabash railroad, Chicago bound from St. Louis, struck the car in which her husband stalled on the track on 95th street in Oak Lawn. The husband, Joseph Wesley, 35 years old, escaped with slight injuries.

Harold Bertemes, 19 years old, 8233 St. Lawrence avenue. Killed when a Rock Island passenger train struck the car in which he was riding at 107th street and Vincennes avenue. The driver of the car, Thomas Grady, 23 years old, 8516 Drexel avenue, escaped with slight injuries.

Antonia Pasco, 4 years old, 13349 Avenue M. Run down and instantly killed as he ran across the Michigan City road near Dolton, Ill., to rejoin his father, who was picking flowers in a field. The motorist, Jesse P. Hollis, 7833 Prairie avenue, convinced police the accident was unavoidable and was released.

Miss Jean Hubbard, 31 years old, Valparaiso, Ind., died in St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, of a skull fracture suffered in an automobile collision at Torrence avenue and the Glenwood-Dyer road in Cook county. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bull of Valparaiso, with whom she was riding, were seriously hurt. The other driver, F. G. Noel of St. Charles, Mo., escaped uninjured.

Ransom Baker, 74 years old, 6579 South Laflin street, died in the County hospital of injuries inflicted on May 14 by Thomas Gahan, 26 years old, 7838 South Throop street, who ran the aged man down at 27th street and Ashland avenue. Englewood police, who had released Gahan, rearrested him following Baker's death.

Frank Koch, 50 years old, of the St. Anne's Home for Old People. Killed while walking on the Waukegan road near the Dundee road. Clarence Heeter, 949 Hyde Park boulevard, south side real estate broker, was the driver of the car. He was held.

Harold Cusack, a nephew and an heir of the late Thomas Cusack, outdoor advertising man, was released from the DuPage county jail on $10,000 bail yesterday noon pending an inquest at Wheaton, Ill., this afternoon. He was arrested on Saturday night after an automobile collision at Roosevelt and Finley roads, west of Lombard, in which Arthur F. Miller, 30 years old, 2914 Diversey avenue, was killed. Cusack admitted, it was said, that he had accidentally driven through a red traffic light. His companion, Frank Wilson of LaGrange, an official of a Chicago laundry company, was held on $1,000 bond.

FOUR HURT WHEN AIRPLANE MAKES FORCED LANDING

Four persons on a Sunday afternoon airplane jaunt were slightly injured yesterday when a Waco biplane made a forced landing in a marshy pasture along the Waukegan road near the Dempster road, northwest of the city limits.

County highway police reports stated that the Curtiss OX5 engine suddenly failed to function. The landing gear mired in the soft turf and was broken as the plane tilted on its nose.

The injured were Walter Meyer, owner of the Dempster airport from which the plane took off; Ralph Wilson, 6042 Irving Park boulevard, the licensed pilot who was at the controls; a passenger who identified himself as John Smith, 5259 Winthrop avenue, and Miss Mabel Swackler, 26 years old, of the same address Smith gave. Bruises and scratches constituted the injuries of all but Miss Swackler whose nose was broken.

Harlem Societies Fight Over Use of Hall.

New York, June 23.—[Special.]—Fifty members of the Universal Negro Improvement association, resplendent in blue uniforms with gold braid and armed with unloaded Springfield rifles, and sabres, started a riot tonight when they tried to force their way into Liberty hall in Harlem where the Garvey club, a rival Negro organization, similarly armed, was meeting.

For fifteen minutes they fought, using rifles as clubs and striking out wildly with drawn sabres. The fight spread to the street, and occupants of neighboring tenements showered missiles upon the contestants. The battle ended abruptly when the clanging of patrol wagon gongs announced the arrival of the police riot squad with gas bombs and machine guns.

The combatants scattered in all directions. Just how many were injured could not be ascertained, but seven of them were sent to Harlem hospital, three in serious condition.

Quarreled Over Leadership.

The Garvey club, founded by Marcus Garvey, self-styled president general of the African republic, advocate of a Negro god for colored Christians and impresario of the Black Star Steamship lines, has been using Liberty hall as its headquarters for several years. It is the parent organization of the Universal Negro Improvement association. The latter organization broke away about six months ago because of a disagreement over leadership and since then has had its headquarters only a few doors from Liberty hall.

Lately the "U. N. I. A." has been making efforts to get Liberty hall away from the parent organization. Several weeks ago, its members arranged to take the hall for the month of June and paid $200 rental. Garvey club officials, however, contended that they already had rented the hall for June.

At any rate, when between 500 and 600 members of the Garvey club assembled tonight in the hall, brilliant in their uniforms and many of them accompanied by women, fifty members of the rival organization appeared suddenly at the entrance.

Battle Starts in Entrance.

A U. N. I. A. official produced a receipt for $200 which he said was for the June rental and announced that his organization intended to take immediate possession of the hall. He ordered his men to advance. One of them pushed a Garvey club sentry aside. The latter seized his rifle by the muzzle and raised it threateningly over his head. The U. N. I. A. man also had a rifle. He didn't bother to raise it. He simply lunged. The muzzle struck the Garvey club sentry. He doubled up and collapsed.

Then the fight started. Pandemonium reigned. The shouts of the Garvey club sentries brought reinforcements from within. The shouts of the U. N. I. A. men brought reinforcements from without. They met at the entrances to the hall. Shouts, screams, curses and the sound of thudding blows filled the air. Women within the hall and women in the street screamed and fainted.

Finds Sister Asphyxiated, Body Tied to Gas Stove

Returning home with her husband last night after an outing, Mrs. John Zoelhmir, 918 Clinton avenue, found her apartment in disorder and the body of her sister, Mrs. Florence Lehman Archer, 38 years old, tied to the kitchen stove. She had been asphyxiated. Oak Park police believe Mrs. Archer committed suicide after arranging a setting to simulate a robbery and murder. She had been ill for two years.

PARSON HELD BY CHINESE BANDITS HIDES IN KETTLE

AMOY, China, June 23.—(AP)—Dr. C. H. Holleman, reformed Presbyterian church missionary, arrived here today from Swatow with a stirring tale of his capture by bandits on May 23 and his escape.

"Following my capture," he said, "I was marched for two days with my hands tied behind my back to Yungting where I was imprisoned in the military barracks.

"On May 27, the military in Fukien province threatened to attack and during the flurry among the bandits I escaped to a nearby vacant house where I hid in a giant rice kettle. That night I made my way to the other side of the city where a friendly Chinese hid me in his house for two days. He provided me with food, clothing and money with which I was able to make my way to Taipuhsien, Kwangtung, where I hid in the British mission hospital for 20 days before conditions permitted me to proceed to Swatow. Obtaining food was my major difficulty, the only source being a Christian Chinese who befriended me. During the time I was in captivity I was not mistreated. My captors, who were communists, wanted only money."

MEXICO THRONGS TO ALTARS; BELLS RING PEACE NEWS

Radio and Planes Aid in Spreading Tidings.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, June 23.—Church and state alike in Mexico are spreading the news of the approaching resumption of religious worship throughout the republic. Unusual efforts were made today to reach the remotest mountain villages and ranches which ten years ago were not reached in two weeks from the capital. Telegraph, radio, and airplane were used effectively, and by noon the whole republic knew that President Emilio Portes Gil had reached an agreement with Rome.

Although the churches are not yet returned to their congregations, people in hundreds of towns and villages and ranches took possession of the religious edifices and for the first time in over two years the bells rang out lustily from the towers, calling the faithful to prayers and thanksgiving for the return of the churches, the resumption of worship, and cessation of fraternal strife.

Stop Work to Rejoice.

In most the country towns and villages the announcement of the peace was observed as a public holiday with rejoicing and thanksgiving. The people were too happy to think of working. The local juntas, which still hold the churches for the government, nowhere made objection when the more enthusiastic mounted the church towers and rang the bells in the characteristic Spanish way, turning them over and over. Throughout the valley of Mexico the ringing bells began this morning before daylight and continued all day practically without interruption.

To the religious soul of the Mexican Indian and Mestizo bell-ringing is what an explosion of firecrackers is to the Chinese, an expression of the deepest felicity. Indians stood in lines before approximately 5,000 churches waiting to have a tug at the bells. Many were at the churches before the doors opened at daylight, and the more active climbed to the roofs from the outside to be the first at the bell when the signal came to ring forth invitation to prayers.

Distribute Agreement in Print.

Printed copies of the agreement for resumption of religious services were forwarded in advance to the headquarters for military operations in the seven states affected by the cristero movement, and were broadcast over the towns, villages, and Indian hamlets and ranches, and the most inaccessible mountain fastnesses. The dailies printed more than double their usual circulation, and thousands of copies were hurried northward and westward to be scattered from military planes over the districts only yesterday in open revolt against the government.

President Portes Gil has overnight become the hero of the masses and the Catholics are planning to send a delegation of prominent people to thank him personally for restoration of the churches. Many militant Catholics, both men and women, were liberated from prison in various parts of Mexico yesterday. Only those having criminal charges against them will remain in prison, since the law requires them to face trial. The liberated Catholics include 68 in the penal colony of La Tres Marias who will be returned home at the expense of the government.

Public rejoicing expressed itself in a flood of congratulatory telegrams to President Portes Gil and fervent thanks to every saint on the Mexican calendar. The League for the Defense of Religious Liberty last night distributed to thousands of homes circulars asking all Catholics to participate in the work of reorganization and reconstruction.

Clergy to Hurry to Capital.

Archbishops, bishops and prominent priests from all over Mexico are hurrying to the national capital for the grand religious ceremonies which will be held to celebrate the reopening of the churches at the end of the week, and a special train will bring those exiled to the United States for the ceremony. Among those who will take part in the ceremonies at the Collegiate church of the Virgin of Guadalupe is the famous fighting archbishop of Guadalajara, Francisco y Jimenez, well known in Chicago.

Faithful Crowd to Shrine.

Today the two and a half century old shrine of the Mexican national saint at Guadalupe, three miles from Mexico City, was the scene of a veritible pilgrimage as in the olden days, when people came from the remotest corners of the republic to pay their devotions to the Indian saint. Among the pilgrims were bishops, canons, and noted priests. The highest society mingled with the humble, cotton-clad and sandal-shod Indians from the neighboring ranches and hills. It was estimated that 100,000 visited the national shrine today.

To understand the pilgrim aspect of Guadalupe, one must remember that for two years the Catholic people have been praying to their national saint for help against "the afflictions of the church," and a firm conviction prevails that the agreement between the government and the church is the direct answer to these prayers from the faithful.

It is believed here that the Vatican is refraining from comment on the agreement and resumption of religious services in Mexico out of a desire to let the Mexican church work out its own salvation. The regulation of many details is still pending either by direct negotiations with Rome or through petitions of congress.

BINGHAM WOULD ROB SOLONS OF IMMUNITY TO SUITS FOR LIBEL

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(AP)—Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.] plans to propose at the next session of congress an amendment to the constitution that would strip from members of congress immunity from prosecution for libel.

In making this announcement today, the senator declared much harm is often done by untrue and ill-founded statements upon the floors of the house and the senate where they are protected by the constitutional clause providing that "any speech or debate in either house shall not be questioned in any other place."

"If the immunity were taken away," he asserted, "many attacks upon private citizens, corporations, religious sects, and churches would never be heard."

The recent liberalization of the senate rules to permit discussion of executive nominations in open session was seen by Senator Bingham as an urgent reason for curbing the remarks of his colleagues.

TWO GANGSTERS SLAIN IN STREET PISTOL BATTLE

1 Kansas City Victim Said to Have Record Here.

Kansas City, Mo., June 23.—(AP)—Two alleged gangsters are dead and a third in a hospital today after a gun battle last night in front of the La Salle hotel. The shooting followed a disagreement among five men, two of whom escaped. Police said the participants had suspected each other's movements and guns were brought into action to settle the dispute.

Ben Barretti, alias Fred Roberts, was shot to death. Police said Barretti was wanted in Los Angeles, Cal., for the murder of Max Silverstein on March 20, 1929, during a holdup and that he was wanted in Chicago on three different murder charges.

Wanted in Many Cities.

They stated he jumped a $50,000 bond in Chicago and his police record also showed that he was wanted in Galveston for murder during a recent pay roll holdup in which $6,000 was obtained. Police also said that he was wanted in Dallas and other cities for robbery.

Shots exchanged in the gun battle cost the life of Arthur Hartman, who died at 2 o'clock this afternoon in a hospital. Authorities said he was out on appeal bond on a St. Louis murder conviction.

Kearns Humphrey, who, police said, was wanted for three murders in various parts of the country, was shot in the back and seriously wounded.

Quarrel and Start Shooting.

The men were standing in front of the hotel when suddenly they quarreled and began shooting. Police had not learned the names of the two men who escaped following the shooting.

Humphrey told officers that Barretti recently shot a Chicago gangster who attempted to "take him' for a ride" as the result of a disagreement over a liquor deal.

Barretti and Hartman both were about 35 years old and Humphrey is 25.

WELL KNOWN TO POLICE.

Benjamin J. Barretti, shot in a gang battle in Kansas City yesterday, was arrested here in 1923 as the promoter of a bogus biography of police officers and sheriffs. Although he swindled business men out of $150,000, it is charged, he was not prosecuted.

Barretti, known also as Barrett and Barretta, on Jan. 22, 1925, shot Russell Starks, a cab driver, in a dispute over the right of way. Judge Joseph L. McCarthy discharged him the following day when Barretti explained the unarmed cab driver made a motion as if to draw a gun.

On Oct. 30, 1927, Barretti was indicted for the murder of Michael Kissane, a saloonkeeper, who was killed in a holdup at Polk and Halsted streets. He jumped a $30,000 bond and was at large until February of 1928, when he was arrested for robbery. In the interval, police named him as the leader of four men who fired five shots at Edward B. Slaughter, an advertising man.

175 Seized in Raid Will Be Arraigned Wednesday

One hundred and seventy-five men arrested Saturday by county highway police in a raid on an alleged gambling house at 4823 Roosevelt road will be arraigned Wednesday at Summit. Frank Walsh, 5500 West 25th street, is charged with being the keeper of the place, and Charles Smith, Michael Baron, George Kelly, James Clark, and George Mareone were booked as inmates.

BANDIT SPURNS OFFER OF A JOB; ROBS FACTORY

After listening for three hours to a plea that he abandon his robbery plan, accept a job and reform, a 22 year old bandit early yesterday forced Charles Lichtenberg, secretary treasurer of the Mulvihill-Goodwine company, to open a safe in the company's bottling works at 1527 Flournoy street and escaped with $1,700.

The argument was made during an automobile ride on which the robber took Lichtenberg until the time set for the robbery. Its only effect was that the bandit allowed his captive to notify his father, Abraham Lichtenberg, watchman at the plant, to avoid trouble by keeping out of the way.

Speedboat Veers Into Minnetonka Beach Crowd

Excelsior, Minn., June 23.—(AP)—Six persons were injured, three seriously, last night, when a speedboat got out of control and crashed through a pier onto the beach at this Lake Minnetonka resort. Thoms Lovdahl of Plaza, N. D.; Mack McCullough, Wayzata, Minn., and an unidentified man were sent to a hospital at Minneapolis.

CAN ONE SHERIFF PINCH ANOTHER? PEORIA DEMANDS

Just Try It and See, Is Defiance to Elgin.

At about the time last night that Sheriff Leslie Urch of Kane county was announcing a truce between himself and Sheriff Grant Minor of Peoria county in the dispute over a court order he holds for Minor's arrest, the latter was casting a stone in the troubled waters by asserting that alien process servers are at liberty to come and get him—if they think they're able to.

The arrest order was issued Saturday as the result of a contempt citation against Minor by Judge Frank E. Shopen in the City court of Elgin when the Peoria county sheriff failed to produce Morris Mansfield before Judge Shopen on habeas corpus proceedings. Mansfield is held in Peoria as one of the purveyors of poison liquor which caused several deaths in Peoria county.

Judge's Authority Questioned.

The habeas corpus writ was asked by Attorney George W. Sprenger on the grounds that because of race prejudice Mansfield, who is a Jew, has been deprived of his constitutional right to liberty on bond in Peoria county. Instead of the sheriff and his prisoner, State's Attorney Harry Pratt of Peoria appeared in court and attacked Judge Shopen's right to summon an official of another county.

"By the judge's order, the writ of attachment for Sheriff Minor can be served any time before Wednesday night," Sheriff Urch said last night. "I have talked with Sheriff Minor and we agreed to delay action until each of us can discuss the matter with the state's attorneys of our respective counties."

Sheriff Minor's attitude, while still hopeful of an amicable settlement, was more positive.

Will Resist Arrest.

"The state's attorney of Peoria county and George A. Shurtells, my personal attorney, have both advised me not to accept service on the writ," he declared. "I shall follow their advice. I shall not try to avoid Urch's deputies, but I will not submit to arrest. The only man with power to arrest me in this county is the coroner."

Judge Shopen, who holds that his court has jurisdiction to summon any officer in the state to produce petitioners in habeas corpus proceedings, spent Sunday on the golf links, evidently satisfied to stand on his original assertion that "Minor and Mansfield will appear in court." He is satisfied that his sheriff will do his duty.

Slayers Applauded for "Devotion to Duty."

"There has been criticism of the lack of efficiency and the lack of morale of the Washington police force," Mr. Simmons said. "The criticism that is being made of the police officer in this case is the thing that breaks down the morale of law enforcement in Washington or any other city.

Engaged in Lawless Act.

"This man (Fleming) was engaged in the commission of a lawless act. He was engaged in an illegal traffic that brings suffering and death to many. Men engaged in that traffic are willing to commit murder without regard to whether it was an officer or a private citizen if they get in the way or oppose their business. A man engaged in that illegal traffic ought to know that death is the possible result of his unlawful acts and the business they follow.

"While we regret the death of this man, the action of the policeman should be upheld by all people who believe in law enforcement and law and order without regard to their views on prohibition. We applaud not the death of a man but an officer not afraid to do his duty."

Asks Commendation for Slayer.

"I have taken this time for the simple purpose of letting the police force in this city know that there was at least one member of congress who was willing and anxious to support them in the enforcement of law," said Mr. Holaday. "While it is an unfortunate thing that has occurred, it is my belief that the officer not only was legally justified but he was morally justified and that he should be commended rather than criticised."

The Congressional Record indicates that applause followed the remarks of Representative Simmons and that Representative Holaday again was applauded.

The applause prompted Representative John W. Summers [Rep., Wash.] to make this observation:

"I think the record ought to show at this point that the applause just given the gentleman shows that his sentiments are approved by at least four-fifths of the members of this house."

Stand By Their Applause.

That the drys were willing to stand by their applause of the prohibition killings was indicated a few days later, when Representative F. H. Laguardia [Rep., N. Y.] asked that the word "applause" be expunged from the record. Representative Albert Johnson [Rep., Wash.] objected. Representative Edgar Howard [Dem., Neb.] said he had never known the official reporters to make a mistake.

"I do not want to vote for anything," said Mr. Howard, "which would be a reflection on the official reporters."

Again, a few weeks later, Representative Holaday defended the killing by the District of Columbia police officer after Representative Charles H. Brand [Dem., Ga.], a former judge, and himself a dry, had asserted that the dry casualties were nothing more nor less than plain murder.

Brookhart Defends Killings.

Senator S. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.], defended prohibition killings in the senate on June 19, in a colloquy with Senators M. E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], Harry Hawes [Dem., Mo.], and Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.].

Senator Brookhart inquired of Senator Copeland if the purpose of the criticism of prohibition killings was to abandon the enforcement of law. This was denied by Senator Copeland.

"Then what is the use of all this criticism of attempts to enforce the law?" asked Senator Brookhart. "If the senator wanted to, I think he could make a good deal louder speech against the 55 murders of prohibition agents, which he does not mention at all. Those were actual murders. Some of these others were accidents, and in some cases the people ought to have been killed. The senator talks for an hour here criticizing these other killings, and just barely mentions these 55 prohibition agents who have been murdered."

Not Aware of Murders.

Senator Copeland asked Senator Brookhart if he approved of murders of innocent citizens by enforcement officers.

"I am not aware of any murders," replied Senator Brookhart. "There may be some case where there was a murder in as big a mill as this, but I do not know of any, and none has ever been proven in the courts. This 'murder' is in the headlines of wet newspapers, which do not want to tell the truth about prohibition or about a good many other things."

Senator Hawes asked Senator Brookhart, who has won considerable fame as a crack marksman, whether an enforcement officer in a moving automobile can hit the tire on another moving automobile traveling 40 or 50 miles an hour. Senator Brookhart conceded that probably not more than one out of 5,000 would be able to do so.

Only 150 or so Mistakes.

"Of course, the marksmanship we have had on that matter was mostly against bootleggers," went on Senator Brookhart, "and the records are meager and there have been only some 150 or so mistakes made in the whole United States.

"I have not any sympathy with the bootleggers' attitude. They have to stop what they are doing, so far as I am concerned, and they have to submit to the law of the United States. But when we get senators in this chamber talking sense, instead of all this gush stuff about murders by men who make mistakes once in a while, we will have a better attitude toward the bootlegging question and the bootleggers will be leading a different life."

The defense of the killing in the District of Columbia by drys in congress followed the line taken in statements issued from headquarters of the various dry organizations in this city.

The Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals issued the following comment, which was typical of declarations by the Anti-Saloon league and other dry groups:

"Would the killing of the rum runner Fleming by Officer Rouse of the District of Columbia police, have caused similar criticism if the rum runner had been a bank robber? Yet the criminal was engaged in the commission of a felony quite as serious in its intent and consequence as the robbing of a bank.

"Bank robbers must be apprehended. The safety of the community demands it. Rum runners must also be apprehended. They are the most dangerous, the most cruel, cold-hearted criminals with whom officers of the law have to deal.

"If they will be apprehended peacefully, so much the better. If, on the contrary, they attack officers by the use of guns or smoke screens, or refusing to stop, proceed through the streets at a rate of speed which is a serious menace to the lives of peaceable citizens, still they must be apprehended."

ANN TO FACE QUIZ ON HER DIVORCE IN $250,000 SUIT

Resumes Story Today of Hardinge Courtship.

Miss Ann Livingston, her own star witness in a $250,000 breach of promise suit against Franklin S. Hardinge, millionaire manufacturer, may be questioned today by defense counsel as to her previous marriage. Miss Livingston was on the stand Friday when court was adjourned by Judge Charles H. Miller, a downstate judge on a temporary assignment here. She will continue her story this morning, with cross examination to follow.

Robert J. Puderbaugh, now assistant district attorney of Blair county, Pa., married Miss Livingston at Fort Rock, Ark., in March of 1918, just before he sailed for France. He returned to this country after the armistice, and was granted a divorce at Watonga, Okla., in 1920.

Marriage an Escapade.

"The marriage," he said yesterday to a correspondent, "was in the nature of an escapade. Neither party intended a real marriage. It was an error, and was corrected by the courts of Oklahoma on grounds of fraudulent contract in January of 1920. I never lived with her and saw her only once after the marriage."

Puderbaugh met Miss Livingston while in a training camp near her home. She was an attractive girl, he stated, and he had heard nothing before or since derogatory to her character. He has since married an Altoona woman, a trained nurse, and is the father of two children.

Divorce Is Defense Issue.

In his opening statement to the jury on Friday, Attorney John H. Bussian, representing Hardinge, asserted that Miss Livingston had misrepresented the facts of her divorce to the millionaire during his courtship. He declared Miss Livingston had told Hardinge it was she who got the divorce, while he later learned that it was granted to her husband.

Continuing his direct examination of the plaintiff, Attorney Benjamin Ehrlich has stated that he will introduce a number of additional love letters written to Ann by Hardinge, in an effort to refute the claim of the millionaire that Miss Livingston was the pursuer and he was the pursued.

REUNION OF FIFTH DIVISION WILL BE HELD HERE IN FALL

Orders for veterans of the Red Diamond division of the A. E. F. to proceed with plans for a reunion in Chicago during the first three days in September were received yesterday by radiogram from Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the army corps in the Philippines and president of the Society of the Fifth Division. Members of the Chicago camp, who will be hosts to the veterans, will meet Friday night at the Chicago Engineers' club to discuss arrangements.

Among the former officers expected to attend are Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely, division commander; Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Castner of the Ninth infantry brigade; Brig. Gen. W. C. Rivers, inspector general of the army, and Sergt. Samuel Woodfill, one of the two men recognized by congress as outstanding heroes of the A. E. F.

Disabled Vets Fly Here on Way to Convention

Twelve Minnesota delegates to the annual convention of Disabled Veterans of the World War, which opens in Detroit today, spent last night in Chicago before starting on the second lap of an air journey from Minneapolis to the convention city. Arriving over the Northwest Airways last night they went to the Hotel Sherman and were to leave at 6 o'clock this morning in a plane furnished by Edsel Ford. After a week in Detroit they will fly to Washington to confer on the rehabilitation and compensation of disabled veterans before returning home.

Florida Kiwanians Here En Route to Convention

The Florida delegation of Kiwanis club members, en route to the Kiwanis international convention in Milwaukee, arrived in Chicago yesterday, headed by Gov. Doyle Carlton. They were received in the roof bungalow of the Hotel Sherman by a committee from the All Chicago clubs led by Dr. Thomas A. Carter, chairman. Then in busses and in private cars they took sightseeing trips about the city. Nearly 2,000 Kiwanis club members from all parts of the country passed through Chicago yesterday, according to A. W. Arneman, secretary of the All Chicago clubs.

STEAL $152 AND NECKTIES.

Two bandits early yesterday held up Aaron Novick, proprietor of a men's furnishing store at 1750 West North avenue and took $152 and a quantity of neckties.

FRENCH POILUS' PROTEST ON U. S. DEBT FIZZLES

1,500,000 Stay at Home as 3,000 Parade.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 23.—Formally disapproved by 1,500,000 of their comrades, 3,000 French veterans marched in the Champs Elysees today as a protest against ratification of the American and British debts accords.

It was a very different parade than that monster procession of lame, maimed and blind who walked silently past the statue of George Washington in 1926 in mute protest against the same debts. This time only the royalist and a few extreme nationalist groups marched, more to express their feelings against the Poincare government than against America.

Thousands of gendarmes and mounted republican guards stood watch on the streets leading to the Champs Elysees, but the demonstration passed off quietly except for a few minor disturbances. Three "Camelots du Roi," as the royalist "troops" call themselves, were arrested for shouting an insult to the government.

Hits Police Chief's Hat.

One hothead made the serious mistake of taking a crack at a high and elegant silk hat in a group of dignitaries near the Arc de Triomphe. The chapeau in question happened to be perched on the head of the small, fiery Corsican chief of police of Paris, M. Chiappe, who took it very badly. The undiscerning veteran was dragged off to jail.

The government enforced its refusal to permit the veterans to stage a demonstration in front of the ministry of finance, as planned, because of the insulting nature of their proclamation, damning Premier Raymond Poincare and all his work.

As usual in such carefully stage managed affairs, there was a pitiful group of blind and legless, the former pushed in wheel chairs by relatives and the latter maneuvering themselves along in their own little vehicles. They were followed by a number of badly mutilated veterans belonging to the famous organization of "busted mugs," and after them other groups carrying banners calling for "Safeguards before the ratification," and "Let us make sure the Germans will pay."

At a massmeeting, attended by some 6,000, Louis Marin, former minister of pensions, made a fiery address. He insisted that it was treason to the government to ask for ratification without a safeguard clause corresponding to the clause granted to Germany in the Young experts' plan.

A resolution was adopted by the veterans. It called for "united action to prevent the enslavement of France for many generations."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VERDUN, France, June 23.—Exactly thirteen years after the desperate French army repulsed the crown prince's powerful forces in one of the outstanding engagements of the world war, Verdun, the key city of the Berlin to Paris route, today triumphantly celebrated its reconstruction.

Singing praises of the invulnerable stronghold where the former kaiser flung 2,000,000 crack troops in a 600 day attempt to smash France's defenses, Premier Poincare said it was the valiant protection of this bombarded city, together with the German submarine warfare, that made the United States decide to come to France's aid.

OTTO H. KAHN'S SON BUYS ANOTHER PLANE; FIFTH IN HIS "STABLE"

Mitchel Field, L. I., June 23.—[Special.]—Roger Wolfe Kahn, son of Otto H. Kahn, has added another to his fleet of airplanes.

Today he took possession of a Wasp powered Vought Corsair, a high speed military type biplane, which the Chance Vought corporation is building in quantities at its Long Island factory for the United States navy and for several South American governments.

The plane is finished in gray and silver with polished aluminum cowling and red leather trim.

A. Lewis MacClain, chief test pilot for the Vought company and the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft company of Hartford, flew the plane in the acceptance trials and Mr. Kahn later took the plane up.

MACHINE GUNS QUELL CRIMINALS AT ELLIS ISLAND

Group of 65 Aliens Had Cornered Guards.

New York, June 23.—[Special.]—Dramatic accounts of the insurrection of sixty-five alien criminals in the detention pen of Ellis island, and the rescue of cornered federal guards by the prompt arrival of city police, with machine and riot guns, tonight sifted through the wall of mystery which authorities of the immigration post erected about the outbreak.

The insurrection came promptly on the heels of the arrival of a trainload of aliens from the west for deportation. Among them were several ex-convicts, written down as desperate characters. The rebellion, under the leadership of a Scotch deportee named McKenzie, broke out after guards had marched the aliens into a detention hall known as room 206.

Hurl Defiance at Guards.

Catcalls and oaths came from the deportees when they found themselves behind the steel barred doors of the room. When Night Superintendent Harvey Snyder and a squad of armed guards entered the hall to silence them, they were met with the shout: "Come on with your guns and we'll take them away from you."

Obeying the shouted commands of McKenzie, the aliens rushed the guards and backed them into one corner of the hall, where they made a stand with drawn arms. Hoping to avoid bloodshed, Snyder pleaded with the aliens to surrender.

Meanwhile, other guards in the building, hearing the uproar, and thinking Snyder and his squad had been overpowered, telephoned to the marine police at Pier A, the Battery. "Hell's broke loose here. Come over and help us and bring your machine guns," the police were advised.

Covered with Riot Guns.

Riot guns were pulled from their racks on the marine police station wall and reserves were rushed in the police boat Gypsy to the island. Arriving there and reinforced by immigration guards, the police crashed into the detention hall, mounted tables and chairs, and aimed their guns at the deportees. Snyder and his aids then overpowered McKenzie and his lieutenant, a Russian Jew named Samuels. These, with other leaders of the revolt, were placed in solitary confinement to await the sailing of the ships which are to return them to the lands whence they came.

TOM MIX.

Keene, N. H., June 23.—(AP)—A writ charging slander brought by Cal Frydendahl, former valet of Tom Mix, motion picture actor, late yesterday, was served upon Mix and upon F. J. Worrell, assistant manager of Sells Floto circus, as trustee here. The action alleged injuries of $25,000.

Frydendahl was arrested on suspicion after a bag belonging to Mix containing more than $75,000 in cash and securities was stolen. Later he was released when Russell Everett, a Negro, was arrested after a confession and was held on a larceny charge.

PUBLIX TO BUY ILLINOIS STRING OF 35 THEATERS

The Publix Theater corporation was reported yesterday to have practically completed a deal for the purchase of the Great States company, which operates a chain of 35 theaters in cities of Illinois, including Aurora, Elgin, Rockford, and Springfield. The purchase price was said to approximate $5,000,000.

Confirmation of the report was obtained from Samuel Dembow, vice president of the Publix corporation, in New York. He said the deal will be closed this week and that a formal announcement will then be made.

The announcement came as officials of the Radio Corporation of America gathered at the Drake hotel for a conference which, it was rumored, would result in the statement that the corporation would absorb a great moving picture corporation, rumored to be either Paramount or Pathe. Paramount is affiliated with the Publix corporation.

JUNGLE RIVALRY LEADS TO MURDER PLOT IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, June 23.—(AP)—An alleged attempt at murder which had its origin in darkest Africa and the jungles of India came to light here with the arrest tonight of Mrs. Soledad Morales de Learn, Mexican wife of an American citizen. She was charged with a plot to poison William A. King, business rival of her husband and also an American.

Mr. King said the two men were engaged in supplying zoos with animals captured in India and Africa and that an intense rivalry developed between them. King recently arrived with two hippopotami for the Chapultepec zoo. Mrs. Learn arrived a little later.

Mr. King was said to have learned from employés that Mrs. Learn was plotting his death. A friend of his, Señora Juana Fernandez, was alleged to have made the acquaintance of Mrs. Learn and to have been commissioned by her to poison King. After false news had appeared in the papers that Mr. King had been poisoned and would not recover two detectives who accompanied Señora Fernandes said they heard Mrs. Learn exclaim: "At last!" and saw her pay money to Señora Fernandez.

BOARD DISCOUNTS NIAGARA FALLS 'SUICIDE' REPORT

Deny Erosion Is Menacing Spectacle's Beauty.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 23.—[Special.—Niagara Falls is not committing suicide. The reports to me, as Mark Twain said of the rumor of his death, is greatly exaggerated.

It has taken the falls 30,000 years to cut their way seven miles upstream from Lake Ontario through the limestone strata. The Canadian, or Horseshoe, falls is lengthening in graceful curves and one or two centuries hence will be as beautiful as today, if not more so, while the American falls will not be drained by erosion for 2,000 years.

This is the considered verdict of the special international Niagara board which has approved the project embodied in the pending treaty with Canada for remedial works above the falls for the rewatering of the exposed flanks of the horseshoe in low water periods and for an additional experimental diversion of water from the falls for power development.

Power Man Started It.

The motion of the "suicide of Niagara" emanated from views promulgated fifteen or more years ago by the late John Lyell Harper, vice president and chief engineer of the Niagara Falls Power company. Harper finally, in 1918, published a pamphlet entitled "The Suicide of the Horseshoe Fall" in which he contended that erosion eventually would destroy the horseshoe form of the Canadian falls.

Mr. Harper, who developed the enormously valuable power of Niagara under the present treaty permitting the diversion of 20,000 cubic feet of water per second on the American side and who conceived the idea of averting the "suicide" of the horseshoe by means that would warrant the doubling of the power diversion, died in 1924. The following year the company, which stands to win an additional volume of power worth $20,000,000 a year if the project embodied in the pending new treaty with Canada succeeds, reissued Mr. Harper's "Suicide of the Horseshoe" pamphlet.

Financed by Interests.

The same year the Smithsonian institution issued a brochure on the preservation and power possibilities of Niagara one section of which was entitled "Why Canadian Fall Is Committing Suicide." Only within the last fortnight it has been divulged that the Smithsonian pamphlet was financed largely by electric power interests, including those at Niagara Falls.

Eventually, the impression became widespread that Niagara Falls are destroying themselves at a rapid rate and is doomed to degeneration into a series of rapids.

What Mr. Harper had in mind apparently was the destruction not of the cararacts, but of the horseshoe form of the Canadian falls. In his pamphlet he reveals how deeply he was touched by the thought that the Horseshoe fall, which for generations "has greeted the thousands of bridal couples, extending to them the felicitations of success and happiness at the very beginning of the most important phase of their life," is now "rapidly and definitely departing from the emblem of good luck, and taking on a new form, lacking both in aesthetic beauty and munificent prophecy."

The power company engineer attributed to scenery cranks and coal barons the outrageous suggestion that the existing power diversion was responsible for the suicidal tendency of the horseshoe. He ascribed it to "gathering of a greater volume of water into the center of the river," producing a more rapid erosion at that point. He estimated that this erosion was cutting a notch in the horseshoe at the rate of eight feet a year.

Mr. Harper proposed to arrest this erosion by a reduction of the flow by increased power diversion and an artificial redistribution of the remaining flow more uniformly over the entire crest of the horseshoe. By this treatment the Horseshoe falls would remain, he said, fully as impressive as the American falls.

He doubted that any "difference in esthetic value" there might be between the two spectacles could compensate spectators for the 2,000,000 horsepower now going to waste over the horseshoe. As 2,000,000 horsepower would replace the burning of $100,000,000 worth of coal a year and as 1,000,000 persons view the falls annually, he calculated that the "monetary value of the difference in spectacle to each person would be one hundred dollars per look."

Buildings Not So Esthetic.

Some critics have been so unkind as to suggest that neither Mr. Harper nor the Schoellkopf family, which dominates the Niagara Falls Power company, has been distinguished by a highly developed sense of "esthetic value," pointing out that the principal eyesore on the Niagara scene today is the aggregation of the company's unsightly buildings on the right bank below the International bridge. Norman R. Gibson, the company's chief engineer, says these buildings are being torn down as rapidly as their leases to other parties expire.

The special international Niagara board, which recommended the remedial works designed to preserve the beauty of the falls and to permit an increased diversion of water for power purposes, is composed of J. Horace McFarland, pioneer agitator in the original campaign to "Save Niagara," and Col. Dewitt C. Jones of the U. S. army corps of engineers, representing the United States, and Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines, and J. T. Johnston, director of the dominion water power and reclamation service, representing Canada.

What Board Has to Say.

"The statement," says the special board, "that the Horseshoe fall is 'committing suicide' and is in danger of destroying itself as a spectacle by cutting a narrow 'notch,' destroying the symmetry of the horseshoe, possibly degenerating into a cascade and eventually draining the American fall, has unfortunately been widely circulated and leads to the impression that something is urgently needed to save the Horseshoe fall from itself."

The board then goes on to say that from about 1800 two strong currents have converged and met in the middle of the river, "thus causing especially rapid erosion in the central part of the fall."

"Erosion at the flanks, particularly at the Goat island shelf at the United States end of the fall," says the board's report, "has practicaly ceased, due to the draining of water from the shelf by the upstream movement of the horseshoe and the diversion of water for power purposes."

Instead of the eight feet a year recession of the toe of the horseshoe, estimated by Mr. Harper, the board found that the recession averaged 3.7 feet annually from 1842 to 1906, since which time it has averaged 2.3 feet.

"The direction of maximum recession," says the report, "is now, and has been for more than twenty years, up the deep channel on the Canadian side and not in the so-called 'notch,' where of recent years the recession has been almost negligible. The horseshoe is now cutting back at a decreasing rate and the rate will continue to decrease."

The decreasing rate of recession is due to the fact that the thickness of the uppermost limestone stratum increases as the falls work their way upstream.

"Thus it is apparent," says the board, "that, if left to itself, the Horseshoe fall will not become a mere cascade or destroy itself by cutting a deep 'notch.' On the contrary, there is every reason to believe the active part of the horseshoe will broaden out and the crest line lengthen in graceful curves, and that, if adequately supplied with water, the main part of the horseshoe, 100 or 200 years hence, will present an appearance equal or superior to the present. It is estimated that recession will not progress to the point of draining the American falls for at least 2,000 years."

Conditions Can Be Remedied.

This is the situation with respect to the main part of the horseshoe. A more serious condition obtains on the flanks.

"The Goat island shelf and a section of the flank near the Canadian shore," says the board, "are already practically bare. Within recent years a 415 foot section of the crest at the Canadian flank has been filled up and converted from crest into a part of the wall of the gorge. Within the reasonably near future the Goat island shelf will be completely dry, even in high water seasons, and this part of the shelf, if left to nature, will take its natural place as a part of the wall of the gorge."

These conditions can be remedied, the board states, by the engineering works above the falls proposed in the pending treaty. These works "will enable this part of the fall to be rewatered, thus forming the connection necessary to bind the American falls with the enlarged horseshoe into a harmonious whole."

In the same way the Canadian flank of the horseshoe can be rewatered, according to the board. The board pronounces the recession of the American fall negligible. This is due to the existence of a talus at the foot of the fall protecting the cliff from undercutting and consequent erosion.

"Low flow of the falls," says the board, speaking of the American cataract, "results in a marked thinning of the sheet of water, leaving the cliff behind the falls visible through the curtain at certain points and in certain lights. It also gives angular appearance to the crest, as the water merely falls over the edge of the cliff instead of leaping clear as it does with higher flows.

"The thinning out of the upper rapids, with consequent exposure of dry ledges, also detracts from the scenic effect at low flows. These defects can easily be remedied by increasing the low water flow through the American channel by from 2,500 to 3,000 cubic feet per second."

FIND FERTILIZER MADE BY MILWAUKEE PAYS FOR SEWAGE DISPOSAL

Milwaukee, Wis., June 23.—[Special.]—Operating costs of Milwaukee's sewage disposal plant will have been reduced to virtually nothing by the end of this year, according to J. H. Fowles, assistant engineer of the sewerage commission.

The economy will have been achieved through the sale of "Milorganite," trade name of the fertilizer which is made from refuse by the plant.

The net return from the sale of this fertilizer last year was $600,000, or $350,000 less than actually was spent in operating plant. Mr. Fowles declared the deficit would be reduced if not eliminated by January of next year.

NEXT CAMPAIGN WILL HINGE ON CORN AND WHEAT

Farm Problem Still Is a Political Issue.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 23.—[Special.]—Agricultural unrest will continue to furnish an issue for national campaigns.

The special session of congress, which has recessed for two months, has failed to dispose of the agricultural issue, although this was its prime purpose.

With a farm relief bill on the statute books and tariff revision about half completed, the agitation over the plight of agriculture continues unabated and is threatening trouble for the congressional elections of 1930 and the presidential election of 1932.

Much Trouble Stirred Up.

The Republican conservatives who advised President Hoover against the calling of a special session are finding a melancholy satisfaction in having predicted what would happen.

The special session already has stirred up more different varieties of trouble on the farm issue than any one imagined was possible.

Senators William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], and Smith Wildman Brookhart [Rep., Iowa], whose advice the President followed when he called the special session, proved the chief trouble makers.

While congress has enacted the precise form of farm relief legislation which President Hoover favored in the campaign and which apparently was indorsed by the voters, yet virtually all the agricultural organizations are skeptical of its efficacy and the professional farm relievers in congress openly are antagonistic.

It is assumed by Republican leaders that public confidence in the President's farm relief plan has been to some extent undermined by the advocacy of the export debenture scheme by a coalition of Democrats and radical Republicans and its approval by the senate.

Relies on Farm Board.

President Hoover has faith that the new farm board, members of which may be named during the coming week, will be able to work out a program through stabilization corporations and government loans which will be helpful to agriculture.

The abnormal wheat surplus, however, has furnished a more difficult problem than has existed heretofore and even in administration circles it is doubted if wheat prices can be boosted high enough during the present season to satisfy the farmers.

Leaders of the conservative wing of the Republican party are about convinced that it will be impossible to enact a tariff bill which will satisfy agriculture. Yesterday's clash between Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, and such Republican wheel horses as Senators Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] and James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], before a subcommittee of the senate finance committee, showed how wide is the gulf separating their tariff theories.

Differ on Views.

Under the methods used by Mr. Gray in computing the relative advantages of agriculture and industry under the tariff the two will be placed on a parity only if higher rates than are likely are placed on raw agricultural commodities and industrial rates are scaled down. According to the tariff theories of Senators Smoot and Watson each industry must be considered independently in deciding upon its need of protection and there is no such thing as balancing one industry against another.

Furthermore they take exception to Mr. Gray's method of using only raw agricultural commodities in figuring the average rate of protection given to agriculture and placing processed farm commodities with industrial products.

While Mr. Gray estimated that the average duty on raw farm products is 25.85 in the present law and 29.90 in the bill as passed by the house tariff commission, figures show that the average rate on all agricultural products, including those processed, is 40.31 per cent in the present law and about 55 per cent in the house bill.

Mr. Gray figured that the house bill has increased the average duty on what he classes as industrial products from 42.03 per cent to 47.07, while the tariff commission estimates an increase from 34.78 per cent to about 39 per cent.

Finds Farm Rate Too Low.

Mr. Gray contends the agricultural rate has been below the industrial rate and still will be under the new bill, while the tariff commission figures would appear to show that agricultural rates are higher than industrial under the present law and will have an even greater advantage under the new bill.

According to figures worked out by Representative Carl R. Chindblom [Rep., Ill.], a member of the house ways and means committee, which framed the house bill, duties on the items in schedule 7, which relates to agriculture, were increased 49.51 per cent, as compared with increases of 10.29 per cent for the chemical schedule, 20.7$ per cent for the earths, earthenware and glassware schedule, 12.94 for the metals schedule, 8.25 per cent for the cotton manufactures schedule, 6.35 per cent for the silk schedule, 6.65 per cent for the paper schedule, and 37.50 per cent for the sundries schedule.

Two statements issued today, one by Senator Brookhart, expressing the view of the Radical Republicans, and the other by Representative Cordell Hull [Dem., Tenn.], a spokesman for the low tariff Democrats, show the line of attack against which the Republicans will be obliged to defend themselves in the next campaign.

"Every impartial analysis of the rates of duty provided in the tariff bill adopted by the house of representatives has revealed to the satisfaction of those who are seeking the facts in tariff revision that the hope of farmers of obtaining equality through that process is illusory," said Senator Brookhart.

Calls Session a Failure.

"Neither the tariff bill as it was approved by the house nor the farm relief bill enacted by the senate will do justice to the agricultural industry. If this is all that is attempted in behalf of the farmer, then this special session of congress might as well not have been convened."

Senator Brookhart quoted figures assembled by the People's Legislative Service, the La Follette radical organization, showing that under the present Fordney-McCumber act agriculture obtains an annual benefit of about $74,000,000 while under the house bill rates this total will be about $87,000,000.

Representative Hull said that "if Democrats had a glorious opportunity to wage successful combat against the McKinley tariff excesses in 1892 and against those of the Payne tariff in 1910 and 1912, they have one doubly inviting now."

"The fanciful notion was entertained by many for a time that farm relief was the one major purpose of the present extra session of congress," said Representative Hull.

Repaying G. O. P. Fund.

"The blindest, however, now clearly can see that the real and paramount object of this session is the repayment of Republican campaign contributions made last year in the form of higher tariffs, chiefly to manufacturing beneficiaries.

"Agriculture for the ninety-ninth time is to be hoodwinked and humbugged by prolific promises of effective tariffs that are a fraud and a swindle, save as to certain minor specialties. Will the American farmer never learn that it is just as possible to level the Rocky mountains with the Mississippi valley as to place agriculture on an economic equality with industry by tariff enactments?"

Mrs. Pauline Barkhouse Guest at Dinner.

A dinner party at which Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, was the chief guest was given for Mrs. Pauline Barkhouse yesterday on the occasion of her 85th birthday by her son-in-law, Samuel A. Ettelson, corporation counsel of Chicago, at his home, 1020 East 48th street.

Mrs. Barkhouse was born in Louisville, Ky., and was godmother to Adolph Ochs. During his teens, when he was first learning the newspaper business on the Louisville Courier-Journal, Mr. Ochs stayed in her home, and she was instrumental in arranging his first venture, the management of the Chattanooga Times.

Comes Here for Party.

"Yes, I have come all the way from New York for her birthday; I have no other business here," he said yesterday while seated at her right hand at the flower-decked, candle-lit table. "She is a wonderful woman, and she has been as a second mother to me. I wish to pay her all the homage in the world."

Mr. Ochs spent most of the dinner hour recalling Mrs. Barkhouse in the time in which he knew her intimately, and among other things told that in 1860 she welcomed the prince of Wales to Louisville and in 1861 shook hands with Abraham Lincoln.

Next to Mrs. Ochs sat Mrs. Ettelson, the daughter of Mrs. Barkhouse, who for the occasion had garbed herself in a puffed-sleeve, basqued wooden-anniversary dress worn years ago by her mother. Two other children of Mrs. Barkhouse were present, Arthur J. Barkhouse of Brookline, Mass., and Mrs. Edna Tabor of Chicago.

Other Guests Listed.

Three grandchildren were also at the table, William L. Tabor, Mrs. Leon S. Glaser, and Lee J. Strauss. Other guests were Mrs. Katherine Brand of New York; Mrs. Silas Starr and Mrs. Clarence Hellman of Louisville; Morris Steinert of Los Angeles; Jack Nahm of BowlingGreen, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Loveman of Ann Harbor, Mich., and Mrs. E. B. Woolf, Mrs. Berthe Cronson, Mr. Glaser, and Mrs. Strauss of Chicago.

Mrs. Barkhouse makes her home in Chicago at the Hotel Windemere East and last evening held an informal reception there to many Chicago friends she has made in the 25 years of her residence here. As a feature of the evening's entertainment there was held the first private sound screening in Chicago, four reels of talkies.

Dry Slayer of Virkula Is Released on $5,000 Bond

International Falls, Minn., June 23.—[U. P.]—Emmett J. White, youthful customs patrolman, charged with second degree murder in the slaying of Henry Virkula, Big Falls confectioner, was released from the county jail here today on $5,000 bond.

White, who had been confined since June 9, the day after Virkula was slain when he failed to halt his automobile on a highway near here, left the jail quickly and was joined by his young bride and drove out of town, presumably for their home in Duluth.

Gold Medals Given Fifteen Boy Scout Hero Life Savers

New York, June 23.—(AP)—Fifteen Boy Scouts who risked their lives to save the lives of others have been rewarded with gold honor medals, the highest award of the Boy Scouts of America, an announcement today said.

The medals were conferred by the National Court of Honor, of which Daniel Carter Beard is chairman. Those to whom they were awarded are:

Gold Medal Mother for One.

A gold honor medal will be sent to the parents of Scoutmaster James Tarwater Wright of Rockwood, Tenn., who gave his own life to save boys in his troop from drowning during the Tennessee and Alabama floods. Willie Evans, Ted Derrick, and J. C. Acuff also played parts in those rescues.

Wright and Acuff were in charge of twenty younger Scouts who were camping in a cabin on the shore of White's creek, near Rockwood, Tenn., when the creek suddenly overflowed in the night and threw them into forty feet of water.

Wright worked for hours diving into the water to save one boy after another. Finally, at the point of exhaustion, he went after one more boy and was drowned.

Swims with Human Load.

Acuff was awarded a medal for his rescue of one Scout, who was injured. For hours, the report stated, he waded and swam around with the smaller boy on his shoulder. Evans and Derrick each rescued two of their companions.

William J. Martin saved his friend, Harry Schoch, 15, from being suffocated by ammonia fumes on Dec. 29, 1928. Martin dragged him into the open air, carried him to a nearby house, and sent for a doctor, in the meantime preventing the pain crazed boy from rubbing his eyes and face. The doctors said this undoubtedly saved Schoch's eyesight.

All the other medals were awarded to Scouts who had rescued persons from drowning.

Rescues Two in Park.

The story of 15 year old Tom Messader of Brooklyn is unique, in that he made two rescues of young boys on successive days from Prospect Park lake, Brooklyn.

CO-ED'S SLAYER DEEDS FAMILY HOME TO WIFE

Drawn Months Ago; Faces Judge Today.

Columbus, O., June 23.—(AP)—Dr. James H. Snook, 49, deposed professor of Ohio State university, will be arraigned in common pleas court here tomorrow for the first degree murder of Miss Theora K. Hix, his 25 year old co-ed paramour.

Dr. Snook was indicted several days ago after confessing that he slashed the girl's throat after beating her with a hammer during an altercation at a rifle range north of the city.

His attorneys, John F. Seidel and E. O. Ricketts, said they will enter a "not guilty" plea in his behalf.

A report of three alienists on Dr. Snook's mental condition is expected Tuesday. The alienists were called by Prosecutor John J. Chester Jr. yesterday to forestall an insanity plea which he feared the defense attorneys might attempt.

Alienists at Work.

The alienists, Dr. William H. Pritchard, superintendent of the Columbus State hospital for the insane, and Drs. E. E. Garver and Robert Tarbell, operators of the private sanitariums near Columbus, asked Chester to permit them time to examine statements made to them by Dr. Snook yesterday and the results of blood and reactionary tests they made behind closed doors in the prosecutor's office.

A deed transferring the Snook home in the university district to Mrs. Snook was placed on file here yesterday. The deed was dated March, 1928, but no reason for the delay in filing was given.

Federal officers were continuing their investigation of the alleged laxity of university officials in the handling of narcotics in the veterinary department, William Bartels, assistant United States district attorney, said.

Push Narcotics Quiz.

The investigation was begun after Dr. Snook was reported to have told police that Miss Hix frequently asked him for narcotics. William Ford, federal narcotic agent, said that narcotics are kept in a desk at the university and no record is kept of their actual use. All are withdrawn for "experimental use," he reported.

Dr. and Mrs. Melvin T. Hix, Bradentown, Fla., parents of the murdered co-ed, will take the body to Binghampton, N. Y., tomorrow for burial.

The girl's body was found on the rifle range north of the city a week ago Friday by two boys.

BOULDER CANYON JOBS PROMISED STRANDED WORKERS BY WILBUR

Las Vegas, Nev., June 23.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur, weary from two days of intensive inspection in the Boulder canyon dam vicinity, left here today for San Francisco after promising the citizens of this city that work on the big dam in the Colorado river would begin as soon as final plans could be drawn and certain legal questions settled.

The promise meant much to Las Vegas, where employment by the construction work will relieve a situation brought about by the town "booming" following the legislation passed six months ago. Hundreds of persons looking for work at that time flocked to Las Vegas and are now living around the outskirts of the city in tents and shacks. On every side the great American desert stretches for miles, making it impossible for the stranded, moneyless people to get away.

The permanent citizenship of the city, built in the lower middle of the great desert around a great artesian well, has done its best to care for the stranded people, but in spite of these efforts, there has been, and still is, suffering.

City officials say that most of the misfortune has settled on unattached men who roam from one frontier to another in hope of getting rich quick.

PAYING DUTY IS TOO MUCH FOR "SCOTCH" FIRMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EDINBURGH, Scotland, June 23.—The heavy duty on whisky is killing business. Two old established firms closed down today, one in Glasgow and one in Leith. These are the latest of a long series of retirements due to the same cause.

The home consumption of proof whisky decreased by 407,000 gallons during the past fiscal year, is now less than one-third of what it was before the war.

The export market was the mainstay of the trade for some time, and now that is slumping, too, shipments since the beginning of the year having fallen by 789,000 gallons.

Baby Dies in Spite of Inhalator Squad's Efforts

Harry Kelly, 18 months old, 3825 West Van Buren street, died of pneumonia yesterday after an inhalator squad, under Capt. John Garrity, had worked five and one-half hours in an effort to save his life. He seemed to be on the road to recovery after the squad left Saturday night, but suffered a relapse yesterday.

ROBBED AND LOCKED IN GARAGE.

While putting his car in the garage last night Paul Abendberg, 1325 Carlisle avenue, was robbed of $20 by a masked bandit who locked him in the garage and fled. He shouted for help and was released by his wife.

A TARIFF FOR FARMERS ONLY.

Spokesmen for the farmers are justified in their criticisms of the tariff bill as it passed the house. Further, they are justified in asking that tariff legislation be confined pretty closely to farm schedules. It is becoming increasingly apparent that if the door is opened to a revision of the tariffs on manufactured goods, there will be no closing of the door until scores of items which are in no real need of protection are given it.

Persons unfamiliar with political methods in this country will wonder how an industry which does not need tariff protection and can make only the most flimsy case for it can still obtain it. The explanation lies in the fact that Congressman A will vote for the schedule requested by Congressman B's constituents if Congressman B returns the courtesy. There are nearly as many logs to roll and backs to scratch as there are congressmen.

The proposed increase in farm tariffs is on a different footing. Many agricultural prices are depressed. Only the other day Oliver E. Baker, economic geographer of the bureau of agricultural economics, said: "The price of wheat today is lower than at any time since the war, and, taking the decreased purchasing power of the farmer's dollar into consideration, his bushel of wheat today is probably worth not more than it was in 1896." Wheat offers, perhaps, a somewhat extreme instance of the farmers' difficulties, but it illustrates a general trend. In so far as the tariff can remedy matters, the farmers ought to have a greater measure of protection. This was the position taken in the Republican platform and has been recognized as binding upon him and his party by President Hoover.

Certainly it will do the farmers in general no good if their representatives in congress trade higher tariffs on the goods which all farmers consume for higher tariffs on goods which some farmers produce. The senators and representatives from the central states can properly take the position that the agricultural industry alone is entitled to further protection. They can stand on the campaign pledges and in a large measure upon the President's call of the special session. If they start trading they will defeat the interests of their constituents.

ADMIRAL MOFFETT ON FLYING.

Those who have been skeptical of the claim that the next war will be fought almost exclusively in the air were interested in the observations on the subject by Rear Admiral Moffett in a speech at Louisville. Admiral Moffett is chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics and one of the ablest and most energetic friends of aviation in the country. Therefore he would have been excused had his imagination and enthusiasm for flying prompted him to overestimate the uses and probable future uses of aviation. But Admiral Moffett confined himself, we think, to realities.

"It is ridiculous to say that aircraft will supplant surface vessels, either merchant or naval, and those who say so do so from ignorance," Admiral Moffett said. "Aviation has abolished and replaced nothing. It will not interfere with other means of transportation, railroads, car lines, buses, steamships and other maritime transport, but is supplemental to them. Similarly in national defense and especially at sea."

Admiral Moffett's analysis of aviation in war time will be distasteful to men with an enthusiastic but uncritical understanding of the subject. Speculation as to the future of aviation has been largely by analogy. From the buggy to the automobile to the airplane or from canal boat to railroad to airplane is the natural progress which the process of analogy suggests. Such progress may not be impossible, but if it is not achieved, those who have accepted it as inevitable will be disappointed. Is it not more likely that the airplane will have particular, supplemental functions as Admiral Moffett has suggested? Especially in military affairs is it important that the probable uses of the airplane be understood, for there is danger of neglecting other branches of the service if too much confidence is placed in the claims of the aviators that they will carry the load of battle.

Perhaps the greatest factor which is overlooked in predicting the course of aviation is the weather. On a bright, cloudless day a fleet of airships undoubtedly could destroy a fleet of ships. But the days on which such a maneuver could be attempted successfully are rare, and alarmists, who would all but abandon sea forces, are not well informed or they are deceiving themselves. Planes will certainly be used both in offensive and defensive naval warfare, but, as Admiral Moffett observed, they will probably be supplemental. Likewise the use of planes for reconnaissance work and for bombing will likely be far greater than it was in the last war, but they will here be supplemental, too. Little good, we think, can come of planning the career of aviation without consulting its limitations. The things that the airplane can do are phenomenal. It is wiser, therefore, to promote its real uses than to seek uses for which it is not equipped.

THE SPORTING BISHOP.

The books of the bankrupt brokerage firm of Kable & Co. of New York gave up the name of Bishop James Cannon Jr. of Virginia and Washington, D. C., as a client. Mr. Kable and his partner, Mr. Goldhurst, are under indictment charged with using the mails to defraud, but Bishop Cannon does not appear to have lost anything. He put $2,500 to work with the firm, had his name in the books with his title of bishop, carried $100,000 worth of stocks, and was credited with a balance of $6,000 when the government took over the records.

The bishop could hardly be regarded as an investor. He might euphemistically be called a speculator. Many hundreds of thousands of his fellow citizens try to make this a gainful pursuit of money and Mr. Cannon was in a lot of company. It isn't always productive of a little place on Long Island, but there's always hope that it will be.

Sterner moralists question the social and moral propriety of trying to run a shoe string around a bank roll thus, but there are other citizens who think much of ten dollars well placed on a horse or two dollars on a dog, if that dog has been fixed to win.

A successful operator in the market in which Bishop Cannon was found generally presents a familiar picture. He is a genial man and may have field glasses swung from his port side. He is occasionally or frequently at Latonia, Belmont, Fairmount, New Orleans or Havana in season. He has more than one bootlegger and they are all reliable. He enjoys himself and he intends to. He is a child of the flesh and sometimes is regarded as a son of Anak. Some of his fellow citizens do not like his ways, but he is not apt to object to their ways.

Bishop Cannon is a leader in the church militant, but he is not of any of its mendicant orders. Ecclesiastical respectability and reputability do not require it and Mr. Cannon has not been perfected in any Waldensian heresy. Although he takes a narrow view of many of the habits of his fellow countrymen and will have them suppressed by law or the shotgun he is not illiberal on the score of easy money.

Apparently he was given clerical rates by the brokerage firm either out of respect for his cloth or in recognition of his moral worth as indorsement of the stock gambling game. When other margin players were putting up thirty, forty, or even fifty per cent or being sold down the river the bishop was carried for ten per cent. In this game he seems to have had good rolling dice.

A great many people will not find anything reprehensible in a citizen running $2,500 into $100,000 worth of stock deals, dwindling down to $6,000 net. Most of these people are the ones Bishop Cannon would like to have in jail.

BOULDER DAM, MUSCLE SHOALS, AND THE ILLINOIS WATERWAY.

Boulder dam legislation became effective last week with the proclamation by the President that six of the seven states in the Colorado river basin have signed the Colorado river compact. Arizona has declined to sign. Meanwhile political interests are busy with schemes to spend millions more of national funds at Muscle Shoals.

If work ever starts on Boulder dam, unnecessary expenditures of millions of national money will be made just as millions were lavished on Muscle Shoals. The exclusive beneficiaries will be local governments in the west and land sharks. Hiram Johnson and the western bloc have gained political influence for getting something from the taxpayers of the east for the residents of the west. And for their enterprise the western representatives deserve whatever political success they get.

Meanwhile probably the greatest undertaking before the nation is unfinished because our representatives have failed their constituents. An appropriation of only $4,000,000 would complete the Illinois waterway. Although this is a project of national importance, it is the business of the Illinois representatives to get the money. We cannot expect the rest of the country to take the initiative in securing an improvement which centers in Illinois. Only a measure of the enterprise which Johnson displayed in acquiring Boulder dam would be necessary to finish the essentially national undertaking of the Illinois waterway. So long as the greatest and sole ambition of our representatives is to share in the distribution of federal jobs, the appropriations which should properly come to Illinois will go to Boulder dam, Muscle Shoals, and the Nicaraguan canal.

Editorial of the Day

TOUGH ON THE LEATHERNECKS.

[The Baltimore Evening Sun.]

Word comes from the White House that Mr. Hoover is seriously considering sending marines to Detroit to help enforce prohibition.

This proposal is interesting for a variety of reasons. But the chief of these reasons is that it would almost certainly bring about the degradation of the proudest force under the American flag.

Federal Volsteadism began by debauching the enforcement agents provided by the United States government. As the state police were thrown into the fight they, too, were degraded. There is hardly a city or county in the country which has not had its series of corrupting incidents from this single cause.

When prohibition agents and police failed the government threw the coast guard and the customs officers into the breach. But the debauchery continued. It is now a national scandal.

Moreover, Mr. Hoover is well acquainted with the effects of putting one corps after another into the mess. When he was secretary of commerce it was proposed to make the life saving force and the lighthouse service a part of the machinery of snooping and spying. These forces were under Mr. Hoover's command. He protested vehemently. Said he:

"I think it would be a great misfortune if the life saving men were brought into prohibition enforcement. The same thing has been suggested with regard to the lighthouse service. I cannot conceive anything that would corrupt the fine traditions and personalities of these men more than by having them plunged into police duty of this character."

In those days Mr. Hoover did not have to concern himself with Bishop Cannon and the Anti-Saloon league. He was, within limits, a free agent. But now things are different. And so Mr. Hoover considers throwing the marine corps into the pot, to subject them to the same temptation and the same indignities which have overtaken one after the other the enforcement bureau proper, the local police, the customs service, the coast guard, and which, occasionally, have besmeared the federal courts themselves.

We feel sorry for the marines.

HEALTH OF EDWIN STANTON

NOT all the books dealing with Edwin M. Stanton are complimentary to Lincoln's secretary of war. It will be remembered that years before Lincoln became President Stanton treated the future President with scant consideration or courtesy in a certain important lawsuit. In spite of this Lincoln selected him to succeed Cameron as secretary of war and, incidentally, let himself in for trouble and even humiliation at times. Winston, in telling the story of Andrew Johnson's life, tells us much about Stanton that was not to that gentleman's credit. McClellan's autobiography handles Stanton with some of the spirit of scorn with which this scrappy secretary handled other people. There are few now who defend Stanton's course in the trial of Mrs. Surratt and some of the other Lincoln conspirators.

But possibly the doctors can supply a defense for him. Dr. L. C. Duncan says of Stanton: "He was a short, heavy-set man who took almost no exercise. In order to overcome the bad effects of his unwholesome mode of life, Surgeon General Barnes had a standing desk placed in the secretary's office. Instead of sitting in luxurious chairs, Stanton did his work thereafter while standing at his desk.

"He was nervously active and restless. Were he living in this day his physicians would have made a diagnosis of nervous hypertension and would have prescribed relaxation. He had a chronic bronchitis and bronchial asthma. Perhaps this asthma was largely responsible for Stanton's irascibility. In October, 1863, he visited Grant in the field and there contracted a very bad cold from which he never recovered. The period between this and his death is that in which he was making life difficult for Lincoln, fighting Andrew Johnson, doing a great injustice to Dr. W. A. Hammond, and prosecuting Mrs. Surratt.

"Surgeon General Barnes tells of two attacks of asthma in which he fell to the floor. At his death he was found to have had chronic bronchitis with asthma, heart disease with dropsy and cirrhosis of the liver. However, most of his weakness, as well as his strength, was due to qualities in no way related to his illness. Col. Duncan quotes a word picture of Ellett which might be a description of the secretary himself. He wrote: 'He is a cleancut, forcible, controversial writer. His fancy and will are predominant points and once having taken a notion he will not allow it to be questioned.'"

IT IS MERELY A SYMPTOM.

J. M. W. writes: Whenever I lie down on my back my head seems to swim for half a minute or so, and also when I get up in the morning the same thing happens. What is the reason? I am 66 years old and have always enjoyed good health.

REPLY.

This is merely a symptom, but it may have significance. An examination may show the symptom to be caused by heart disease, arteriosclerosis, profound anemia, ear trouble, or it may show it to be without significance.

WILL GROW LITTLE MORE.

H. D. writes: I am 19 years old and only five feet 3 inches in height.

1. Will I grow any more in height?
2. Is there any way I could increase my height by exercising?

REPLY.

1. Not to speak of.
2. You may learn to stand tall and in that way add a little.

SHOULD ASK FOR LEECHES.

Mrs. E. P. K. writes: Where can I purchase blood suckers? They are very easy to obtain in Europe, as the people over there use them a great deal.

REPLY.

Go to your drug store and ask for leeches. If they have none ask them to order for you. Not long ago every drug store carried a stock of leeches. They sometimes bought them from customers, since leeches are indigenous over most of America.

Some recent writers advise the use of leeches by people who are in danger of blood clotting. The secretion of the leech prevents the blood from clotting.

Oak Park, June 17.—[Friend of the People.]—Can a single woman of British nationality who has resided in this country over 40 years, having been brought here by relatives when she was 7 years old, take out citizenship papers now or are there obstacles in the way on account of delay or neglect to take them out sooner?

If she is still eligible what procedure is required so she may obtain citizenship papers?

CREDENCE.

My love has led me devious ways,
　Down long lanes of desire
To heights where purple radiance plays
　In passion's sunset fire.

To utter gloom of final loss,
　A mound where lilies bend,
Pale moonlight on a lonely cross . . .
　And is this then the end?

I know not . . . I can but believe
　That when my time is through,
And life has granted me reprieve,
　I shall go forth to you!

THE MANCHESTER SQUARE CASE.

SYNOPSIS.

Constable Higgins, on the trail of the murderer of Sir Algernon Somerset, Bart., is much embarrassed by the sudden friendship of Porters Siding, an American tourist, endeavoring to escape from his wife and the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States. Mr. Higgins, seeking to elude his impulsive friend, joins with a large delegation of Shakespearean enthusiasts from Kansas City and points west, but Mr. Siding plunges after him and arrests him for the murder of Sir Algernon.

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

The delegation from Kansas City fell back, appalled. One of their number stood accused of murder! Most of them had not noticed how recently Constable Higgins had joined them and they took it for granted he was one of them. Yes, there they were, Americans in a foreign land, and one of them was charged with murder! It might be that all would be arrested as accessories! It would be an international scandal!

"Don't give your real name," exclaimed a man standing directly behind Constable Higgins. "Don't anybody give their real names. This in an outrage! Gosh, won't I raise some hell with this country when I get back to Kansas City."

"The murder of Sir Algernon Somerset—Bart.," declared Porters Siding solemnly, "in Manchester Square, London."

"But who are you, please?" asked the timid man, wishing fervently that he had never left Emporia, Kas. "Understand," he went on, hurriedly, "I hain't lookin' for trouble. I guess it's all right 'n' everything, only I just wanted to know."

"I," said Porters Siding, standing up as straight as it was possible for a man who had drunk as many Side Cars and Scotch and Pollys as he had, "I am the King's Justice!"

A terrible silence fell on the delegation from Kansas City and all the other Americans who had gathered around to see what was going on.

By far the larger number of the Americans were women, and they were so excited some of them dropped their sacred red Baedekers and even forgot for a moment all about Anne Hathaway's cottage and Bill Shakespeare's birthplace, just a few blocks down the street (or down the road, as the English so quaintly say).

"Oh, don't let them fight!" shrieked a stout woman, elbowing her way into the crowd. "It's outrageous for us Amurikins to come over here and strike Englishmen. It might lead to war. Oh, stop them! Stop them!"

"Say," spoke up a Kansas City man who had said nothing up to this point, "what I want to know, is this guy a cop? Where's your star, mister?"

Porters Siding solemnly drew a pair of handcuffs from his pocket and held them up for all to see. They were the handcuffs that Constable Higgins had put on his wrists when he had confessed to the murder of Sir Algernon himself. After taking the handcuffs off Porters Siding, Constable Higgins had been in such a hurry to get away from his devoted companion that he had left them on the table in the pub and Porters Siding had confiscated them.

"No more argument," declared Porters Siding sternly, "this man is a prisoner of the crown."

"Say, just wait a minute, mister," spoke up the quiet man again. "This guy is an Amurikin and he's got a right to appeal to the Amurikin consul. You just take him to the Amurikin consul and we'll all go along."

Constable Higgins finally felt impelled to say a word. "Half a mo', if you please," he said, "this silly bounder is quite drunk. Just take a whiff of the blighter's breath and see for yourselves."

One of the Americans stepped forward and sniffed the atmosphere in front of Porters Siding's face. He sniffed, again and again, until a woman came up and grabbed his arm. "Albert," she said firmly, "I know what you're doing. You're enjoying yourself, that's what you are! You're getting drunk on that man's breath and you ought to be ashamed of yourself, and you a member of the Anti-Saloon League!"

"Anyhow," said the sniffer, somewhat embarrassed, "this bird has a snootful. He's plastered, all rightee, all rightee."

"I knew it," declared his wife with conviction, "and, you're drunk, too. You never say 'all rightee' except when you're loaded."

"The thing to do," said the man who had suggested the idea before, "is for all of us to go before the Amurikin consul."

"Listen, Buddy," spoke up another man, "there hain't nothin' in this here town of Stratford-on-Avon BUT Amurikins. Look around and see. Pipe the old Stars and Stripes flying up there on the flag pole right in the middle of the town. But I heard this bird that's accused of murder saying he's an Englishman. There ought to be a British consul here, even if the Yanks have taken the place over."

All this time Constable Higgins had been deftly working his way back in the crowd while its attention was focused on Porters Siding. Now, he saw his chance, and with a few more side steps he reached the fringe of the crowd, and, walking swiftly across the pavement, disappeared through the friendly doors of a pub. He walked straight through the pub and out at the back door. Down the road he saw the railroad station and ran for it as fast as he could go. He bought a ticket for Birmingham, because the booking clerk (clark, please, in England) said the train standing outside was just leaving for that city.

The conductor gave the signal; the guards slammed shut the doors of the carriages; the train began to move.

There were wild shouts of protest from the train guards and a hoarse roar from the conductor.

"Too late, too late," they all shouted, "too late."

"Whaddaya mean, too late?" replied a man who came hurtling into Constable Higgins' carriage through the upper half of the closed door. He picked himself up and leaned out and thumbed his nose at the station guards. "Too late," he yelled back derisively, "how do you git that way?"

It was Porters Siding.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 24, 1864.

GEN. GRANT'S HEADQUARTERS.—There has been no serious fighting since the unsuccessful night demonstration of the enemy on the line of the 9th corps on the 21st. Our army being, however, as close to the enemy as it was in front of the Chickahominy two weeks ago, heavy skirmishing is continually going on. Our line extends nearly to the Petersburg and Weldon railroad. Our artillery stopped the running of trains by destroying the great bridge over the Appomattox. It is positively established that the greater part of Lee's army is in and about Petersburg.

NEW YORK.—The New York Times special, dated headquarters 2d army corps, June 20, says: "At 8 o'clock this morning Gen. Birney, occupying the nearest position to Petersburg, at a range of about 1,200 yards opened his batteries on the place, and for five hours kept up a constant bombardment. The effects of the shelling have not been ascertained aside from the burning of some buildings."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Brig. Gen. Julius White of Illinois has been ordered to the Army of the Potomac.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The losses to our Illinois troops under the command of Gen. Sturgis, in his disgraceful and disastrous defeat at Guntown, are seriously felt by all classes here. Among the gallant Illinois officers who fell on that fatal field were Col. T. W. Humphrey of the 95th and Col. George W. McKeag of the 120th. Col. Humphrey resided at Belvidere. Col. McKeag was a prominent lawyer of Shawneetown.

JUNE 24, 1899.

PARIS.—The government has ordered the work on the prison at Rennes, which is to shelter Dreyfus, completed tonight. The greatest precautions are being taken to insure the safety of Dreyfus. Every dish of food set upon the table will be tasted by two guardians. The Socialists at Rennes are well organized and in case of an attack on the prison would aid the soldiers in repelling it.

CHICAGO.—There will be no more "Hot Times in the Old Town Tonight" proclaimed by the student band of the University of Chicago. Glenn Hobbs, leader of the band, says he has received an official order from the university not to play "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" in the future. President Harper, however, stated that he has given no such orders.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Orange Free State.—The volksraad of the Orange Free State voted £9,870 for the increase of artillery, tents, and other supplies, then subsequently voted £22,500 for ammunition and £39,950 for other war material.

HONGKONG.—The Filipino junta admits that it has definite news that since Gen. Luna was killed at Aguinaldo's headquarters in an altercation with an officer of the guard, Aguinaldo will take the field in person.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 24, 1919.

PARIS.—The German nation has accepted the unconditional peace terms presented by the allies, but the pact probably will not be signed before June 26, owing to the fact that the enemy wishes to send a special delegation to Versailles. Premier Bauer's official note announcing the acceptance is on its way to Paris. The acceptance of the terms brings to an end the world war that has ravaged Europe and fastened its fangs in all parts of the world.

LONDON.—Admiral von Reuter, in command of the German fleet scuttled and sunk in the Scapa Flow, will be court-martialed for having broken the armistice conditions, the Daily Mail says. The trial will be arranged by the allied council in Paris.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—The American Federation of Labor in convention there pledged itself to obtain a general 44 hour week for workers in all crafts throughout the United States.

CHICAGO.—The engagement is announced of Miss Sara Lucile Knisely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carter Knisely of Hinsdale, to William Harrison Bennett, also of Hinsdale.

CITIZEN OF THE WORLD.

Chicago, June 20.—In refutation of the specious sort of patriotism that inspired THE TRIBUNE'S recent editorial on the case of Mrs. Schwimmer I would like to point out the real issue in the case. Manifestly it was not Mrs. Schwimmer's unfitness that barred her from American citizenship. Being a woman, and not required to bear arms, her resolution not to do so clearly could not invalidate her right to citizenship.

The reaction of government officials to the principles of Mrs. Schwimmer enunciated by an Italian peasant or an English servant girl seeking American citizenship would have been no more than the slight raising of an eyebrow. But Mrs. Schwimmer was not, as THE TRIBUNE so glibly phrased it, just "any one seeking American citizenship." She was an internationally known pacifist and radical, and much more dangerous to American militarism as an American citizen than as an alien subject to deportation.

It was not what she was not prepared to do, but what she was prepared to do, spread pacifism—for which heresy Christ himself, no doubt, would be barred from America by the holy judges of the Supreme court, who concurred in the recent decision—that made her undesirable. It was not her conception of citizenship but her conception of war that was responsible for the decision.

Harry Woodward Jr.

PRESIDENT WILSON AND MME. SCHWIMMER.

Chicago, June 19.—Mme. Schwimmer is a pacifist. She does not believe that any man should shoot his brother man for any reason whatsoever.

She believes in the biblical commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." She believes in democracy for the whole world. She is what might be termed an international democrat.

Mr. Wilson said that we must make the world safe for democracy and in this he voiced the sentiment of Mme. Schwimmer, so, therefore when she was called upon to take the oath that she would defend this land by force of arms if occasion demanded, she could not do so and consistently subscribe to the very principle that she had upheld.

It seems to me that if we are thwarted by such rank decisions to keep high minded idealists from becoming citizens and permit the entry of gunmen and mental perverts we are not making the proper progress toward making us a better people and a better nation.

Jesse A. Adler.

CHAIN STORE MEDICINE.

Chicago, June 20.—Dr. Reed's fulminations in today's TRIBUNE in which he asserts that state medicine and the pay clinic are wrong in principle is on a par with the efforts of independent stores to have the chain store legislated out of existence. Public medicine is coming without a doubt, and the sooner the better. The church has fought the findings of science for the last thousand years and science has won every time.

Even if we had public medicine there would still be a field for private practice. We have public preaching and teaching where formerly these services were available only [or chiefly] to those who could pay private fees. The result was that only a few were served.

Dr. Schmidt is perhaps the martyr whose public immolation may hasten the coming of public medicine.

On the same page is a defense of cheap clinics by the head of the Rosenwald fund. As he truly says, the wealthy can buy the highest priced services and the poor can be treated in free clinics, but "the terrific financial blows which strike the citizen of average financial means when sickness enters his family must be modified."

A. W. Jameson.

BOOTLEGGING FIRECRACKERS.

Chicago, June 18.—I have been interested by the discussion in your columns relative to the sale of firecrackers, and am moved to relate a conversation I had with a pupil in my room. He mentioned having firecrackers. I asked him where he got them. He said, "Over at Jake's, near our house."

I asked him if Jake didn't know that it was against the law to sell firecrackers to him. He said, "Sure he does, but if he is arrested his fine will only be $10, and he makes lots more than that on us kids."

Where do children get the money to pay Jake's fine and a profit as well? Parents might consider well that child's line of thought. He is eleven years old.

Another Teacher.

NO PLACE TO SLEEP.

Chicago, June 20.—May I ask our disgusted citizens just what they did to celebrate the Fourth of July when they were young? Do they expect every one to be quiet just so they can sleep? That's the trouble with most of our citizens; they're asleep and they need something to wake them up, but it may take more than a firecracker to do the job.

Throw away your dignity and get a horn; you're living in Chicago, the city of go, not sleep.

A Real Chicagoan.

QUANTITATIVE ART.

Elgin, Minn., June 17.—Some time in April or March you had an article in the Voice of the People, entitled "World's Longest Picture," in which you state that it was painted by a Henry Lewis.

In this you are wrong. It was painted by my father, the late John Banvard, who died in 1891. The painting was given the name of "The Three-Mile Painting" by Col. Wadsworth, a friend of my father's, in 1848, who saw it in Louisville, Ky., on completion.

If you will refer to Encyclopedia of American Biography, you will find an article about my father painting this panorama. Also please refer to a school text book, "Ethics of Success," and you will find one in that. Again, refer to "Hawkers and Walkers in Early America," by Richardson Wright, page [illegible], and you will find a notice of him in that. And if you will refer to the eastern dailies of the later forties and early fifties you can find no end of press notices of John Banvard the Artist, who did take it to Europe for exhibition.

John Banvard.

WELCOMING THE THIRD PARTY.

Chicago, June 14.—Your "Welcoming the Third Party," editorial of this morning is a bit belated. Should it not have appeared last year when Borah, Brookhart, Nye, Frazier, Cannon, J. Frank Norris, McBride, Heflin joined hands to support and elect Hoover, whose party affiliation has always been in doubt?

That some members of this combination are now dissatisfied with the chosen leader of the farmers and fundamentalists is a matter of interest.

OPEN FIGHT FOR LIVING WAGE FOR BRITISH PREMIER

MacDonald, Poor, Forced to Live on $25,000.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 23.—"A living wage for the prime minister of Great Britain" was the slogan adopted in political circles today, irrespective of party.

The movement to raise the prime minister's stipend was given impetus by the peculiar situation of Ramsay MacDonald, who, without any resources of his own, must maintain the dignity of his office on a salary of $25,000 a year, $7,500 of which is turned back to the government through the income tax.

The prime minister is not the highest paid cabinet member by any means. The attorney general, with his fees, draws a $100,000 annually, and the solicitor general, $80,000, while the British ambassador to Washington gets $90,000.

Rides in Borrowed Car.

MacDonald, who started life as a potato picker and later became a common school teacher, naturally never had much chance to save money. The events of the last two weeks, since he became prime minister, have piqued leaders of all parties alike.

When Mr. MacDonald went to Windsor castle to accept the invitation of King George to form a new government, he had to travel in a borrowed car, loaned by Lord Arnold. On Thursday, when he flew from Scotland to London he did not find the car waiting for him and had to use an army air force vehicle to reach his home.

Forced to Use Subway.

When Mr. MacDonald was prime minister five years ago, Sir Alexander Grant, a big industrialist, donated him a private motor car, revealing to the public for the first time that the prime minister of the British empire was traveling about on the London subway. Even after an important speech at a dinner given by the Pilgrim's society, a full dress function, the prime minister had to travel by the subway to the station near Chequers, the summer home of the premier, and then ride to his official residence in a broken-down old Ford.

Stanley Baldwin, former premier and as leader of the opposition, is expected to introduce legislation at the opening of parliament to provide for an increase in the prime minister's salary.

Roumania Recalls Envoys in Foreign Service Cleanup

REPORT DOODY AND WOMAN ON INDIANA TOUR

Roving detective squads of Chicago and towns in the Calumet region yesterday kept a weather eye out for signs of an auto speeding toward the city containing a stubby nosed, cherub faced little man and a brightly dressed young woman.

The occupants of the car were believed to have been Willie Doody, Chicago's most sought outlaw, and one of his several women friends. A telegram from O. M. Pipes of the Lafayette, Ind., police, to Deputy Commissioner John P. Stege set in motion the latest drive to capture Doody, who for two months has eluded Chicago and suburban authorities, while committing, at least in the popular imagination, a minimum of one crime a day. day.

"Most sure Doody riding in car with young woman on highway No. 41, heading toward Chicago," read Pipes' message.

In addition to an undetermined number of robberies and the wounding of a United States postal inspector charged against Doody, police yesterday were gathering evidence in connection with his fifth reputed slaying, that of Milton Vasapupolis, a restaurant owner of 803 West 74th street.

Police Shoot Wife Slayer When He Returns to Home

Long Beach, Cal., June 23.—(AP)—Returning to the home where he had shot and killed his estranged wife, Ruth, yesterday, John Keller was perhaps fatally wounded early today by waiting officers. Keller fled yesterday after he had shot and seriously wounded Edward Finck, a friend of Mrs. Keller, and J. M. Bullard, a Policeman, who was summoned to the home by the wife.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 23.—Five persons were arrested yesterday for selling cocaine. They confessed to the police that they had obtained the drug from an American. They said that drug smuggling was highly organized in the United States and that they were able to sell a kilogram of American cocaine in Budapest for $160.

NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES, in cooperation with the Universal Air Lines and the Santa Fe, inaugurated on June 14 the first Transcontinental Air-Rail passenger service.

Twenty-seven years ago, on June 15, New York Central inaugurated the 20-hour 20th Century Limited service between Chicago and New York.

The opening of the first Transcontinental Air-Rail route follows a year of successful operation of New York Central's air-rail service between New York and Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and St. Louis.

The New York Central Transcontinental route offers a maximum of comfort as well as safety. Planes are used only across the level Midwest—from Lake Erie to Kansas. Where the route crosses the mountain barriers, the journey is made by de luxe limited trains.

Three of the world's finest trains—New York Central's Southwestern Limited (west and east) and Santa Fe's California Limited (west) and Grand Canyon Limited (east)—are operated in this new service, in conjunction with a fleet of giant tri-motored Fokker de luxe Cabin planes. These are the largest and fastest ships of the air now in transport service.

The air-rail passenger westbound is booked from Grand Central Terminal on the de luxe Southwestern Limited at 5 in the afternoon. In the morning at Cleveland he transfers to the waiting FOKKER, and flies to Garden City, Kansas, with short stops at Chicago and Kansas City for breakfast and luncheon. In the evening he transfers to Santa Fe's California Limited, which takes him across the mountains to Los Angeles—only 2 business days from New York.

Passengers from Chicago may book either to New York or Los Angeles via the New York Central Transcontinental Air-Rail route. The westbound Universal Air Lines plane leaves Chicago at 9:45 a.m., the eastbound at 4:00 p.m.

Arrangements for through tickets, eastbound, Pullman and plane reservations, and transport of luggage, can be made through New York Central ticket offices.

CHINESE FOSSIL SKULL IS CLEW TO 'MISSING LINK'

Eight Year Search Bares Jaw and 20 Teeth.

PEKING, June 23.—[U.P.]—From 20 teeth and a portion of skull and jaw the harvest of eight years' gleaning in the limestone deposits near here science may reconstruct the earliest progenitor of man, the so-called link between animal and human.

Since the autumn of 1921 when in a group of important fossils discovered in pleistocene limestone deposits investigators found a tooth undeniably that of a human or unknown mammal, an international group of scientists gathered here have been convinced that not only is the Peking man, so called, the oldest human remnant, but that probably he was the immediate ancestor of man, linking him with the lower animals.

Swede Found Fossils.

Discovery of the prehistoric human has been so gradual that the findings have not received the publicity scientists believe it deserves. Dr. J. G. Anderson, Swedish archaeologist, discovered the original mammal fossils. Dr. Walter Granger, chief paleontologist of the American Museum of Natural History, was visiting Dr. Anderson at the time.

After cursory examination the fossils were shipped to Sweden for study and while undergoing laboratory examination the lone tooth was found. The find was communicated at once to the scientists in China and arrangements were made for exhaustive excavations in the ancient limestone cliffs that held the mammal fossils.

Rockefeller Foundation Helps.

Funds for the project were obtained from the Rockefeller Foundation and the China Foundation, a Chinese organization formed with funds remitted from the American Boxer indemnity. Davison Black, a Canadian, head of the department of anatomy in the Peking Union Medical college and a comparative anatomist of international reputation, was placed in charge of the work.

During the intervening years scattered teeth were discovered, then parts of the jaw and upper portion of the skull. This year additional teeth and parts of the skull have been unearthed, giving scientists a fairly complete conception of the ancient forebear of man.

The excavations are still underway. Dr. Granger stated his belief that the remnants point to the end of the long scientific search for the "missing link."

WOMAN KIDNAPED AND ASSAULTED, POLICE ARE TOLD

County highway police last night were investigating the story of Mrs. Dethel Schoctley, a widow of 1014 Pine street, Maywood, that she was kidnaped from her escort at Lawrence avenue and the River road early in the morning by three men with guns, driven for three hours over the countryside, mistreated and then taken to her home.

Mrs. Schoctley said her escort, Karl Schmidt, 36 years old, 1109 North 19th avenue, Melrose Park, was beaten over the head with a revolver when he resisted the men.

Mrs. Schoctley is 36 years old and has two daughters, Marion, 16 years old, and Ethel, 14 years old. She told the police she was sitting with Schmidt in his car, parked just north of Lawrence avenue on the River road when the three men drove up in a tan colored car. She said they appeared to be policemen and demanded to know why the couple was parking there.

"Open that door or I'll blow your brains out," she quoted one man as saying. She said they then struck Schmidt, took her into their car and drove away.

Violinist and Pianist Win Elmer's Praise

Top Day of Good Music on Radio.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Several rounds of applause would have been heard sweeping across the country last evening if the radio audience could be heard.

One round would have gone to Lucille Collette, violinist, on the New York program through W-G-N, 8:15 to 8:45. This artist displayed a round, lovely tone, considerable technique, and her program was entirely satisfactory. Her display piece was the last half of Sarasate's "Gypsy Airs." Two numbers were in her own arrangement, "A Brown Bird Singing" [Wood] and the "The Last Rose of Summer," the latter being a charming and effective accomplishment in double stopping.

Another round of applause would have gone to the informal piano recital by Gabriel Zsigmondy, Hungarian pianist, on the New York program through KYW, 8:45 to 9:15. His several selections were played in a pleasing, individual style that for zest and sparkle commanded admiration.

Another round and perhaps rounds of applause would have gone to Dennis King, who appeared as baritone soloist on the Richard Henry Little program from W-G-N, 10:15 to 10:40. Mr. King sang eight songs, some of these, for instance, "Dunga Din," being done with a dash and a brilliance that was fairly startling, and all of them sung with an earnestness and a sincerity that was as refreshing as they were delightful to hear. Of this genre, the Chicago audience particularly will recall Protheroe's "What Is Hid in the Heart of a Rose?" It is interesting that, as a radio concert singer, the general tone of Mr. King's voice, though not at all warm, is honest and earnest.

Still another round of applause would have gone to a woodwind ensemble at WMAQ, 8:30 to 8:50, for its presentation of a portion of a Beethoven trio modernly arranged for two flutes and clarinet, and a portion of an Ebert quartet for two flutes, clarinet, and bassoon. This was very pretty stuff, high class, and some fine day will be popular stuff. All of which shows that woodwind instruments hold a unique place and a very attractive niche in radio.

SALVATION ARMY PAYS FINAL HONOR TO GEN. BOOTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 23.—Ten thousand persons gathered in the great circular auditorium of Albert hall tonight to pay their last respects to Gen. Bramwell Booth, former commander of the Salvation Army, whose funeral services were carried out according to army tradition with rejoicing rather than with mourning. Massed Salvation Army bands of more than 200 pieces occupied the central gallery and played hymns of triumph and rejoicing while the congregation sang.

A great crimson banner with the army's insignia hung above the white, purple, and white draperies—the latter is the color the army traditionally employs for funerals—which decorated the hall. The coffin was borne in containing the dead leader's Bible and cap, which will be buried with him, followed by Mrs. Bramwell Booth and his sons and daughters.

Gen. Edward J. Higgins, the new leader of the Salvation Army, paid an impressive tribute to the chief, with whom he worked for 47 years. Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in America, wired her tribute.

CHURCH CHANGES HOURS TO FIT IN WITH GOLFING

The Itasca Presbyterian church has changed its Sunday schedule to conform with golfers' hours, according to the Rev. Lester E. Bond, pastor, whose ingenuity is keeping caddies and players in attendance without spoiling their Sunday games. The church is located in a suburban community in Du Page county.

The caddies' Sunday school starts at 7:30 a. m. sharp, the boys parking their clubs outside the church while they sing lustily, pray, and study the Bible. They work fast in the caddies' Sunday school, for they must be out of the way in a half hour to make way for the special golfers' service starting at 8 a. m.

The Rev. Mr. Bond explained the proceedure yesterday.

"Our church is in the midst of six golf courses. This brings numerous Sunday visitors from Chicago. Church services at the usual hours interfere with the games. Many of the local residents, especially caddies, therefore failed to attend. Therefore the change was made and the plan is working fine. We have excellent attendance and the golfers seem to appreciate the services."

CHINA OBTAINS $800,000 LOAN FOR RAILROADS

British Advance Cash to Be Spent in England.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 23.—The Nationalist government yesterday negotiated a second foreign loan for the purpose of obtaining new equipment for the Chinese government railways. The present loan amounts to approximately $800,000 in gold and covers the purchase of new equipment for the Shanghai-Nanking and Shanghai-Hangchow lines, including several locomotives, 24 steel frames for passenger cars, and 100 steel covered freight cars.

The loan was negotiated by Sun Fo, minister of railways, and the British Chinese corporation, which is a subsidiary of the British Hongkong and Shanghai Banking corporation. All the equipment will be purchased through bids in England. The loan is in the nature of the "hire-purchase" scheme, carrying interest at eight per cent. The loan will be repaid in monthly installments from the railways' earnings.

Rail Loan Made in January.

A similar loan of this character made last January was the first transaction between the Nationalist government and foreign financial interests. It was negotiated with a Belgian bank for $3,000,000 in gold, covering materials for the use of the Lunghai railway. The purchases made were also obtained in Europe. The loan was guaranteed by the Belgian share of the Boxer indemnity carrying six per cent interest.

In addition to the foregoing, a recent meeting of the central executive committee of the Nanking government authorized another railway loan of $75,000,000 in gold, secured by the British and Russian Boxer indemnities and covering the cost of completion of the Canton-Hankow and Lunghai railways before 1933.

British Finance Interested.

This fresh loan is also expected to be negotiated with European financial interests due to the British interest in completion of the Canton-Hankow railway.

While American engineers and financiers have been investigating the question of Americans financing railway construction in China, no definite result has yet been announced.

WALES HAILED ON BIRTHDAY AS 'ONE OF US' BY BRITISH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 23.—The prince of Wales, Great Britain's most popular young man, celebrated his thirty-fifth birthday quietly today. In the afternoon he motored over from his country house in Sunningdale to Windsor to see the king and queen, and this evening he entertained a few close friends at dinner.

London newspapers today devoted editorials to wishing the prince "many happy returns," and most of them used columns sketching the high points of his life, with such characteristic headlines: "The Prince: One of Us," and "The Prince Loved by All."

A number of journals point out what a busy young man Wales is now that he has become one of the councillors of state acting for the king and has had to act for his father at many public functions.

"A great sportsman, too," one writer explains. "He is an excellent shot, plays lawn tennis and squash, and lately, thanks to Walter Hagen, he has learned how to drive a golf ball and keep it out of the barley."

Our Values in

ORIENTAL RUGS

Better Now Than Ever

Upward revision of the Tariff recently passed by Congress increases materially the duties payable on Oriental Rugs and must necessarily increase their selling price. We were heavy purchasers in anticipation of this event and are now in position to pass the savings on to those who purchase here.

Please be reminded that in addition to the Tariff saving, rugs bought here are imported directly through our own resident buyers when market conditions are most favorable, thus eliminating many other of the usual costs—all of which we gladly pass on to you.

Properly cleaned at regular intervals, Oriental Rugs wear longer, look better and are much more enjoyable. We employ a very competent staff in our Cleaning, Repairing and Storage Departments. Charges are moderate.

CHURCHMEN DEMAND RETRACTION OF NAVY HISTORIAN'S CHARGE

New York, June 23.—[Special.]—The officers of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America today made public a letter to Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, president of the United States Naval institute, demanding a retraction of charges of British influence, published in the June issue of the United States Naval institute proceedings by Capt. Dudley W. Knox, official historian of the navy.

Among those who signed the letter were United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle and George W. Wickersham, former United States attorney general, recently appointed chairman of President Hoover's committee on law enforcement, and chairman of the council's commission on international justice and good will, the department at which the attack of Capt. Knox was directed.

The demand for a retraction follows a formal denial issued June 5 by the Rev. O. S. MacFarland, general secretary of the church council, to allegations of Capt. Knox, who said in his article that the organization derives considerable support from British sources and is engaged in disseminating propaganda favorable to British interest. In addition, Mr. MacFarland offered to allow representative of the institute to bring their experts to the council's office to examine its books.

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, June 23.—Because Queen Mother Maria Cristina, who died early this year, did not leave a will her personal fortune of nearly 66,000,000 pesetas (about $11,000,000) will be divided, according to Spanish law, into three equal parts, and King Alfonso, to whom she was intensely devoted during her lifetime, will inherit only a third.

The other two-thirds will be divided equally among the children of the queen mother's two daughters, who did not survive her.

Although Maria Cristina was a model administrator of her personal affairs, her fortune was greatly diminished through depreciation of her holdings of the currency of the former Austro-Hungarian empire.

KIDNAP, ROB GASOLINE SELLER.

SWEDEN DRINKS MORE WITH ERA OF PROSPERITY

Nation Gets Soberer as It Turns to Wines.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 23.—The period of economic prosperity through which Sweden is passing is augmented by the consumption of alcoholic drinks, especially light wines, according to Ernest Lyberg, former minister of finance, who at present heads the government spirit monopoly, whose control of the spirit industry resulted in a steady decrease in the number of arrests for drunkenness throughout the country since the law was passed in 1914.

In 1925 Sweden's 6,000,000 inhabitants consumed 7,750,000 gallons of spirits, last year 8,250,000 gallons, the increase being due to the normal increase in population. The sale of wines during the same period increased from 1,000,000 to 1,400,000 gallons, showing that all classes are consuming more wines than formerly.

Drunkenness Decreases.

In 1920 there were 46,000 arrests for drunkenness throughout the country. Last year there were 27,700. The interesting fact that the government monopoly has decreased drunkenness despite the increase in consumption, proves the success of state control, according to Mr. Lyberg, who thinks that at present there is no likelihood of changing the system. The government has appointed a special parliamentary commission which is expected to investigate for some years before recommending modifications.

The Swedish alcohol administration, known as the Bratt system, is named after Ivan Bratt, the originator, who, after persuading the country to adopt the idea, took personal charge, placing it in successful operation before retiring to go into private business.

System Gives Personal Liberty.

Leaders of the liquor monopoly organization do not wish to recommend it to other countries, because they say the drink problem in each nation is different, but they point out that the Bratt system has succeeded in leaving to the individual consumer his personal liberty in regard to drinking, but at the same time compelling him to guard the future of his family.

Since the liquor law has been operating Swedish temperance societies have been compelled to admit the loss of 40 per cent of their membership and their influence decreased after the defeat of the national referendum for prohibition in 1923.

Gallon a Month Maximum.

Every drinker in Sweden is compelled to carry a small "motbook" entitling him to make purchases in monopoly stores. At present 1,051,802 Swedes have "motbooks," but only 259,589 have the right to purchase the maximum allowance of four quarts monthly.

In the last three years the number of "motbooks" has increased seven per cent and the amount of drunkenness has decreased 15 per cent, proving the policy of the monopoly does not restrict the consumers, but the amount of drink they buy.

Dry Raids Unknown.

There has never been a single raid in Sweden upon restaurants selling drinks because of the excellent control developed by permitting proprietors to sell only a certain quantity of liquor in proportion to their customers, thus forcing the people to eat if they wish to drink.

There is still some smuggling of raw alcohol into Sweden, but the consumers of bootlegged products here are the lowest of the lower classes and a very small percentage of the population. Smuggling, moreover, shows a steady decrease.

SALESMAN ROBBED OF $100.

Cragin police are searching for four men who, early yesterday, forced Albert Worth, 4339 Parker avenue, a salesman, to stop his car at Kilbourn and Schubert avenues and took $100 and a traveling bag.

3 ARE BURNED TO DEATH WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Cincinnati, O., June 23.—(AP)—Three persons burned to death in an airplane that crashed at Lancett airport at Harrison, O., near here, today. Joe Hite, a parachute jumper, had made one leap from an altitude of 2,600 feet and had decided to make another from higher up. Homer Nasers, the pilot, took Harold Biddle along as a passenger.

Spectators said the plane apparently was being maneuvered for a landing when it went into a nose dive. It crashed in a corn field and turned over, then burst into flames. Before rescuers could reach it with fire extinguishers, the occupants were charred almost beyond recognition.

Hite's home was in Louisville, Ky., and Biddle's in Harrison. Nasers formerly lived in Indianapolis, Ind.

SIMMONS, FOXX LEAD A'S HOME RUN BARRAGE

Series Sets Record for Attendance.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

AL SIMMONS.

New York, June 23.—The Athletics won the fifth and final game of their three day series with the Yankees this afternoon and went elsewhere with a lead of eight and one-half games in the competition for the pennant, to say nothing of a large amount of money which can always speak for itself. They won this game 7 to 4 and the series three games to two, the closing exercises being witnessed by some 50,000 patrons who cheered and beefed the last afternoon away as home runs, triples, and outlandish mishaps occurred to stimulate them.

This brought the aggregate business for three days to something like 140,000 admissions, and set the statisticians to checking against a guess that this was the most prosperous three-day stand ever enjoyed by two baseball firms in a regular course of business. Last year, the Athletics and the Yankees entertained 170,000 customers at a batch of five games played here on three afternoons and, although the magnates shrink from ostentatious display of financial figures, that series was supposed to have set a record for the accounting departments of all ball clubs to shoot at.

Macks Score in Second.

At any rate, the turnstile bearings grew quite feverish as the business assembled here these last three days and the home concern derived enough right here to pay off not only Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig but Herbert Pennock, their expensive pitcher, for the season.

The Athletics began agitating the ball in the second inning when Al Simmons, who is something of a local Babe Ruth in Philadelphia, hooked two fouls to remote places in the left field pavilion, and finally tapped one down the fairway for three bases. It went most of the way on the carry and a short roll brought it up against the wall at a spot bearing a sign "461 feet." Mr. Double X Foxx, the first base party then hit a sacrifice and the A's had the first of their seven runs. They got two more in the fourth inning when Simmons and Foxx hit home runs.

The scale of values was abnormal all afternoon, anything less than a triple being regarded about the same as a five-dollar bill in Palm Beach.

Gehrig Gets His Homer.

Lou Gehrig tapped a home run into the right field bleachers in the sixth and the score was 3 to 1, but in the seventh Bing Miller of the A's tripled, scoring Foxx, who had walked, this being the twenty-third cosecutive game in which Miller had hit safely. Joe Bolenski, alias Boley, shortstop for the A's, brought Miller in with a demure single, and the Yanks were four runs behind.

In the second half of that inning Wells was relieved. Dickey, the Yanks' catcher, had singled, and Mr. Huggins, the straw boss, sent out a pinch hitter named Cedric Durst to promote something, if possible. It was not possible, and Tom Zachary was pitching for the Yanks when the eighth began. Mule Haas, the A's center fielder, scored their seventh run with a homer inside the park which rolled over the baked ground close to the flag mast. Cochrane doubled, advanced on Simmons' sacrifice fly, and scored on a single by Foxx.

Ehmke Quits Under Fire.

Up to here, Howard Ehmke was pitching for Philadelphia, but there is a common belief that he can be intimidated by a sudden show of force, and apparently he was in that series last year when the Athletics came here in a position to win the lead. Ehmke dropped the ball and walked out of the box in one of the games. Since then the Yanks have believed that by waving bats and yelling rude mutteries at him from their coal hole they can upset him. They did all these things in the eighth and the break in his conduct came when he overthrew first base fielding a bunt from Earl Combs. Combs went to third on the overthrow.

Gehrig, the next hitter, knocked a single to center, scoring Combs and ran all the way around himself when Haas let the ball go through him. So the Yanks had two more runs on one hit and two errors. Babe Ruth, more portly than ever, then came up, and as Ehmke started to pitch he seemed to change his mind while in motion. He balked and then went through with the throw, tossing it straight and easy across the plate. Ruth was so excited over the

Weather Forecast

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 23.—(AP)—The weather man's slant on tomorrows' regatta is that the day will be mostly cloudy with scattered showers and no change in temperature. Spectators expect typical "regatta weather," while coaches held little hope for a change in the direction of the wind., which has been blowing up and across the course from the southwest, handicapping the lighter crews and those farthest out in the river.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 23.—[Special.]—With the streets of this revolutionary hillside town boasting a traffic jam tonight that would make Broadway seem deserted and the lobbies of the hotels closely representing the Times square subway station, the annual excitement and mild hysteria of "the night before the big race" gripped Poughkeepsie.

If today's indications are to be taken at their face value, there is not the slightest doubt but that tomorrow will see the city filled with the greatest crowd that has ever watched a boat race as the regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing association starts. In their quarters on this and the other side of the river the oarsmen of nine colleges rested tonight, away from the noise and excitement of the streets.

Late this evening, as the hot sun disappeared behind the high hills of the Highland side, they carried their shells into the racks of the boathouses and stacked their oars. They were finished with practice.

Some of the eights may take a limbering up paddle in the morning, but it is too late now for any coach to change his mind on boating or methods. The crews now stand or fall on what has been accomplished.

At a quarter past 5 tomororw afternoon, wind and water permitting, the seven freshmen crews will paddle to the start of their two mile race to begin what should prove to be the greatest series of boat races in modern times.

Tonight through the streets of Poughkeepsie you had your choice of almost any sort of a bet. California and Columbia remained the choices for the varsity event.

The other seven crews in the varsity event are: Washington, Wisconsin, Navy, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Syracuse, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Pitcher For Sale, $100,000; Do We Hear Cubs Bidding?

Toledo, O., June 23.—(AP)—The Toledo club of the American association has affixed a price tag of $100,000 to Le Roy "Bud" Parmelee, 21 year old right handed pitching ace. This became known today when Oscar J. Smith, president of the Mudhens, announced that he had turned down a bid of $50,000 and two major league players for Parmelee. He refused to divulge the identity of the bidder.

WHITE SOX JUMP THROUGH OLD MR. GRAY'S HOOP, 6-5

Foxy Sam Allows Hose Only Five Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—Sam Gray continues to be one of the many problems the White Sox are unable to solve. For the fifth time this season and the second time in the series the foxy fellow with control loomed on the front of Chicago's light artillery today and he maintained his record as a perfect jinx by throwing the efficient Browns into a 6 to 5 decision. It was the third win of the four game set for the locals and was somewhat timely, as it sent them into second place tie with the ageing Yankees.

Sam not only triumphed but had the added pleasure of holding his foes to five hits. Two of these occurred with a pass and error in the first inning to give the Chicagoans a three run advantage, but Grady Adkins let the lead slip away a bit at a time.

Sox Explode Trio.

The three run eruption by the Sox in the first round was touched off by a single off the bat of Shires after Metzler had fanned. Taitt walked, Watwood singled to right and Shires scored. Kamm bounced what should have been a double play ball for Kress but the red headed shortstop fumbled, Taitt going home. Cissel forced Kamm, putting Watwood on third. A double steal let Watwood sneak home with the third run of the inning.

Howley's Brownies set to work immediately to whittle down the Chicago advantage. They grabbed back one of the runs in their opening inning on a pass to Badgro, a single by Schulte and a double by Kress. They captured another tally in the second. Schang walked and eventually reached the plate on singles by Gray and Badgro.

A single by the great Shires and a blow of similar dimensions by Kamm enabled the Sox to add another tally to their total in the third, giving them a two run lead, but it was shortlived. The Brownies tied it at 4 apiece when Schang arched a homer onto the right field roof after Melillo had doubled in the fourth.

One Hit and One Run.

After the third round the Sox were so completely subdued by their pet jinx that they made only one hit, but they made it count for a run. Watwood led off in the sixth with a safe blow to center and a steal of second. Kamm sent a long fly to left and Watwood strolled to third after the catch. Then Cissell brought him home with a sacrifice to Schulte in deep center.

The enforced removal of Adkins in the fifth brought Ted Blankenship into action for the first time in many weeks. He put an end to the fifth by fanning Schang.

RECORD FIELD OPENS PLAY FOR STATE NET TITLE

With a record field of 148 players entered, competition for the singles and doubles championships of Illinois gets under way at the River Forest Tennis club today.

While George Lott Jr., Chicago's contribution to the United States Davis cup team, will be missing, entries of the tourney include stellar and high ranking players of the middle west. Ninety-eight are entered in the men's events and fifty, a new entry record, will fight for the women's titles.

CUB-PIRATE BATTLE SCENES

Cuyler is safe at home in fifth inning when Hargreaves drops the ball. Ki rammed into the Pirate catcher and he dropped Lloyd Waner's throw on Moore's fly to center field. The ball has just been knocked out of Hargreaves' hand.

Tunney to Deny Widow's Claims in $500,000 Suit

New York, June 23.—[Special.]—Gene Tunney will deal a retaliatory legal jab at Mrs. Catherine Fogarty tomorrow, swearing that never—not even in the lean past of his ham and eggs prize ring days—did he ask for the heart and hand of the former wife of a Fort Worth, Tex., plumber.

The champion's reply to the $500,000 breach of promise action brought May 21 by Mrs. Fogarty will be filed in the Superior court at Bridgeport, Conn.

The reply will constitute a general denial to Mrs. Fogarty's allegation that she "on or about June 3, 1925, and on divers other occasions, at the request of the defendant promised to marry him within a reasonable time and the defendant promised to marry the plaintiff within said reasonable time."

5 Cars Smash in Roby Race; 3 Drivers Hurt

Ohio Racer Killed

HUNTINGTON, Ind., June 23.—(AP)—Roy Pifer of Metamora, O., was killed almost instantly in a race at the Huntington speedway today when a tire on his racing car blew out, throwing him into the embankment of the five-eighths mile dirt track. His skull was crushed.

Piper was about midway in the field of ten drivers when the crash occurred. None of the other pilots was injured.

Five racing cars were wrecked and three drivers injured in the second open race meet of the season at Roby speedway yesterday. Five thousand persons saw Gus Schroeder of Cedar Rapids carry away honors in the meet by winning the five mile qualifying heat and the twenty mile final in near record time.

John Sawyer of West Allis, Wis., driving a Model A Ford in the car's first racing appearance, raced wheel to wheel with Schroeder at the start of the final event. On the seventeenth mile, with two seconds to make up on the leader, Sawyer lost control of his car and dove off the side of the track into the swamp. He was pinned under his car, but was rescued before drowning.

G. A. Hardy suffered a similar experience in one of the five-miler events. Lockhart, Cleveland, and Frank Brown, all of Chicago, tangled at the start of the final, two of the cars crushing down a hundred feet of fence, the third landing upside down in the infield.

A near riot occurred among the spectators at the finish of the main event, when the judges announced that Hardy drove in the race without qualifying. Although he finished second, he was not given the place. On investigation it appeared that Hardy sneaked out of the pits and started with the rest of the cars, his presence not being discovered until the race was under way.

Promoter Jack Leech ruled that inasmuch as the official referee neglected to take Hardy out of the race immediately that Hardy was to share second place with Carl Young, each being paid the second purse money. The third series of races were announced for July 14.

SWETONIC, IN HERO ROLE, IS VILLAIN TO FANS

BY EDWARD BURNS.

STEVE SWETONIC.

Fifty thousand folks yesterday saw an exciting ball game at Wrigley field, but in the end they went home muttering disconsolately, for the Pirates whipped the Cubs for three in a row. The score was Pirates, 8; Cubs, 7.

The Cubs had some heroes in the making, notably the distinguished invalid, Gabby Hartnett, who as a pinch hitter in the seventh tied the score with a double, but when the returns all were in there was one hero who outsparkled all the rest—and his name was Steve Swetonic, last year of the minors.

Swetonic relieved Carmen Hill with one run in and men on third and first with one out in the sixth, struck out Cuyler, and then forced Stephenson to pop to Bartell. In the seventh, after Schulte and Pinch Batter Heathcote had singled and Pinch Batter Hartnett had doubled to drive in the tying run with one out, he tightened up courageously, eventually halting the rally by making Hack Wilson pop to Paul Waner for the third out, with the bases full.

It might be gathered from the box score that Mr. McCarthy desired to win the ball game. The Cub personnel includes 24 athletes, and J. Vince summoned all except Pitchers Root, Carlson, Cvengros, Jonnard and Grampp. The array included four catchers, three of whom worked at their trade and one who was a pinch batter; four pitchers, three of whom worked at their trade and one as a substitute runner; a stray outfielder and a stray infielder.

It scarcely is necessary to mention that one of the ornery Waners had a hand in the final blowoff. This time it was L. Waner. With Nehf pitching in the eighth, Hemsley walked, went to second on Swetonic's sacrifice, to third on Bartell's infield out and scored the winning run on Sprout's third hit, a single to center.

The defeat dropped the Cubs 2½ games out of first place, but fortunately they did not lose ground in the lower flights, because both the Cardinals and the Giants lost. This afternoon the Chicagoans and Pittsburghers play off a postponed game to bring the Cubs' long home stand to a close. Aside from the fact McCarthy hasn't a thoroughly rested pitcher to parade, the Cubs have a chance to bring their season's string with the Pirates to an 8 won, 8 lost status.

Regardless of the outcome of this afternoon's game, the long home stay has been a grievous disappointment, for, though they have won twelve while losing nine, the Cubs are far behind the showing they expected to make. Last year in the Cubs' first stand at Wrigley field they won 13 out of 14 from eastern clubs and all year lost only 26 games on the home lot.

Get Only One Run in First.

The Cubs should have blown yesterday's game out of the water in the first inning. With Eeine Heine Meine, a rookie, pitching for the league leaders, our nine filled the bases with none out, but only got one run out of it. Beck and English walked and the bases were loaded when Hornsby beat out a bunt. Grantham made a great stop back of second to get Wilson's grounder and forced Hornsby at second, Beck scoring. The bases again were full when Cuyler walked, but Stephenson hit into a double play, Bartell to Sheely.

Pat Malone, who started the game, came up to the press box before the contest was over and remarked he felt lucky he had not been killed by

BY FRENCH LANE.

The turf eyes of America will begin to center on the activities at Chicago race tracks this week.

While Washington Park is concluding its record breaking June season the millionaire stables from the east and the west will begin arriving at Arlington Park, where many intersectional turf struggles are scheduled to take place in the series of rich stakes to be staged by the reorganized American National Jockey club during July.

The first of the big eastern stables will arrive this morning at Arlington. Among the early arrivals will be the Glen Riddle Farm stable,' owned by Samuel D. Riddle; the Harry Payne Whitney horses, in charge of the veteran trainer James Rowe; the eastern division of the Edward R. Bradley stable, including Blue Larkspur, and the Three D's band of 20, in charge of Trainer Boots Durnell.

Adds Intersectional Flavor.

The coming of the easterners to Arlington will add considerable in the way of an intersectional color to the racing at Washington Park, as horses will be vanned over to Washington Park from Arlington for numerous engagements.

When the $10,000 Francis S. Peabody Memorial handicap is run as the closing feature at Washington Park on Saturday afternoon most of the great handicap stars in the country will be quartered in Chicago. The race likely will attract the most notable field that has gone to the post in an all aged stake this year. It was named to perpetuate the name of the father of Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Illinois Turf association, and is at a mile and a quarter. It promises to bring such stars as Misstep, Blackwood, Golden Prince, Sun Edwin, Pigeon Hole, Sun Beau, Republic, Flat Iron, Mowlee, Sir Harry, Ironsides, and Easter Stockings into action, along with some of the leading 3 year olds.

Washington Park's program today features the Garden City handicap, a dash at a mile, that will find six fast steppers in action. They are Blushing Maiden, made the medium of a plunge the last time she started; Edward R. Bradley's Beauregard, the Royal Stable's Princess Edith, R. C. Thatcher's Account, a half-brother to Reigh Count; J. J. Coughlin's Wacker Drive, and the Seagram stable's Eugene S.

Leading Jockeys Here.

Sheely opened the third inning with a double to left. Hargreaves fouled to Gonzales, but Meine walked. Bartell singled to right, scoring Sheely and putting Meine on third. Bartell pulled up at second on the throw to the plate. L. Waner walked, filling the bases. Meine scored while Hornsby was throwing out P. Waner. Traynor was hit in the nose by a pitched ball, again filling the bases, and Grantham walked, forcing in Bartell. The session ended when Comorosky forced Traynor at third, Beck unassisted.

Cubs Tie Score in Third.

In their end of the third, the Cubs tied the score and seemed in a fair way to make several more runs when a double play wrecked things. Hornsby walked with one out. The Rajah stopped at second and Wilson was safe on Traynor's bad throw. Cuyler singled to left, scoring Hornsby, Wilson stopping at second. Stephenson doubled, scoring Wilson, Cuyler stopping at third. Hill then relieved Meine. Grimm was given an intentional pass, filling the bases, and Gonzales hit into a double play, Traynor to Grantham to Sheely.

Malone was blasted out of the game in the fifth. Bartell beat out an infield hit and went to third on L. Waner's double to center. P. Waner singled to right, scoring Bartell and putting L. Waner on third. L. Waner scored while Hornsby was throwing out Traynor, and Grantham walked. Comorosky singled to center, scoring P. Waner and putting Grantham on third. Bush relieved Malone. Grantham scored on Sheely's sacrifice fly to Cuyler; then Beck threw out Hargreaves. The score was Pirates, 7; Cubs, 3.

The Cubs came back for a pair of runs in their end of the fifth. Wilson walked and went to third on Cuyler's single and Ki reached second when Comorosky fumbled the ball. Wilson scored while Grantham was throwing out Grimm. Moore batted for Gonzales and flied to center. Cuyler scored when Hargreaves dropped L. Wanners' throw to the plate. Bush then grounded to Grantham.

Bush Holds Pirates.

Bush held the Pirates scoreless in the sixth and seventh, but in each of these two frames the Cubs made a run, in the sixth on a walk to English, Hornsby's double, and Wilson's single. It was at this point that Swetonic went in and fanned Cuyler and disposed of Stevie with a pop to Bartell.

In the seventh, the run was made in most exciting fashion. With one out, Schulte singled to center and stopped at second when Heathcote batted for Bush and singled to right. Hartnett batted for Beck and doubled to center, scoring Blake, who had been put on to run for Schulte. English grounded to Grantham, who threw out Heathcote at the plate. Hornsby walked, filling the bases. Wilson, after a count of 3 and 1, missed a strike and then popped to P. Waner.

We've told you how the Pirates got the winning run. The rest of the story is that the Cubs went out in order in the eighth and ninth.

opportunity that he swung a limp swing and got only a ridiculous single, hit by accident. Tony Lazzeri then hit a triple, scoring Ruth, and Ehmke stuffed his glove in his flask pocket and walked out.

A Mental Error.

Earnshaw relieved him and the firing ceased, although two more incidents occurred in the ninth to distinguish the game from a thousand other Sunday afternoon outings. In the first half of the ninth, Earnshaw fanned for the third out but Dickey, catching the Yankees, dropped the third strike. He picked it up, started to tag Earnshaw but saw that he was starting for the pitching box to resume work and therefore set about unstrapping his own armor. As he threw down the ball, Earnshaw ran to first, not having been tagged out after a dropped third strike, and the umpires made Zachary pitch to Bishop for the fourth out. Score:

TIGERS, 8; INDIANS, 7.

Cleveland, O., June 23.—(AP)—Detroit won the final game of the series with Cleveland today, 8 to 7. Stoner relieved Uhle in the seventh inning and received credit for the victory. Umpire Van Graflan was knocked out in the seventh inning and forced to leave the game. He was in Fonseca's path when the latter was rounding the sacks and was knocked to the ground. The umpire's injuries were not serious.

After the game Manager Roger Peckenpaugh of Cleveland filed a formal protest on the contest. He said a decision of the umpires, who called Wuestling's roller in the first a fair ball, was incorrect and cost the Indians the game. Umpire Owens called it foul.

Britton and Pollock Will Box Tonight

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Jack Britton of Chicago, former world's welterweight champion and generally considered one of the greatest boxers who ever fought in the 147 pound class, will meet Patsy Pollock of Winnipeg, Can., in the windup of the Logan Square corporation boxing show tonight. The match will be held in the open air arena on Milwaukee avenue just south of California avenue. The arena has been erected by a group of Logan Square business men and has a seating capacity of 8,500.

Both fighters are well under the weight. They will appear at the offices of the boxing commission this afternoon at 3 o'clock to be weighed and examined.

Mickey McLaughlin, south side welterweight, and Kurt Prenzel of Germany will be the principals in the ten round semi-windup. Other fights on the card will bring together Hershie Wilson of Danville and George Kerwin of the north side; Bobby O'Hara of Georgia and Eddie Ballatine of the south side; King Levinsky of the west side and Joe Corrado of Evanston, and Jimmy Murphy and Steve Hess, local 147 pounders. The matches were arranged by Mique Malloy and the first bout will be staged at 8:15 o'clock.

Jackie Fields of Chicago will settle down to strenuous training today for his ten round decision fight with Farmer Joe Cooper of Illinois at the Mills stadium on Thursday night. Spug Myers of Idaho and Jackie Moore of Chicago will meet in the ten round semi-windup. Al Crisp, the California 128 pounder, and Al Greenfield of the west side will meet in the third ten round fight. Two five round openers complete the card.

Onwentsia Four Scores 9-6 Victory

Laying down a barrage of goals early in the match, Onwentsia's polo team yesterday earned the title of Chicago's twelve goal champions as a result of its 9 to 6 triumph over the Cantigny, Oak Brook four, in the final. With the victory goes a team trophy and individual awards to members of the Onwentsia four.

William Mitchell Blair with four goals, and Barney Balding with three led the champions in scoring. Only one mishap marred the play. That came when Corpening, Cantigny No. 2, was thrown from his mount as the steed stumbled. He was not hurt.

Both of yesterday's finalists will take part in the coming twelve goal handicap tournament at Onwentsia this week. Four other teams also will compete. Lineup and summary:

Fitzpatrick	No. 1	Mecial
Balding	No. 2	Corpening
Blair [C.]	No. 3	Smith

Sawyer Wins Low Gross in Advertisers' Golf with 153

BY HARLAND ROHM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minocqua, Wis., June 23.—Though Ned Sawyer lost a couple of wagers for his friends that he would break 75 on the Minocqua Country club course on the second day of the Western Advertising Golf association tournament, he won low gross for the 36 holes by adding a 78 to his 75 of the first day for 153.

George Hartman, another Midlothian sharpshooter, took second low gross with 78—79—157. A par on the sixth hole on the second nine would have given George a 72, but he took eleven, counting all strokes. His second found a spot in the woods and a couple of heel prints in traps tell the rest of that story.

Wilbur [Lindy] Eickelberg won low net on the 36 holes, with Joseph Lambin second. Lindy shot 81—8—73 and 78—8—70 for 143 and Lambin 93—20—73 and 96—20—76 for 149, Eickelberg winning on low handicap. Eickelberg's 78 also won low gross on the second day, with Sawyer's 79 second, beating out Hartman, because George was chairman of the tournament committee. Hartman, however, collected on low putts with 27.

T. K. Gedge took down low net on the second day with 80—10—70, beating C. H. Jessup, 81—16—65, for first on lower handicap, as all scores reverted to par 70. Dan Smith, 86—18—68, also was below par. Low gross foursome went to Eickelberg, 38—40—78; William Gardner, 41—44—85; Jerry Seehof, 43—40—83, and Ed Davis, 42—50—92, with a total of 338. Second were C. B. Goes, 49—45—94; R. W. Richardson, 40—47—87; George R. Cain, 46—48—94, and L. L. Northrup, 40—45—85, a total of 360.

WILLS, COCHET FAVORITES TO WIN AT WIMBLEDON

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, June 23.—Gathered here from the four corners of the earth, the satellites of the tennis firmament begin their battle tomorrow for what they, at least, regard as the world's greatest net honors.

No group of statesmen meeting to solve the world's problems could have received the publicity the London press has been lavishing and will lavish during the next fortnight on these athletes.

Only Rene Lacoste, last year's Wimbledon champion, is absent, if you except old Bill Johnston and Gerald Patterson, who seem now definitely relegated as has-beens, or Suzanne Lenglen, who turned professional three years ago.

All the rest are here, and tomorrow they start play before a fashionable audience that, undoubtedly, will include lords, ladies, counts, countesses, and persons with other titles too numerous to recount.

Henri Cochet, former ball boy of the Lyons Tennis club and now, by general agreement, one of the world's ranking tennis aces, rules as the general favorite for the men's championship, and Helen Wills, as usual, for the women's.

Cochet will have no easy time, however. Jean Borotra, who defeated him at Paris last month, may meet his compatriot in the final. But before Cochet arrives there, he may be stopped. If form rules, he will meet Tilden, who is in the same half draw, in the semi-finals, and Tilden is a much improved player over the one that Paris saw last month.

Twenty-three thousand persons can be accommodated in the huge covered stadium, and all but a few of them have had their tickets since January.

RAIN PROSPECTS HOLD KEY TO WHEAT MARKET

Change in Position Now Indicated.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

It is probable that the grain trade will have to materially revise its views regarding the domestic winter wheat crop, and possibly that of the entire world, as the result of developments of the last week.

The outcome of the American winter and spring wheat crops is now hanging in the balance, as well as that of Canada, and unless there are soaking rains in the spring wheat area a crop scare may get under way this week that will embrace the greater part of North America, and it could not but help having considerable influence on the world's values.

Taken as a whole, it is probable that the wheat crop in Kansas and Oklahoma will ultimately turn out 25,000,000 bu or more under the June 1 expectation which was 216,000,000 bu, compared with 237,000,000 bu last year. Nebraska, Illinois, Colorado and Missouri have also claimed crop deterioration, but the full extent of the damage cannot be determined until threshing time.

Rains Cause Heavy Damage.

Apparently the damage to the wheat crop is a reflection of the excessive rains which came at the time when the plant was in flower and it failed to pollinate as it should, resulting in unfilled heads, but the moisture resulted in plenty of straw and created the impression that there would be a large yield.

The acreage involved in the area now in doubt is large, and the six states that have sent in complaints of deterioration during the last week on June 1 had an indicated yield of 357,000,000 bu out of the 622,000,000 bu for the country.

In 1917 a situation developed in Kansas very similar to that which has just been discovered in the southwest, but the loss was not apparent until after July 1. There is another contributing factor in parts of Kansas this season in the way of a heavy stand of volunteer grain, and when hot weather came many plants simply faded away.

Comparatively few operators look for a spring wheat crop in this country equal to the 324,000,000 bu harvested last year; and still fewer expect Canada to equal its 534,000,000 bu secured in 1928. The latter was a freak yield, and the effect of it was very apparent on the world's price.

Farm Relief a Factor.

When the true import of the recently enacted farm relief bill is understood by the grain trade, it is probable that it will be a market factor of no mean importance, and while official information is lacking sufficient comments have been made to indicate that farm relief is likely to be a fact rather than a theory. Whether the farm board or stabilization corporations can start to function in time to be of any benefit to the wheat producer during the first part of the season remains to be seen, but it is certain that if the stabilizaion corporation the first day after it is appointed announced that it would buy wheat, the effect on values might be radical.

The trade have apparently overlooked the fact that a stabilization corporation is empowered to buy grain or other commodities in this country and to sell it abroad at a loss if necessary. The losses will be charged against the revolving fund, and not against the money the farmer secures for his grain.

Sufficient acreage and weather data are at hand now to permit of making tentative estimates on production of leading countries of the world, and reports would suggest that the 1929-30 world's crop is likely to show 150,000,000 to 250,000,000 bu under the 3,710,000,000 bu secured last season. As near as can be estimated world's consumption in 1928-29 will be around 3,600,000,000 bu.

Wheat values advanced rather violently during the last week, and at the high point showed around 19c over the inside figures of the season which were made on May 31. While the prospective farm relief was a factor in checking the decline, and making the first strong rally, it remained for crop damage to bring in speculative buying and the upturn to the best figures since early in May.

With a crop scare on, comparatively little attention has been given by the trade to the factors which resulted in the recent decline. The United States is still considerably out of line as far as export business is concerned, and unless prices in Argentina advance sharply it may be necessary to meet competition on the part of the South American producer.

Net gains on wheat for the week were 5⅝@6⅝c, with July closing at $1.13⅝@1.14; September at $1.18⅝@1.18⅞ and December at $1.23⅞. Range of prices follows:

Corn Crop Is Late.

While the lateness of the new corn crop throughout the greater part of the belt has been well advertised, the excellent weather in the last week offset this to a large extent, and a change in conditions is regarded as necessary if the market is to advance into new ground on the present movement. A majority of traders are inclined to the bull side on the setbacks feeling that the cash demand is sufficient to take care of any increase in country offerings. So far the after planting movement has been considerable short of expectations, and the visible supply is only about half of what it was at this season last year. The immediate trend of the market is expected to be governed to some extent by the action of wheat, and by weather conditions. Closing trades on Saturday were at net gains of 1⅝@3½c with December leading. July finished at 93⅝c; September, 93⅝@93¾c, and December at 90¼@90⅝c. Range of prices follows:

	July.	Sept.	Dec.

Oats Outlook Favorable.

So far there have been comparatively few complaints of damage to the new oats crop, and the coming government and private reports are expected to suggest a yield in excess of the 1,272,000,000 bu indicated by the latter on June 1. However, the critical period of growth is close at hand, and dry and hot weather when the grain is in the milk might change the situation materially. July closed Saturday at 44⅝s; Sept., 44⅜@44½c, and Dec., 47c. Net gains being 1⅛@1½c. Range of prices follow:

Action of rye market during the week was largely a reflection of that in wheat, although there was some buying on less favorable crop reports from North Dakota, which raises the bulk of the commercial rye of the country. Net gains for the week were 4⅝@5¼c, with July finishing at 87⅝c; September, 91⅝c, and December at 96c.

PROVISIONS UNSETTLED

A fair trade was under way in provisions during the week, with the market somewhat unsettled, lard prices averaging slightly lower while meats were firmer, the latter reflecting a good cash demand. When the action of the hog market is considered, cured product gave a good account of itself with closing trades on lard and ribs unchanged to 5c higher for the week with bellies up 17½@22½c. MERGERS SPUR CURB MARKET TO HIGHER LEVEL

Utility Shares Leading During Week.

New York, June 23.—(AP)—Speculative interest continued to be centered in the public utility shares on the curb market during the past week, with the middle western group and holding companies neglected in the earlier advances being whirled up to record prices. Outside of two or three industrials and a handful of specialties the rest of the market was a dull affair.

J. P. Morgan & company announced the merger of three upper New York state power systems, but the disclosure of terms attracted selling to the group, with stocks of the three companies involved breaking sharply from their peak levels. Shares of the new holding company, Niagara Hudson Power, were admitted to trading and ranged from 25⅝ to 22, closing Saturday at 23⅝. The stock sold well above 30 on the Produce Exchange prior to its listing on the curb.

The widest gain was made by Central States Electric convertible preferred, which wound up at 242⅞ for a net gain of 52⅞. This stock sold as low as 97 this year. The company's principal investment is in North American company common stock.

Other holdings include Electric Investors, Consolidated Gas of New York, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, and Commonwealth Edison, all of these shares have had sharp advances. Electric Investors rose 21⅞, American Light & Traction 35, American Gas & Electric 11⅝, and American Superpower new 6¾.

LONDON, June 23.—The minister of labor in his monthly estimate of British cost of living places the average for the beginning of June sixty per cent above the level of July, 1914. This means that living costs are now the lowest since the war.

The present month's stated increase over the pre-war average compares with an increase of 68, reported at the end of last year, and with a high record in November, 1920, which showed average living costs at that time to be 176 per cent above the 1914 figure.

German Finances Better Since Reparations Pact

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 23.—Notwithstanding the reduction in the burden of reparations payments, the position and outlook of the German treasury is not entirely favorable. The cash position is expected to improve at least temporarily during the next three months, owing to the large quarterly payments of direct taxes.

CLOTHING MART GETS NEW LIFE WITH HOT DAYS

Porch Furniture Dealers Also Benefited.

Summer merchandise is moving. Even the most skeptical merchant saddened by the many turns and tricks of the weather is finally convinced that summer is here. The public knows it and is buying warm weather necessities. The truth has been forced on the unbelieving retailers and they are scampering to fill the holes on their shelves.

Demand Is Heavy.

The wholesale market experienced a big increase in turnover last week. Demand for summer dresses, ready to wear lines, bathing suits, and furniture to suit the season was heavy. The Chicago Association of Commerce reports that large last minute orders for seasonal wares are piling up on the wholesalers.

The belated arrival of the summer season has caused a good deal of inconvenience to retailers as well as the wholesalers, but it is believed that the present activity will wipe away any grievances that may have been held against the weather man.

Reflected in Registrations.

"Practically all furniture dealers report unusually heavy demand for porch furniture, camping material and refrigerators, with the old fashioned ice box standing up well against its newer electrical rival," the commerce association says.

"That the current demand on the Chicago market is nation-wide is indicated in the registrations of the Chicago Market association and reports from various wholesale houses."

UTILITIES LEAD OTHER GROUPS SEEKING CASH

Cities Next; Aliens Big Borrowers.

Public utilities issued the largest total of all new public securities issued during the last six years, according to a statistical survey of offerings during that period prepared by Stone & Webster and Blodget. The utility industry accounted for $11,424,000,000, or about one-fourth of the $45,803,000,000 total of new public issues during the period. Utility offerings amounted to more than $2,300,000,000 in 1928, which was more than twice the 1923 value of such offerings.

Industrial issues accounted for $10,955,000,000 during the six years, or nearly the same amount as utilities. New offerings of industrials last year, $3,003,000,000, were nearly 50 per cent larger than in 1923 and 1924 combined, and were substantially in excess of the year's offerings of all other types of securities, including utilities.

Next Largest Group.

Municipals are the next largest group, with a six year value of $8,185,000,000—or 18 per cent of the combined offerings. The value grew from $1,054,000,000 in 1923, to $1,626,000,000 in 1928.

Foreign government and corporation financing in the United States came to $6,829,000,000 in the last six years. The 1923 volume was $266,000,000—only one-twenty-fifth of the total for the period. It increased to $1,720,000,000 in 1927, receding slightly to $1,576,000,000 in 1928.

Next in importance, after the foreign group, are railroad securities, of which $3,741,000,000 were publicly offered in the six years. The 1928 volume, two-thirds of a billion dollars, was below the $836,000,000 in 1924 and the $884,000,000 in 1927.

The Volume Grows.

The building records of recent years are accompanied by a growing volume of real estate securities, which moved up from approximately $250,000,000 in 1923, to more than $805,000,000 in 1928. The $3,526,000,000 invested in this activity within the six years is nearly 8% of the total for all groups.

Farm loans, the smallest of the seven groups studied in the bankers' survey, totaled $1,142,000,000 for the six years. Their annual volume declined from $382,000,000 in 1923, to the low for the period, $64,000,000 last year.

PROJECTOR ORDERS.

Sufficient orders have been received by the International Projector corporation, manufacturers of motion picture machine projectors, to assure capacity operation for the remainder of the year and well into 1930, H. L. Clarke, president, announces.

WARMER SUN BRINGS LARGER SUMMER TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 23.—The appearance of the first real spell of summer weather, after an extended period of wet and unseasonable conditions stimulated retail trade in summer goods during the last week and offered a much needed stimulus to crops.

Business in general continues on an unusually even keel. Retail distribution is maintained on a broad scale and wholesale orders, particularly in the dry goods markets, have experienced a substantial pick-up. This is especially true in regard to wearing apparel.

The automobile trade continues to show signs of some slackening. Factory orders have been reduced and there has been the customary seasonal slowing down in production. Output in many branches of the industry continues at a higher scale than in previous years, however.

Outstanding Feature.

In the iron and steel trades the outstanding feature continues to be the lack of any material recession from the high levels of recent weeks. While there have been declines in the orders for automobile and structural work, production is being carried on at a high rate in the leading centers. New orders for the third quarter are reported being placed in good volume. Average operations in the Chicago district are reported at 96 per cent compared with 96½ per cent last week, and 95 per cent the week before.

Sheet mills have held up well in production at about 85 per cent of capacity.

Reports by telegraph to The Chicago Tribune from the various federal reserve districts indicate that business is holding up well throughout the country and advancing in some sections.

DRAW PLANS FOR $500,000,000 BANK MERGER IN GOTHAM

New York, June 23.—(AP)—A proposal to consolidate the Chaham Phenix National bank and the Bank of America was announced officially today, confirming rumors recently current in Wall street.

An announcement by Louis G. Kaufman, president of the Chaham Phenix bank, said:

"Negotiations which have been in progress between Messrs. Louis G. Kaufman, A. P. Giannini and Elisha Walker have resulted in an agreement on their part to recommend to the board of directors and stockholders of the Chatham Phenix Bank and Trust company and the Bank of America plan of consolidation of the two institutions.

"Mr. Kaufman is to be the president and chief executive of the consolidated institution and Mr. Walker the president and chief executive of the affiliated securites company. Further announcement of the terms of consolidation will be made as soon as the lawyers have prepared the necessary papers."

A. P. Giannini is head of the Trans-America corporation, which controls the Bank of America, and Elisha Walker is president of Bancamerica-Blair corporation, securities affiliate of the Bank of America. The combined Bank of America and Bancamerica-Blair corporation has capital and surplus of more than $127,000,000 and total resources of more than $500,000,000.

Science Helps Farmers, but Does It Without Ballyhoo

BY SCRUTATOR.

The extent to which agricultural by-products have become a source of revenue to the growers in recent years has received less attention than it deserves. Science, in fact, probably has done more for the farmer through research activities than all the political fixers have accomplished or will accomplish with stabilization or marketing schemes.

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde in an article just released for publication calls attention to the vast increase in by-products values and to the fields that are still untouched.

One of the most important of the materials made from former waste is furfural. Once this substance, which resembles guttapercha, was imported from Germany as a curiosity and sold at $30 a pound. Now it is manufactured from corncobs and oat hulls and sold to paint manufacturers profitably at 11 cents a pound.

Under the pressure of necessity furfural could be used for telephone receivers and other articles now consuming rubber. The importance of such a product in time of war, with trade routes disrupted, would be inestimable.

New Ways to Profit.

The history of cotton demonstrates clearly how agriculture and manufacture have found new ways to profit. At the civil war's close the seeds were refuse. In 1870 they became fertilizer, in 1880 cattle feed; in 1890 an oil industry grew up and human beings found a new food. Even the cotton seed now has its by-product. Secretary Hyde recalls that the fuzz on the seeds was once regarded as a nuisance, but today it is used to manufacture artificial silks and the seeds are shaved as close as a razor blade can go.

A laboratory costing only $15,000 a year outlined methods a few years ago for using the odd sized oranges and lemons in the California belt and as a result one grower's coöperative association alone last year sold $400,000 worth of citric acid. The pulp of the fruit so used was for a time waste and it cost $100 a month to get rid of it. Then it, too, was processed and yielded $40,000 a year.

From the seeds of the tomato an oil suitable for food and for soap making has been extracted. The apricot kernel is transmuted into a flavoring extract. The cherry pits at the canning factories, once a source of annoyance and cost, can be made into delicate oils with a residue of stock feed.

The syrups, the starches and the oils made from the corn kernel have gone far toward preventing a falling off in corn consumption with the decrease in farm animals. Recent experiments, with a measure of success, cause the belief that the cornstalk may become in time a principal source of paper pulp, provided it is found economically feasible to gather it in large quantities at the mill.

Many By-Products.

From the woody tissues of corn now comes lignin, a peculiar substance which Dr. W. W. Skinner of the chemical staff of the department of agriculture believes may yield as many usable products as coal tar. Such by-products, for which the exact uses have not yet been determined, may so widen the farmers' markets that all the present production and even more may be cared for. The use of bagasse, the fibrous cane after sugar making, has become so extensive that the domestic crop will not supply enough and the wallboard makers are importing it by the shipload from Cuba.

If the packing houses had not found ways to utilize the parts of the slaughtered animal not edible, the spread between the consumer's payment and the farmer's receipts for each animal would have been greater. Every discovery of the chemists working on farm products will have a similar beneficial effect. It is hardly too much to say that the future of agriculture is in the test tube.

CHEAPER LOANS AID RECOVERY IN WALL STREET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 23.—Up to the present moment curiosity and conjecture of financial markets had been mostly directed to the question whether the stringency in Wall street credit would check or reverse the movement of the stock market or of general trade. No evidence has yet appeared that trade activity was arrested, and prices on the stock exchange have gradually recovered their lost ground. But last week's incidents brought a vivid reminder of another result of American tight money.

The decline on the stock exchange during May will possibly be ascribed, in retrospect, to consciousness that an over-extended speculative position still existed and to misgiving over the money market. The recovery thus far in June may be attributed to the correction of the speculative position and to the fact, largely a consequence of the stock market readjustment, that money rates have settled down to lower and less spectacular quotations. But the upward trend of stocks has been quite as much stimulated by the signs of continuing prosperity.

None of the usual indications of that have been missing, if the existing

Also supplies electricity, mostly without competition, in wide area in Great Britain, including Metropolitan and suburban districts of the City of London.

Has stockholders in each of 48 states and the District of Columbia, as well as in several foreign countries.

Consolidated gross operating revenues are at annual rate of $45,000,000.

The Corporation controls public utility systems in the United States and Great Britain, thereby making its operations international in scope. In the United States its systems operate in 832 cities and towns, located in twenty states, the territory served having a population of over 2,800,000. Each group of electric power properties in the American system is largely interconnected.

Through subsidiaries of the Greater London and Counties Trust, Ltd., controlled by the Corporation, 95 cities and towns in three large "areas" adjoining the City of London are served with electricity. Through a substantial interest in one of the largest statutory companies the system also supplies electricity in Metropolitan and Suburban districts of London. Recent acquisitions include properties serving important industrial centers of England, including the City of Birmingham.

Consolidated net income of Utilities Power & Light Corporation and its subsidiaries for the year ended March 31, 1929 was $4,964,108, after all prior charges, including depreciation and taxes, including income tax. After paying preferred stock dividends, the balance was $3,827,420. Deducting $1,536,655 for dividends paid during the year ended March 31, 1929 on Class A Stock, the balance is $2,290,765 before dividends on Class B and Common Stocks.

The sound financial structure upon which the Corporation has planned its growth, its satisfactory and steadily increasing earnings, and the strategic location of its properties, place the Corporation among the leading public utility organizations and give to its securities an established investment position.

The common deserves a good rating.

Phillips Petroleum.

F. H. P., Manchester, Ia.—Phillips Petroleum company 5¼ per cent debentures, due June 1, 1939, are a direct obligation of the company, but are not secured by mortgage.

An agreement provides that, except for purchase money mortgages, mortgages then existing on properties hereafter acquired, and pledges of current assets to secure loans in the usual course of business for not exceeding twelve months, neither the company nor any subsidiary (except Oklahoma Natural Gas corporation) may create any mortgage on its property or pledge any of its assets without securing this issue equally and ratably.

McWilliams Dredging.

P. B.—McWilliams Dredging company reported gross profits of $406,356 for 1928, against $328,914 for 1927.

Peoples Gas Dividend

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company (of Chicago)

The Directors of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company have declared a quarterly dividend of two (2) per cent on the capital stock of this Company, being at the rate of eight (8) per cent per annum, payable out of the surplus earnings of the Company to stockholders of record at the close of business on the 3rd day of July, 1929. Said dividend to be payable on the 17th day of July, 1929.

A. L. TOSSELL, Secretary.

Public Utility Stocks

Striking evidence of the wide-spread public interest in the securities of Public Utility Companies is to be found in an analysis of the total stock transactions on the New York Curb Market. On June 19th, stock sales on this Exchange amounted to 1,702,500 shares, of which more than 800,000 shares were those of Public Utility Companies.

This interest is due primarily to a growing appreciation of the inherent stability of this industry. Investors also foresee continued prosperity in the ever increasing demands for public utility services as well as the possibilities for increased operating efficiency through the centralized operation of groups of properties. We believe that this confidence on the part of investors is justified.

We have detailed information available on certain public utility companies whose issues appear to be attractive purchases at the present time.

CHEAPER MONEY BOOSTS STOCKS ON WALL STREET

price of grain be excepted. There has, to be sure, been a month in which imports exceeded exports in our foreign trade, but it is yet to be seen whether that was more than an incident, partly reflecting a temporary slack in foreign buying of our cotton and partly the speeding up of certain imports, on the general idea that a wholesale upward revision of import duties might be voted. On the other hand such familiar weather-signs of a prosperous year are visible as unprecedented steel and iron production, volume of railway tonnage not hitherto equaled at this season, strikingly increased company profits, gold imports larger than is usual for this time of year, and prospect of fairly abundant harvests.

Some of these considerations are bound up with other incidents of the day which are not so encouraging—the gold imports, for instance are to some extent a direct consequence of abnormally high money rates. But taken together the visible evidences of national prosperity and promising business activity would have been considered conclusive at any time in our history. Under ordinary circumstances they would indicate [as they did in 1925 and 1926] an immediate financial outlook altogether free from obscurity. The qualifying consideration of the moment obviously arises from the now familiar controversy as to the meaning of the credit situation.

Opposite Views.

That controversy differs from any that has ever arisen in our mercurial financial community. On the one side is the contention that no reason whatever exists for high money except the perverseness of the federal reserve; on the other the belief that the money stringency was a direct and inevitable consequence of considerable inflation and that it would equally have occurred if the reserve board had taken no public attitude whatever in the matter.

One side therefore asserts that the federal reserve opposition to the credit situation has spent its force, and that therefore a new period of easy money is in sight. The other answers that, since the federal reserve did not create the strain on money it can hardly remove it, and that a credit market which has shown evidence of extreme tension in the dullest business months of 1929 has yet to meet its test in the busy autumn season.

Looked at dispassionately and without prejudice, such complete and sweeping cleavage of opinion opens a highly interesting prospect for the next six months. Both schools of argument cannot be right but only the touchstone of experience can prove which is wrong. Yet even the proof of experience has no guarantee of universal acceptance. Concrete events do not always or often produce unanimity as to causes, however, it may be in regard to agreement on results.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is crushed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post, Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctors' colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony, Rex, Joy, and Percival Arthur go to the south of France. Joy enjoys keeping house and Percival Arthur has the time of his life. Joy and Rex become interested in each other. Then the Fords, Geoffrey and his mother, appear on the scene.

INSTALLMENT XLIX.

AN ANTI-CLIMAX.

The count took a corner faultlessly. "Thou knowest Madame Travers must find in the man her possible defender; more, the defender of her children. For this basic reason a woman does not object, for instance, that a man's chin is scraped mercilessly against her smooth skin, though she might not endure the touch of a scrubbing brush."

"Which is often no rougher," sighed Alberte, reminiscently.

"It is only in things of love that the English (though of an ignorance, a crudeness indescribable!) lack brutality. Wherein they consider themselves superior, but whereby," summed up the continental, "they lose much, both for themselves and for the woman."

"For me," took up his sister, "it was the woman who was the enigma. Thou hast then not remarked Jean (in spite of thy grrrrrrnd gift for psychology) what was most interesting about this young ménage?"

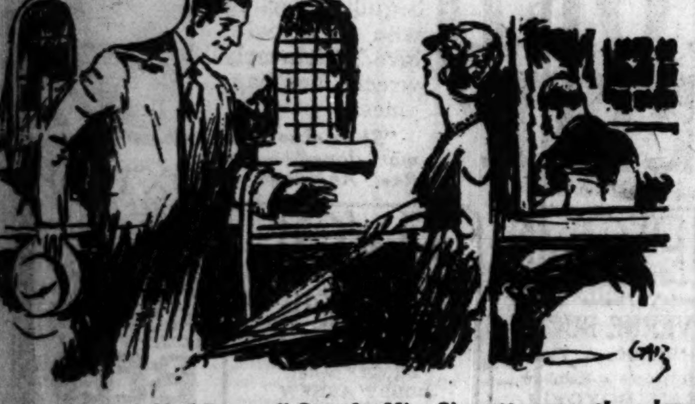
"Eh bien, what?"

"But—that this little Madame Travers, newly married to a man young, good looking, magnetic in that quiet way that when an Englishman has it, he has it like not one other!—enfin that this bride preserves the face, the manners, the atmosphere of a young girl completely without experience!"

"What!"

"Not to be mistaken, I tell thee! In these things it is not I who am ever wrong."

The young Frenchman drove for a moment in silence. He seemed to be making himself look again, mentally, at the household of these English acquaintances. Presently he said, "If what thou thinkest is right, there is then one Englishman who is not altogether of their simple crudity. It may be that many marriages would have been happier if the honeymoon had been postponed until the settling into the household and growing familiar with the ways had been over for some weeks. Not to mention that——"



"But your aunts," tinkled Pansy, "Can the Miss Simpetts spare the adored nephew?"

"It may be," broke in his sister Alberte, "that this Travers seeks to make her ever more in love with him, this bride, and that he chooses not the stupidest way!"

. . . .

Geoffrey Ford put down in his notebook about that date,
"but you cannot ignore that invisible waiter who hovers to present the bill for every pleasure of which you have tasted; and who can never be trusted not to overcharge you!"

The writer's mother was being required to pay for every heartless flirtation during the last thirty years, which now seemed to her as an evening gone. Her next forty-eight hours on that sundrenched pitch of the Riviera were to appear to Pansy Ford as a century passed in Hades. She had come over here to try and meet Jim. Well, she had met Jim. Much good it had done her. He behaved true to type. As he had behaved in London three weeks ago; as he had behaved in their youth thirty years ago. Pity the mature, sophisticated woman beneath whose chic French frocks there had woken into freshly throbbing life her schoolgirl heart!

Every time Pansy looked into her bedroom mirrors to repair the makeup of her small, well preserved face, to arrange her shingle into the perfect line, to put finishing touches to the set of scarf or wrap or chiffon flower, she told herself feverishly, "Something must happen. Things can't go on like this."

The bedroom telephone buzzed. The porter's voice announced a gentleman for madame. Down Pansy fluttered to find the lean, flanneled tormentor lolling against the reception counter with a nonchalant greeting and invitation to come out and drive over to the Cap d'Antibes; have a look at the celebrities. Beauty show on this afternoon. Parade of bathing costumes. Sunburn competition; come along! Could Pansy put up with his company—for the last time?

"But your aunts?" tinkled Pansy. "Can the Miss Simpetts spare the adored nephew?"

"Won't miss him. Aunts always take their siesta right through these hot afternoons. I'm off duty. Now for a spot of . . . metal more attractive," suggested the colonel, as these two moved down the white steps into the glare where the car waited. Tilting his hat further over the twinkle in those crow's footed blue-gray eyes, he sent down at the little woman that look of the Englishman who may be hiding everything or nothing.

"Things went on like that" the whole afternoon, as Pansy reported to her son on her return. . . . How was a woman to know which Jim meant?

Geoffrey suggested that possibly Jim didn't know. Therein lay the strength of these enigma people. "Sphinxes without secrets," as Oscar Wilde said. So safe. "Where there is nothing, nobody can find it out."

There was something in Geoffrey's guess that the man himself did not know what he meant. Does the lithe tomcat know what he means when he lets run the half disabled mouse (not necessary for food) to catch it again, to prolong the sport?

Jim had been like that with every woman he'd met—except with the one he had married. She had been the price of his amusemnt with the others, presented to him by that invisible waiter with whom he had "settled" when his wife had left him. After which women became again a sport in which to Jim, as to Rhoda Broughton's heroine, it was "the chase, not the quarry" that was important. To that rule of which the count had been told that "with an English lover a woman may be herself and yet remain beloved," Hay Molyneux remained the outstanding exception. He welcomed every artificiality that promised him a good run. Nothing else interested him.

Then came this last leave, and the meeting again with Pansy, sweetheart of other and less battered days.

That had been interesting! Pansy had proved to be one of the few women who can defy time, and not, mind you! for reasons on which they themselves pride themselves, not because of carefully treated contour and complexion, not because of, but in spite of, resolutely youthful activities. Something deep down in their characters, some fixation, or something perhaps still undeveloped, preserves for them their hint of the Immortal Girl. Jim saw this in Pansy, as others saw it in the mother of Rex Travers. So after all these years the sight and sound of Pansy, though altered, brought back a waft of the soldier's boyhood. They caused something to stir in that seasoned heart. But it was not a trifle like that which would get in the way of Hay Molyneux's firm intention to get back to India still unattached, keeping as memories of his leave the big indigo shadows of elms on Hurlingham grass, the sight of English complexions over schoolgirl frocks at the Eton and Harrow match, the sight of his old sweetheart's white fingers dipping to the water weed that streamed in green ribbons beside her up-river punt, while she said with a quiver in her voice, "Well, if we don't happen to meet again before you sail, this will be good-by, Jim?"

Still, it need not spoil his last week. On the contrary, being what he was, he found it need not spoil the amusement of flirting with her until the gangplank was up. There need be no boring dramatic moments, no final scene.

"—and his hateful boat sails on the fifteenth!" Pansy wailed in secret to her son. "In love, what's happened before is nearly always certain to happen again. He's sailing. There'll be nothing."

"Mums, my poor child, you know how sorry I am."

"Well, don't be too sweet to me, then; you'll only make me cry, Geoff; and you've got the sense to know what that does to a woman's eyelashes! Help me to look on the bright side, will you?"

Good Morning!

(Don't forget the announcement made Saturday that in future the "just another movie" films won't get ANY star, the fair films One Star, the good ones Two Stars, the excellent ones Three Stars, the extraordinary ones Four Stars.)

KIND: Adventure drama.

QUALITY: Good.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Excellent.

SCENERY: Splendid.

ACTING: Intelligent.

DIRECTION: Able.

OPTIENCE APPEAL: Should prove interesting to the average movie fan.

THE STORY: It starts on a Shanghai waterfront and takes you via schooner to the island of St. Paul of the Pribilof group in the Behring sea, which is the government reserve for huge herds of fur-seal that, since time began have made the rockbound, but now protected shores of these islands their home. The men who go there on the peaceful looking whaler "Jutland" are pirates. They are headed by a dimpled young chap known as Pal Loring, and it is their plan to raid the rookeries.

On the island, for reasons the picture shall show you, Pal has a complete change of heart. He calls the raid off, but—one "London Nick" who has attached himself to the party elbows in and takes command. And I just hope you'll see what happens!

REMARKS: The picture is colorful. The atmosphere is salty and invigorating, Leila Hyams is beautiful, and the seal life displayed is perfectly fascinating. The sleek dalrings could not have known there was a camera within range for they are perfectly at ease. You'll love the way they play. Like puppies!

There are times when the story rather taxes your credulity. It's hard to think of Mr. Morton with his dimples and sweet smile, as a bold, bad buccaneer. However, sometimes the angelfaces ARE the worst devils—aren't they?

See you tomorrow.

ITALIAN SCHOOLBOYS BY THOUSANDS GET MILITARY VACATIONS

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, June, 23.—With the Italian schools just closed, nearly 1,000,000 boys soon will be on the summer vacations arranged for them by the nation's balilla, an institution founded by Fascism for the physical, military, and moral training of youth.

Headed by Secretary Renato Ricci, the balilla organization embraces Italian boys from the age of four to eighteen and is directed by several thousand Fascist military officers. Next week from all the towns in Italy companies of boys led by militia officers will be proceeding to scores of camps arranged in the mountains and at the seaside. It is figured that 100,000 boys will camp out this summer.

A couple of thousand other boys belonging to the advance guards, or upper class of the balilla, will be taken on a Mediterranean cruise, visiting Genoa, Marseilles, Barcelona, Madrid, Cagliara, and Rome. The ship was put at their disposal by the government, and places on the trip must be won by especial acts of valor during the year. Another large party of boys will be organized for an eastern Mediterranean voyage, on which Rhodes will be visited.

In addition, special demonstrations of work by the balilla organizations will be held in all Italian towns, with field meets and aquatic contests. The boys who have been taking courses in telegraphy, navigation, and aviation also will give demonstrations of their competency during the summer.

From the balilla and advance guard organization, about 80,000 boys, who have reached the age of 18, are inducted into the Fascist party every year.

The importance with which the state regards this organization is shown by the fact that it has become an exclusive state monopoly.

The Question.

The Answers.

Spencer L. Solheim, 2516 Ashland avenue, Evanston, Ill., clerk—Poker is about the only card game I ever play. Sometimes it is five hundred, but poker is the game of games in cards. It's pretty much a man's game. One has to watch it or it will run off with a lot of money. I usually play with a group of men friends. Their being friends doesn't matter so much when they win.

Mrs. Gertrude Ginsburg, 3732 Windsor avenue, housewife—I play cards about three times a week. Bridge is my favorite game. Most women take kindly to bridge, and so it's played so often it is bound to be popular. Poker is all right on occasions, in which game I have to be a gracious loser, although sometimes I am ahead.

William Brevitz, 6416 Minerva avenue, insurance—Poker. It is a game in which one has to concentrate. Often when things are going either very well or very badly, the excitement is intense. I like pinochle and play it a great deal, especially three hand. Generally, men prefer poker and women bridge.

Mrs. Helen Van R. Mitchell, 4727 Winthrop avenue, housewife—Solitaire is my favorite guess. When I am tired or worried there is nothing else so restful. In almost no time at all I am ready to go to sleep. Bunco is another favorite game; in fact, most any game that doesn't require too much brains, as they say.

John De Valk, 5718 South Green street, salesman—Rummy is my favorite card game. One can put a lot of thinking into it, and although there are many varieties of rummy, I prefer to play it with two players. Poker is all right for a five or six handed game, especially when you have a lot of hard earned money you're willing to donate.

'Arabian Nights' Opera Is Sung by Ravinians

"Marouf's" Many Adventures Gayly Portrayed.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

About as good advice as the music department can extend at this moment is to go to "Marouf" the next time they put it on at Ravinia and to continue to go every time it is repeated. Its Sunday night performance was something to gladden the soul. It radiates gayety and light like one of its own jeweled headdresses. In that respect, and perhaps in some others, too, it is the equivalent in terms of French music of what "Manon Lescaut," the opening bill, is in Italian.

As performance no less than an opera it is an achievement. It has its larger rôles in the care of Mario Chamlee, Yvonne Gall, Leon Rothier, George Cehanovsky, Vittorio Trevisan, and others, a plain case of knowing what good casting means. But it also has its lesser rôles supremely well done, down to the unnamed chorister who plays the babbling soothsayer and goes to sleep over his omens.

This first performance won the high approval of so expert a practitioner of the operatic art as Lucrezia Bori, and she knows her stage thoroughly.

During the season that Mr. Chamlee has been singing the name rôle of "Marouf" in Europe he has had a chance to ripen his characterization, and he has taken full advantage thereof. It is now a thoroughly mature picture made of superb singing and light comedy, resulting in a most persuasive view of that "Arabian Nights" hero who went through many adventures and came out on top. And Miss Gall is as lovely an Arabian princess as you will find in all the "Thousand and One Nights" and more so than you will find in real life. It is unfortunate that print is such a poor medium to convey the light and liveliness with which the performance moves, the orientalized ballet presented by Ruth Page, Edwin Strawbridge and their associates, the many amusing incidents unfolded in this tale of another land. But they are there, and you will be repaid by going to see them.

There was music in the afternoon as well, a concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra of American music conducted by Eric DeLamarter. It was an event which the musical patriots and professional deplorers of the lot of the American composer celebrated by staying away in rather large numbers. By so doing they missed something rather good, particularly two excellent works by the Chicagoan, Felix Borowski, and the suite "Through the Looking Glass" by a New Yorker, Deems Taylor. Alfred Wallenstein, cellist, was the soloist, doing his bit by a first class performance of a group by Bach, Haydn and Boccherini, and some encores of almost equal Americanism.

THEATER

NOW, as to this matter of "After Dark," it is in 1929 mainly a question of how much you care for a joke. The audience is importuned to help in kidding the old piece—to cheer the several heroes, hiss the villain and his deputies, and to do what it lawfully can do to assist the management in putting the joke through. The management does its due part by telling the actors where to lean on the legendary devices of palmy-days acting, where to help make old Boucicault appear ridiculous, and where to emphasize and to underscore the travesty and the parody. I haven't seen the Hoboken revival of the melodrama—a revival that clicked 250 performances last Saturday—and, so, am unable to say to what extent this in the Woods is like or unlike it.

About all I know of "After Dark" until last night was because of a performance I saw when I was a schoolboy—a time when I was a seasoned and serious observer and critic of plays; and it is not my recollection that I then regarded the piece as being especially invitationary to burlesque: that is, it was not more so than any other in the average run of melodramas written before the dramatists discovered that the telephone was a good trick whereby to abolish the "aside" and the "soliloquy." William A. Brady was in the piece, acting Old Tom; and James J. Corbett, the box-fighter, boxed with volunteers in the music-hall scene.

The trouble is that it takes a deal of hard work to kid a real melodrama from 8:30 until 11:00 o'clock. The comical fellows in the revues manage to get results when they try in from ten to twelve minutes. Rank-and-file actors, such as are engaged for a venture like this, are likely to be made self-conscious by the instructions to go in for the laughs. The volunteer comedians in the audience, also, get out of hand when they feel that their efforts are appreciated. However, I am told that the prosperity of the Hoboken revival has been largely due to the management's permitting the audience to do as it pleases in the matter of providing at least part of the show. To me, the ticket-buying comedians in such ventures always appear to be the very persons for whom plays like "After Dark" have ever been written: that is, persons who think plays in kind are funny only because they have been told so. And it is possible that I am wrong, although I know there were kidders and jesters in last night's houseful in the Woods who would have regarded "After Dark" as pretty fine if it had been acted with appropriate seriousness in the modern manner. After all, Boucicault had stagecraft and technique: he knew his business in the day wherein he lived; and he died an old man without having been asked to learn what Ibsen taught.

There was fun last night in the Woods, just the same. The actors stuck valiantly to their task of being deliberately absurd;—and I have no doubt that some of them would have been just as absurd if not instructed. The settings kidded the old style in such things; and so also did the manner in which the "effects" were manipulated. Thus, Old Tom pushed the high-minded Gordom Chumley from the railway-tracks all of four minutes before the pasteboard locomotive clanged and snorted into view; and, when Old Tom rescued Eliza from the river, the two of them took the spotlight for the tableau as dry as if they had been dining at F. Scott McBride's. There were songs and dances. Some of the songs were as old as the play, which dates 'way back into the Nineteenth Century; and some were as modern as "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo" and "Ta-ra-ra-Boom-de-ay!" There was a near-beer bar in the foyer; and there was much whoopee at intervals in the performance.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

More than 60,000 Lutherans gathered at Soldiers' field yesterday afternoon to celebrate the 400th anniversary of Martin Luther's catechism and to bear witness in a changing world to the stability of the great reformer's teaching.

By some of the speakers the celebration was declared to be the greatest in the annals of Protestantism. The anniversary was commemorated in connection with the Missouri Lutheran synod convention now being held at Concordia college, River Forest.

The festival was under the auspices of more than 150 coöperating churches in the Chicago metropolitan district, but automobiles and motor buses bore their loads of Lutherans into the city from distant points downstate, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Ohio, and Indiana. Around the field car licenses were noted from the Dakotas, Pennsylvania, and Wyoming.

The program opened with a flag drill by 2,000 parochial school children, and then, led by massed adult choirs of 1,000 voices, directed by Walter Sassmanshausen and accompanied by the Concordia college band, the assemblage joined in the invocation hymn, "Come, Thou Almighty King."

Dr. Walter A. Maier, professor in the Concordia Theological seminary, St. Louis, the principal speaker of the occasion, paid tribute to Luther's catechism, which he styled the "layman's little Bible."

"The catechism of Martin Luther is the most concise, most practical, most successful, most scriptural presentation of the facts and the fundamental truths of Christian belief that the world knows," Dr. Maier declared. "We are convinced that today, in the modern enlightenment of our twentieth century, this catechism contains and emphasizes every basic principle that may be necessary for the establishment of a better United States and of a more consecrated Christianity."

The speaker then turned to the present crime situation and spoke of the moral bankruptcy which, he stated, is provoking the most serious study the country has ever witnessed. Dr. Maier contended that education alone cannot counteract crime any more than intelligence can cure vice.

"An uneducated thief will steal a ride on a train, but an educated thief will steal a whole railway system," Dr. Maier said. "Clarence Darrow contends that good habits will keep people from committing crime; but we say that there must be something to inspire and to teach good habits."

Dr. Maier declared the only remedy was to be found in following the old paths, particularly the one indicated by Martin Luther in the first words of his catechism: "We should fear, love and trust in God above all things."

Representing the Lutheran Laymen's league, Edwin M. Faster, president of that organization, said that the thousands of laymen of the Missouri synod were constantly ready to reaffirm an immovable faith in the fundamental doctrines of Christianity as outlined in the catechism of Martin Luther.

"Luther's catechism was written primarily because in the sixteenth century the homes of the German people had fallen into decay," Mr. Faster said. "Living 400 years later in America, we, the children of the Reformation, are facing the same deplorable conditions with which Luther was forced to contend.

"The American home is facing dissolution and ruin. The only solution is to be found in centralizing the entire spiritual life of individual families about the catechism of Martin Luther."

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Within the course of twenty-four hours I read three articles devoted to the subject of guests arriving late for dinners, indicating the vice is widespread. The worst offenders, it appears, are heedless members of the so-called younger generation, who come late, act with incredible rudeness at the table and scamper off to another party before or immediately after the dinner is through.

Necessarily, some of this conduct is confined to a social strata with servants trained to accept the late dining hours as part of their day labors, and to a socially active group. Since things became so thoroughly unpleasant for the young offenders that they decided they would take action themselves before the threatened black list got them, there will no doubt, be a modification of the late arriving hour offenses. Incensed matrons were compiling a list of "undesirables," who for future accomodation, would be left out of their dining festivities.

There are others, however, not listed among the socially elect, nor able to pacify servants with fees commensurate with their lengthened hours, who face the problem of the guest who arrives anywhere from a half hour to three-quarters of an hour after the appointed dinner hour. For those with a sole maid who sleeps out, it may become an acute problem, indeed. A half hour or an hour out of her evening because of some thoughtless, selfish guest, is cause for justifiable complaint, and just as worthy of expression as an office worker's feeling of injustice at being detained until 6 or 6:30.

But aside from the servant problem, the consistently late guest or guests present a problem of which etiquette has less to do than common decency. According to etiquette ruling, the hostess is privileged to go on with her dinner after a twenty minute wait. But she is usually a more considerate being than the one she and her other guests are waiting for. She will give them ten minutes more—and ten more.

Some student of the genie diagnosed the late arrival as his or her only way of expression; the only resource they have for being noticed in a group. But those I have met are invariably people of the most consistent and astonishing selfishness whose moves are directed solely for their own conscience, never for the convenience of others.

Here's Glimpse of Selfridge's Election Party

BY THALIA

Our latest London letter tells about the party Harry Gordon Selfridge gave at Lansdowne house on election night. "There was hardly a celebrity, except members of parliament, who was not present."

"Michael Arlen was drinking coffee with Noel Coward at the buffet a few hours after he had been electioneering in the east end. The crown prince of Sweden was there with a large group, and Sir Gerald Du Maurier, "grim and [illegible], stood by the ladder used for the posting up of results." Princess Arthur of Connaught, wearing green and emeralds, and Lady Oxford (Margot Asquith) "looking willowy in a soft flowered dress, and Elinor Glyn in white with a Juliet cap of pearls," were among others noted.

"Whenever a Conservative seat was retained there was polite applause from the guests. When a Socialist gain was announced a wave of cheering flooded the open windows from the crowds outside watching the screen."

The party went on until broad daylight, with a breakfast of eggs and bacon served from 5 o'clock onwards. Apropos of Mr. Selfridge, he is to have a visit early next month from his relatives, the Hobart P. Youngs of Winnetka, and their sons, Hobart Jr. and Frank Chandler Young, who left last Thursday to sail on the S. S. Samaria. After a stay with Mr. Selfridge they are to take a motor trip to the English and Scottish lake districts, and will return to Chicago in September.

The London correspondent reports that speculation is busy about the lines upon which Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, the newest 'diplomatic lady' at the court of St. James, will entertain. One of the first official functions at which she will be hostess will be the famous Fourth of July reception at the embassy.

The first meeting of the Lake Geneva Garden club will be held on Wednesday at Alta Vista, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze's summer place. The annual rummage sale for the benefit of Holiday Home is to take place at Horticultural hall in Lake Geneva on Saturday. Mrs. A. K. Naxwell and Miss Katherine Lefens are chairmen, and assisting will also be Mrs. Pelouze, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mrs. Jessie D. Crane, Mrs. J. R. Wilson, Mrs. Daniel Peterkin, Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, Mrs. A. F. Gartz, Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter, Mrs. C. H. Wacker, Mrs. Earle Zimmerman, Mrs. Catherine B. Osborne, Mrs. Frederick Bartlett, Mrs. W. H. Macdonald, and Mrs. T. J. Lefens. Mr. and Mrs. Pelouze had as their guests for the week-end Mr. and Mrs. John H. McGibbon and Vincent Baker of Chicago.

Members of the Dundee Country club are to have a basket picnic at Barrington tomorrow. The party is to gather on the bridge at noon, just where the Dundee road joins the Northwest highway. A road chart has been mailed to each Dundee enthusiast so she can't possibly lose the way.

Sky Harbor Petrushka club will be opened to the public on Thursday evening with a dinner dance for the benefit of the Druce Lake Camp association. Mrs. Kenneth S. Templeton of Lake Forest is in charge of reservations.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings left yesterday for the east to attend the wedding of Miss Denyse De Zerman to Allen Whitman, to take place on Saturday at the Episcopal church in Roslyn, N. Y. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Cummings' cousin, Mrs. Franklin Remington. Mrs. Remington is to give the wedding reception at her residence at Oyster Bay, L. I. Mrs. Cummings' committee will conduct the home dressmakers' sale at the White Elephant Rummage shop on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt A. Massee of 100 Lake Shore drive are in the east as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Thomas at Cloverbrook farm, their place at Pawling, N. Y. Mr. Thomas, the noted lecturer and author, and Mrs. Thomas are to be among Mr. and Mrs. Massee's guests on their cruise in the Atlantic ocean this summer. Mr. Massee's daughter and son are to return with them tomorrow from New York City.

Col. and Mrs. Noble B. Judah sailed last Wednesday evening on the Aquitania for a short trip to Europe. On their return they plan to spend the summer in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Bingham of Highland Park and their two sons, Carlton and John Norris, are to sail on Wednesday on the Berengaria for Southampton. They are to take their car with them and will motor in England, France and Switzerland.

Honor Synagogue President.

George Craig Stewart Will Celebrate 25 Years in Evanston

The 25th anniversary of the rectorship of the Rev. Dr. George Craig Stewart at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston, will be observed this evening. The congregation of that parish will hold a reception.

The growth of the parish will be reviewed by Dr. Stewart and other speakers. Dr. Stewart became the rector in 1904. At that time the congregation numbered less than 200 persons; the church was a small frame structure. St. Luke's congregation is called the largest in the Episcopal diocese of Chicago with nearly 3,000. The present St. Luke's church, almost in constant course of construction for several years, is nearly finished. It is of Gothic design.

As an endowment feature of the parish, a $300,000 apartment house was built recently. There is a memorial "battle cloister" commemorating the members of the parish who gave their lives in the world war. Each arch in the cloister is named for a battle in which American troops participated and within the cloister close a statue of an American doughboy stands on guard.

Dr. Stewart was given the degree of Doctor of Letters by Kenyon college in 1914. Northwestern university, of which he is a graduate and a member of the board of trustees, conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1917. He is a member of the national council of the Episcopal church and of the Chicago diocesan council. He was one of the seven Episcopal delegates to the world council of faith and order in Lausanne, Switzerland, in 1927. Dr. Stewart was secretary of the Episcopal war commission and was the chaplain of Evacuation hospital No. 6 of the A. E. F.

HERE'S NEW CHANCE FOR KIDDIES TO JOIN PARTY SALLY GIVES

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Weren't you happy, girls and boys, to see that a wonderful party we have to start our summer's fun—a glorious afternoon enjoying all the rides and shows at White City on July 5, a week from next Friday?

There couldn't be anything better, could there?—especially when you think of the scores of things they have to do at White City this year!

There's the Dodgem, where one of us will have an automobile of our own to drive, and we can't help bumping all the other cars—with special devices to make the fun as safe as it is hilarious! There's Madame Murphy's Beauty Shoppe, where we'll change from twelve to two feet tall, grow fat and thin—the Fun House, the rides, the Seaplanes, and everything! And Mr. Herbert A. Byfield, president of White City, tells me that absolutely everything will be going at top speed for our amusement when we get there!

All this fun can be yours, just for writing a winning letter, provided you observe the simple rules. All your letter has to do is tell me why you'd like to come—why you like amusement parks and White City in particular. Then you must be careful to add these three things: your name, your street address, your age. I can't tell you how many children have written letters that would have won invitations but didn't because they left out one or more of these points of information. And you must have your letters in the mail by next Wednesday afternoon—two days fom now—because I pick the winners next Thursday morning, so their names can appear in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

I'll say good-by now, girls and boys, until tomorrow, because I know you'll be wanting to start your letters to win invitations. So remember—give your name, address, and age in your letter—mail it in time to reach me next Thursday morning—and watch next Sunday's TRIBUNE for the names of my hundred guests—and our party will be July 5, a week from next Friday!

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

A Song Bird for a Shut-In.

"I have a nice linnet male bird and cage which I shall give to some one who would take good care of him. I am sure some one, perhaps an invalid, would like to have him.

"MRS. B. T."

This beautiful singing bird should make an ideal pet and most enjoyable company for the shut-in or bird fancier. Write me if you'd like to have this generous gift; please do not telephone.

Asks for a Day Bed.

"Has one of your readers a day bed no longer needed? I have been left alone with a 12 weeks' old baby and another boy going to school. I have rented one of my bedrooms to help support us, and if I had a day bed I could rent the other and we could sleep in the dining room.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Georgia Peaches.

The arrival of the first Georgia peaches on June 6 commanded the attention of the news reporters, and one of the papers had a picture of a girl sitting on the top of many bushel baskets of this fruit with her hands full of the latest fruit delicacy.

After looking at this picture I felt a consuming curiosity about the preeminence of Georgia peaches, which usually come to us far from perfect and have neither the white flesh nor the yellow, which is in such high commercial repute for peaches. As they come to us, only about one side of them is ripe, but O, that side is perfect of its kind, but who has described it justly at the tree? The first taste you get of it with cream reminds you first of a perfect strawberry, and then you get the idea that it is the essence of all the delicious fruits combined, or you "taste the aroma," which is an epicure's phrasing of perfection in fruit.

The peaches in general have certainly their share of high praise, while some of the hundreds or more varieties have been praised as better than anything in the fruit line outside of paradise.

Beginning with the Georgia peach, our peach season now is really five months long and while we can cook peach delights of various sorts, like the cobbler, it is the plain raw fruit that should give us the greatest pleasure. In the history of fruits the peach has certainly ranked as a fruit with a special glory and distinction of its own, or we might describe it as a glamour of its own. It has beauty of form and color and flavor. Peaches and cream is accounted a nectariferous dish, when the cream is rich, sweet, cold and abundant, and the peach so sweet that only a little sugar is required for the dish.

The cream, if whipped and mixed with a little fine mayonnaise dressing and added to cut up peaches combined with raspberries, and perhaps some banana for a fill, makes one of the most delicious of our dessert salads.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Margery, who is in the second grade, was having a birthday party. The day previous to the party, she brought a list of words over to her little first grade friend, saying, "Margaret, learn these words for tomorrow. We may play school at my party and I want you to know just as much as the second graders."

O. L. O.

Upon taking my daughter to a hospital one day for a visit, one of the patients asked her how old she was, and in answer she said. "I am four years old, but I am growing so fast that I am afraid that I will be five before my next birthday. E. F. G.

When Putting On the Sun-Tan Makeup Go Softly, Gals, Go Softly!

As expected, crude kindergarten work is appearing on our streets and in public gathering places, as a result of the urge to get that tanned beach look so currently in favor. It's one of those things against which we ought to draw up the old fashioned advice about singing. If you can't do it well, don't do it at all.

As warned before, it's something you can't slapstick on at the last minute. If you're going to adopt the tans or early brown complexions, make up your mind you've got to put them on leisurely, so that there aren't great blotches of native coloring peering out with devastating effect. I've seen girls and women who look like bad cases of jaundice and gangrene.

The other day I saw one whose face looked as if she had laid the tan paste on in spits, but forgot to smooth it out over the entire surface. Where it is done well, which means for most women, with a not heavy touch, it may be most striking. But I don't know of any single beauty job badly done or carelessly done that can bring such a painful result to a perfectly good face.

There is a threatened run of legs dressed in these tan coats. Already a few have dared the city pavements, but for the most part, to date, the vogue is confined to beach and resort wear. The stocking manufacturers, I understand, are gravely concerned over the fad. But there's a large question in my mind whether the great majority of women can view their legs critically and go forth with them undraped.

Not that it will do a particle of good to preach against the practice, for those who want to will do as they please in the matter, which, of course, is their liberty. But the general run of women are a conservative minded lot, and especially conservative where a demonstration means the exposé of features that are none too alluring.

It isn't the shape of one's legs so much as the condition of the skin, the veins, and the muscle bulges that make it more flattering for the average leg to call upon the aid of a slender bit of chiffon with which to fool the public.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Suburban gardeners have brought charges that cottontail rabbits have raided their dahlia beds lately. Wild rabbits are abundant in the Chicago area, where they add an interesting feature to the lawn, but occasionally play havoc with certain flowers and vegetables. Dahlia growers have reported that they have strong evidence against Mr. Bunny this season.

Rabbits are great night prowlers and are likely to do their greatest damage to gardens after the sun goes down. One of the surest ways of protecting dahlias and other plants against wild rabbits is to put a temporary chicken wire fence around the whole garden or the beds that are likely to be destroyed. A two to three foot wire netting will be high enough to keep the rabbits out.

During the next few weeks while dahlia plants are young and tender they should be carefully watched and protected where rabbits are seen running wild in the neighborhood. Some growers who recently set out their dahlia tubers already have lost a few of their plants.

If dahlias have to be replaced the tubers should be set as soon as possible. With a favorable fall they still will have time to produce blossoms. Set one tuber in each place. Every grower should keep a few extra tubers handy to fill in the vacant places where plants have been injured early in the season.

Some experienced gardeners have found it a good practice not to make the soil too rich for dahlias at first. Save some of the fertilizer and apply it about the time buds begin to form. Dahlias need plenty of water throughout the growing season. It is best to have a stake four and half to five feet tall set by the side of each plant. Wise growers provide a scheme of protecting the dahlias from the hot afternoon sun.

Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

Mrs. Bevans has prepared two booklets, one on "Prayers and Graces for Children" and another called "Books to Be Read to the Children or by Them," which will be sent free on receipt of stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

It's a funny little tune. Perhaps you know it. And the words of the first verse go something like this—the first verse being all that was ever passed on to us:

Gently said the donkey
To her little ass:
"If you don't sing louder,
You shall have no grass."
Hee-haw! Hee-haw!
Hee-haw! Hee-haw!

"Don't sing dat any more," said the curly headed, very little boy, the first time he heard it. The corners of his mouth went down.

"Why not, honey—why don't you want me to sing it?"

"Because I don't like it . . . Did he sing any louder then—did he have any grass? I don't want dat little ass not to have any grass."

"O . . . yes, of course. The baby donkey sang ever so loud—any, anyhow, his mother would be sure he had plenty of grass."

"Den sing dat part, too."

So wildly making up verses to order, the small boy's mother sang about how loudly the little ass sang for his mother and what a big grassy dinner he had—and the corners of the mouth went up again.

Have you noticed that soon after babyhood, when children are told or read stories, that they are made wretchedly unhappy if things go wrong for the characters? Not only my own experience but that of many others points the same way. For quite a range of years young children will suffer intensely if the characters in the story suffer. While they are going through this stage you will find yourself changing the ends of stories, making new endings, leaving out distressing parts, adding verses to songs, etc.

These are the years when animal stories are in order and woe betide you if you let anything happen to hurt any of the rabbits or mice or kittens. They will dislike Mr. McGregor because he put Peter Rabbit's father in a rabbit pie and want his picture taken out of the book, and they'll want you to make a radical change in the end of "Sing a Song of Sixpence," because a nose got nipped off, or make it necessary for you to stow certain books out of sight till they're older—when then, to your surprise, they'll read with gusto about fights and slayings between pirates and soldiers and be extremely bloodthirsty.

But at the earlier age we must respect their quick sympathy and save them distress.

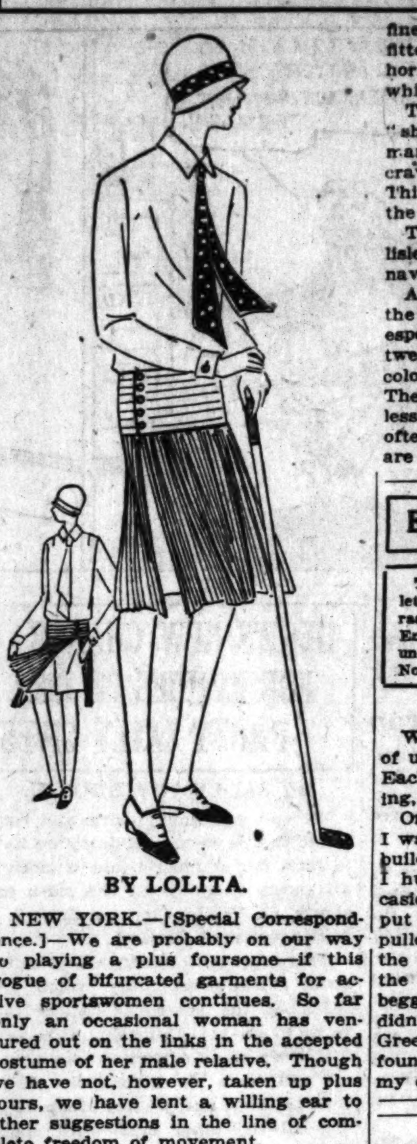
Sports Clothes Employ "Shorts"



BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—We are probably on our way to playing a plus foursome—if this vogue of bifurcated garments for active sportswomen continues. So far only an occasional woman has ventured out on the links in the accepted costume of her male relative. Though we have not, however, taken up plus fours, we have lent a willing ear to other suggestions in the line of complete freedom of movement.

Witness the above costume of washable white silk designed by a foreign creator for going around on an oppressively warm day. This frock has taken over the idea of the "shorts," so much used in every province of sportswear. They are made of the dress material and are covered by a finely plaited skirt with the usual fitted yoke. The latter is tucked horizontally and is buttoned with white pearl.

The blouse which is in one of the "shorts" is tailored exactly like a man's shirt and is completed by a cravat of navy foulard dotted in white. This note of contrast is repeated on the white felt hat banded in the silk.

Among the mid-season showings in the spectator sports type of costume especial emphasis is laid upon the tweed ensembles developed in high colors, woven in with a touch of white. The frocks of these are often sleeveless, and they are topped by coats, often of seven-eighths length, which are frequently belted.

Dish Towel to Class.

While I was attending college four of us rented a cottage and "batched." Each one had a day to do the cooking, the others did the house work.

Once when it was my day to cook I was in a hurry to get to the college building, fearful of being late. So I hurried off. Afterwards I had occasion to use my handkerchief and put my hand into my pocket and pulled out not my handkerchief but the dishcloth that I had used to dry the dishes. Only one saw it, but I begged him not to tell on me, and he didn't. I have studied English, Latin, Greek and German, but never have found a word that would fully express my embarrassment. I. M. H.

"Joy of Living" ...and that's how Breakfast became a Delight instead of a Duty

There used to be a time when breakfast was simply something that had to be eaten.

Then Heinz discovered a new process of cereal-making and, presto, everything was changed. Instead of tasteless foods—Heinz Rice Flakes! Fairy flakes of toasty goodness fit for a king. Crispy, crunchy, with a flavor like butter-browned nutmeats.

Something else was changed too. Days of lazy loginess were changed to days of happy vigor. For this new Heinz process transforms the natural roughage of the rice into a pure cellulose—giving the flakes the healthful qualities of a gentle, natural laxative.

So there you are. A breakfast that's good to eat as well as good for you to eat—and it's name is Heinz Rice Flakes!

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

FIRST RATE
2D MORTGAGE
LOANS

Second mortgage loans are cut to order, so to speak, just like a suit of clothes. They may be first rate, second rate, or tenth rate.

The rate applied by the Chicago Morris Plan Bank as agent is first rate, because it is the lowest rate.

And it is the only rate which we apply to any second mortgage loan which is made by this institution.

If you do not get this distinction, just make a few inquiries as to what a second mortgage loan will cost you and see how they compare with our rate of 6% interest and commissions as follows:
